Bills of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following Preliminary Report of the Select Committee together with the Bill as amended by them is by order of the President, hereby published for general information:—

We, the Committee appointed to consider the draft Bill to amend the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884, beg to submit the following report:—

In consequence of the numerous alterations and additions made by us, some of which involve important questions of principle, we recommend that the Bill, as amended, be republished for general comment, and, together with the opinions received, be again referred to us before it is taken into consideration by the Council. We desire to reserve the right to modify the opinions provisionally expressed in this report until we are in possession of full materials for finally determining the points raised.

Section 3 of the Bill (6 of the Act) contains a definition of the Sanitary Board. This arises from the proposed new sections (37B to 37K of the Act, introduced by Section 21 of the Bill) dealing with the introduction of water-supply and drainage schemes.

We have amended Section 4 of the Bill (Section 9 of the Act) so as to make it clear that the Commissioners of a Municipality may move the Local Government to take action under this section. Some minor changes have also been made in Section 9B so as to bring it into accord with Section 9.

In Section 7 of the Bill (Section 15 of the Act) we have excluded from the definition of 'rates' the fees levied under Part IX of the Act for the cleansing of premises. These fees are paid for specific services rendered; they do not form part of the Municipal Fund; and in our opinion they should not be taken into account in reckoning a person's qualification to vote in Municipal elections.

By Section 10 of the Bill we have remodelled Section 20 of the Act on the lines of Section 18 of Bengal Act III of 1885, so as to indicate more clearly the grounds upon which a Commissioner may be removed and the date from which such removal takes effect. We have also provided, in accordance with Schedule II, Section 70 of the English Public Health Act, 1875, that proceedings in which a disqualified Commissioner has taken part before his removal shall not thereby be invalidated.

By Section 17 of the Bill we have added a section after Section 26 of the Act, empowering the Commissioners to grant leave of absence to their Chairman or Vice-Chairman for a period not exceeding two months in the year. The necessity of some provision of this nature was represented by a number of municipalities.

In Section 19 of the Bill (29A of the Act) we have reduced the number of powers which may be delegated by the Local Government to Commissioners of Divisions.

Section 21 of the Bill (37A of the Act) has been redrafted on the model of Section 30 of Bengal Act III of 1885 and Section 27 of Act XX of 1891. The proposed new Sections 37B to 37K of the Act, dealing with the introduction of systems of water-supply and drainage, have been drafted for the purpose of giving effect to the recommendations of a Conference which met at Belvedere on the 18th July to discuss these subjects. These sections, together with Section 3 of the Bill (6 (20) of the Act) defining the Sanitary Board, Section 48 (172A) dealing with Survey, Sections 71—76 (320—322) treating of latrines, and Section 81 (352A) relating to brothels, were not in the Bill referred to us. We have not been able to consider them, and desire to reserve our opinion.

By Section 22 of the Bill we have added to Section 38 of the Act. We have provided, following the model of the English Municipal Corporations Act, that want of service of notice on a Commissioner shall not affect the validity of a meeting.

In amending Section 69 of the Act we have struck out the words "the training and employment of medical practitioners, which appeared in Section 25 (2) of the Bill referred to us. In our opinion municipal funds cannot properly be applied to the training of medical practitioners; while the employment of such practitioners is already provided for by Section 69(6) of the Act. We have also omitted Sub-section (3) of Section 25 of the Bill referred to us on the ground that all legitimate objects of municipal expenditure appear to be covered by Section 69(9) of the Act.

We have carefully considered the proposal embodied in Section 27 of the Bill referred to us, to empower the Commissioners to impose either the tax upon persons or the rate on holdings in different wards of a Municipality, and we have come to the conclusion that this would be liable to abuse. In view of the indications of the unequal and arbitrary assessment of the tax upon persons according to their circumstances and property, which are contained in some of the reports which have come before us, a majority of the Committee are further disposed to think that the time has come to abolish this tax altogether, and to extend the method of a rate on the annual value of holdings to all municipalities. We recommend that when the Bill as now amended is circulated to District Officers and Municipal Commissioners, their attention should be specially drawn to this point, and that they should be requested to express their opinion on the suggestion made by the Committee, furnishing at the same time as full information as possible concerning the manner in which it is actually worked and its incidence on different classes of assessees, and the financial result which would follow on the abolition of the tax upon persons according to their circumstances and property and the substitution of the rate on holdings.

Pending the settlement of the important question whether the tax upon persons according to their circumstances and property should be retained, we have left the sections dealing with the assessment of that tax untouched. We have, however, empowered the Commissioners, with the sanction of the Local Government, to exempt from the tax on persons or the rate on holdings any building, not being a school or college, used exclusively for charitable purposes. We have modified the provisions dealing with appeals against assessments by withdrawing the assessor's right of appeal to the Magistrate and making the decision of the Commissioners final. At the same time we have provided that the assessor shall be entitled at his option either to be heard in support of his assessment or to state in writing his reasons for making it. In order that the collection of rates and taxes may not be impeded by frivolous and vexatious appeals, we have adopted the provisions of section 44, of 32 and 33 Vict., Cap. 67, which provides that rates shall be levied notwithstanding appeals.

We have omitted, as unnecessary, Sections 40 and 41 of the Bill referred to us.

Several municipalities having represented the trouble and expense they are put to by reason of the cumbrous character of the existing procedure for demanding and collecting municipal taxes, we have endeavoured in Section 44 of the Bill to simplify the system on the lines of the English law.

Exception having been taken to the attempt made, in Section 43 of the Bill referred to us, to define more precisely the term "habitually" as used in Section 142 of the Act, we propose to enact that a cart kept for hire within two miles of the municipal limits shall be presumed to be habitually used within the Municipality. This is the construction actually put on the word "habitually" by the Municipal Commissioners of Burdwan; and as it is reported to have worked well, it seems desirable to give it legal sanction and to extend its operation.

We have omitted Section 45 of the Bill referred to us on the ground that the procedure contemplated by Section 175 is not applicable to bye-laws.

In Section 48, at the instance of the Municipal Commissioners of Backergunge, provision has been made for the survey of a Municipality by taking power to extend to it the Calcutta Survey Act of 1887.

By Section 58 we have amended Section 236 of the Act, so as to provide for the due publication of an order made under that section. We have omitted Section 50 of the Bill as referred to us, on the ground that no notice need be given before proceeding to enforce such an order.

We have carefully considered the provisions dealing with building regulations (Sections 51 to 58 of the Bill referred to us), and have re-drafted them with reference to the wording of the existing law. They now form Sections 59 to 61 of the Bill as amended by us. On the ground of administrative convenience we think appeals under these sections should lie to the Magistrate.

At the instance of the Municipal Commissioners of South Barrackpore it is proposed to introduce as Section 63 of the Bill Section 384 of Bengal Act II of 1888, giving the Municipal Commissioners power to grant licenses to persons for the sale at burning grounds of fuel and other articles used for the cremation of dead bodies, and to prescribe a scale of rates for the sale of such articles.

We have omitted as unnecessary Sub-sections 2 to 5 of Section 261(c) of the Bill referred to us.

In Section 64 of the Bill referred to us, dealing with the subject of water-supply, we have omitted Sub-section (c) as unnecessary, and Sub-section (d) as being already covered by Section 282 of the Act. The amended section is numbered 68. We have also amended Section 65 of the Bill (Section 290 of the Act) by requiring Municipal Commissioners to obtain the sanction of the Local Government to the laying down of house communications and by empowering the Government to make rules and impose conditions on this behalf. This change has rendered Section 66 of the Bill referred to us unnecessary, and we have accordingly struck it out.

The sections of the Bill which deal with the question of privies have not been fully considered by us, and we desire to reserve our opinion as to their probable effect until we receive the reports of District Officers and Municipal Commissioners.

At the instance of a Chairman of a large Municipality, a provision borrowed from the Punjab Municipal Act, 1891, empowering a Magistrate of the first class to take steps to close brothels that are complained of, is proposed to be inserted as Section 81 of the Bill. This section will only come into force if extended by the Local Government at the request of the Commissioners.

THE CANTONMENT CODE, 1892.

MEMORANDUM.

(ANNEXURE TO THE REVISED DRAFT OF THE CANTONMENT CODE, 1892.)

1. This Code, framed under the Cantonments Act (XIII of 1889), provides for matters coming under one or other of the following heads:

(1) Matters hitherto provided for by rules framed under Act XXII of 1864* (for Bengal), Bombay Act III of 1867 (for Bombay), and Madras Act I of 1866 (for Madras): all such rules [except as noted in clause (3) below] had of course the full force of law.

(2) Matters hitherto provided for by the three Codes of so-called "Military Regulations."† These Codes are by no means to be confounded with mere army orders; they contained all such regulations of the Governor-General in Council as related to military subjects, including as one of those subjects the management of lands held by Government for military purposes. A good deal of misapprehension has existed regarding these "Regulations," some of which were promulgated as long ago as A. D. 1770, and some of which have legal force while others have not. Such as consist of extracts from Bengal, Madras, and Bombay Regulations passed by the

* Re-enacted by Act III of 1880.

Legislature before 1834 have, of course, the force of law, and others have legal force in individual cases wherever they have been incorporated expressly or by implication into the terms of agreements under which grantees were permitted to occupy portions of the above-mentioned lands. Such regulations, however, as do not come into either of the above categories are simply executive orders of Government binding only on persons in the service of Government.

(3) Matters hitherto provided for in a rule incorporated with those referred to in clause (1), but which rule was for some reason ultra vires either owing to its subject being one for which the Act had given no power to make a rule, or owing to the rule in question never having been formally made applicable to the particular cantonment concerned.

(4) Matters not hitherto provided for at all. Almost all these are matters regarding which rules have long been needed, and for the majority of which provision has long ago been made in municipalities.

The principal changes made either by the Code itself or by the Act under which it is framed are noted in the following paragraphs.

2. The Code will be applicable to all India instead of there being, as hitherto, a separate set of rules in each Presidency. Chapter I.

3. The Cantonment Committee is no longer a merely consultative body—"the council of the Commanding Officer." It is now by the Cantonments Act, 1889, itself the local authority. At the same time there is no reason to suppose that it was the intention of the Legislature to abandon the power to hold the Commanding Officer of a cantonment responsible to Government as the executive head of affairs for any mismanagement in those affairs; it appears to us essential to maintain this long-standing principle, and that clause (4) of section 26 of the Act gives full power to do so. The Code, therefore, provides that while the Commanding Officer will ordinarily act simply as the President of the Committee, he will still have the power on an emergency to act independently of them, provided that all such independent action is both in accordance with the law and is at once reported for the confirmation or otherwise of the Commander-in-Chief. Having this power (however rare may be its exercise), the Commanding Officer of a cantonment can still be held responsible as heretofore. Considerable executive powers are also throughout the Code vested in the President of the Committee. Chapter II.

4. The General Officer Commanding the district will no longer be President of the Cantonment Committee of the head-quarter station of his district. Throughout the Code it is constantly necessary to provide a referee, confirming authority, or authority to hear appeals from the orders of the Cantonment Authority* other than the Commander-in-Chief. The Officer Commanding the district is the only proper person who could be designated, and his being himself President would make this impossible. The Deputy Surgeon General is also no longer a member of the Cantonment Committee of the head-quarter station of the district. Chapter II.

5. The powers of the Commanding Officer of a cantonment where there is no Cantonment Committee have hitherto been somewhat ill-defined. It is now provided that such a Commanding Officer will have the same powers as a Cantonment Committee, but subject to the proviso that the Local Government may, on the recommendation of the Commander-in-Chief, modify this arrangement in any way thought desirable. Chapter II.

6. In the constitution of the Cantonment Committee, it appears desirable that all Commanding Officers should be members of the Committee, more especially in view of the altered character of that body. The only other change of Chapter II.

* "Cantonment Authority" means the Cantonment Committee or the Commanding Officer of the Cantonment, according as the cantonment is one where there is or is not a Cantonment Committee.

importance is the enabling the District Magistrate when absent from the cantonment to depute a (European) Magistrate of the 1st class to represent him.

As it may occasionally be desired to add to the Committee other officers of Government, or house-owners, or other persons, the Code enables the Commander-in-Chief to do this either permanently or temporarily.

Chapter II. 7. As regards the Cantonment Magistrate, there will no longer be in the smaller cantonments officers with powers merely "to try breaches of Cantonment rules." There must now, by section 5 of the Act, be in every cantonment (however small) outside the Presidency towns an officer appointed as the Cantonment Magistrate. The Code, therefore, proceeds on this basis. As regards the position of the Cantonment Magistrate, the Code aims at maintaining this entirely unchanged; in all executive matters he will be simply the secretary and agent of the Cantonment Authority, acting under its full control; in judicial matters his position is regulated by the Code of Criminal Procedure and other Acts of the Legislature, and is unaffected by this Code.

Chapter III. 8. Regarding control over Cantonment Committees, it is evident (in view of the very important interests of Government involved, of the constant change in the personnel of those Committees, and of the impossibility of continuity in their proceedings) that it is most essential, no less on behalf of the welfare of the whole community than of the interests of Government, that there should be a firm central control over their proceedings. This control is vested as heretofore in the Commander-in-Chief, who (acting as the agent and representative of the Governor-General in Council) is given power to require a Cantonment Committee to take any measures which may at any time be considered by the Commander-in-Chief or the Government necessary to the proper administration of the cantonment. Minor powers of control are also given to Officers Commanding districts, with the proviso that any exercise of such powers is to be reported at once to the Commander-in-Chief for confirmation or otherwise.

Chapter VI. 9. In the rules which deal with the management of the Cantonment Fund, the main desideratum appears to be to more carefully define (1) the procedure to be observed, and (2) the objects on which the funds may lawfully be expended, while at the same time strictly to avoid introducing any radical changes, as the existing procedure works well and there appear to be various grave disadvantages in allowing it to be in any way disturbed.

The rules on this subject have therefore been drawn up on this principle. While the matters in question have been carefully defined and set in suitable legal language, the existing procedure has been kept unchanged; the objects on which expenditure may take place are kept the same as at present; the sums which shall form the income are kept the same as at present; and the sanctioning authority for all expenditure is kept the same as at present, viz., the Commander-in-Chief.

Chapter VI. 10. Regarding the amount of freedom to be given to Cantonment Committees over expenditure in cantonments, the Code gives a wide latitude in procedure. Where a cantonment is well provided with all sanitary requirements, and has an ample income to meet such requirements, it will be possible to make the control exercised over expenditure little more than nominal; where, on the other hand, a cantonment is ill-provided with sanitary appliances, and has so limited an income that it either is, or is in chronic danger of being, State-aided, there the strictest control can be exercised (in the interests of all concerned) over every item of expenditure however small.

Chapter VI. 11. As a code of law does not seem an appropriate place for a set of financial rules, especially as the latter at times require modification, when a very cumbrous procedure would be entailed, we have thought it best to leave all the financial rules which Cantonment Committees must observe to be drawn up (as now) by the Comptroller General, who will in doing so of course be guided by the views of Local Governments. It is necessary that all such rules, or modifications thereof, should receive the concurrence of the Commander-in-Chief in India, as otherwise modifications pressed for in one part of India might take place which would be very unsuitable in another part of India, while it is absolutely necessary that, just as there is only one Code, there should be only one set of financial rules for all cantonments wherever situated. The inconveniences of allowing local alterations in such rules are a matter of practical experience, that arrangement having been tried some years ago, and we therefore consider that the course adopted by us is the only one which promises to be satisfactory. The delegation to the Comptroller-General of the power to make such rules appears in the circumstances to be unobjectionable.

12. In the five important chapters which deal with house property in cantonments the aim of the rules is— Chapters VIII to XII.

(i) To prevent the granting by any officer, or authority, of permission to occupy land belonging to the Government, except in the regular manner, the latter involving, in the submission of applications for a grant, the preparation of plans and compliance with various formalities.

(ii) To prevent the occupation by any person of such land until he has duly subscribed to the conditions on which alone Government permits its land to be occupied, by the execution of an agreement (or in some cases the taking of a license) in which those conditions are detailed.

(iii) To prevent the alienation of the land, owing to the loss of such documents, by carefully detailed rules regarding their registration, and by the deposit of duplicate and triplicate copies in charge of different authorities.

(iv) To carefully define the manner in which the priority of right to rent houses [which is one of the "conditions" noted in clause (ii) above] shall be exercised, with a due regard to the interests of the grantee, of the officer, and of the Government.

(v) To provide carefully detailed rules on the subject of rents and repairs which shall be fair to both landlords and tenants, and which, while recognising that the tenant is in this case an officer of Government, and therefore placed under restrictions as to residence such as do not apply in the case of private persons, shall also carefully safeguard and protect the interests of the landlord, and prevent his being put to loss owing to unfair treatment on the part of such officers as tenants.

(vi) To provide carefully detailed rules for arbitration in all disputed cases arising on the subjects referred to in clause (v).

(vii) To obviate the inconvenience of having absentee owners, by a few simple rules as regards estate agency.

In dealing with the subjects mentioned in clauses (v) and (vi), the principal provisions of sections 23, 24, 25 and 27 of the Cantonments Bill of 1888 have been incorporated in Chapters IX and X.

In the present state of the law the provisions of Chapters VIII, IX and X on the above subjects will only be applicable (except as noted in the next paragraph) to grants made after the issue of this Code. This will no doubt make a very undesirable complication in this already difficult and complicated question, but it is at present unavoidable pending a further Act of the Legislature authorising the making of rules as to conditions of occupancy applicable to all grants of whatever date.

Present grantees will have the option of applying to place their grants under the provisions of the Code, by doing which they will obtain certain tangible advantages in regard to protection from unfair and arbitrary treatment by their tenants, and in regard to a more satisfactory procedure where disputes arise on the subject of rent or repairs.

Chapters XIII to XII.

13. In the ten chapters which refer to subjects affecting the public health, the Code aims at giving to the Cantonment Authority the widest possible powers allowed by the law over all those matters in which a strict control is now becoming recognised as of such exceptional importance in India from a sanitary point of view. The requirements of sanitary science are every year becoming greater as that science progresses, and, it being necessary that legislation should advance pari passu therewith, each new Code which may deal with sanitation should show an advance in this respect over those which have preceded it, especially in view of the position to which legislation on this subject has now advanced in England. It is, therefore, to be regretted that the section of the Cantonments Act, 1889, under which the rules are made (section 26) is of such very meagre scope in its sanitary aspect; and though this want may be partially remedied by a liberal use, under the authority of section 25 of the Act, of municipal enactments, still it is evident, for the reasons just noted, that such enactments cannot fail to fall short of what is required, and that a municipal enactment of, for instance, 1881 cannot meet the sanitary needs current in 1891, much less those which will be current by 1901. All, however, that could be done in this respect has been done, both by rules framed under section 26 of the Act and by a liberal use of all such municipal enactments as were suitable, and in particular of the Central Provinces Municipal Act (XVIII of 1889), which, by its more extended scope and breadth of treatment, much more nearly approaches the requirements of the case than any other Municipal Act, and has been invaluable. While, therefore, the advance may not be all that sanitary authorities would have desired, it is still considerable, and a comparison of the provisions of Chapters XIII to XXII of the present Code with those contained in Chapters III and IV of the Rules under Act XXII of 1864 will give some idea of the advance made.

As regards the Sanitary Officer, the Code recognizes that the main sanitary need of the day in India, next after a stringent control over the preparation and sale of articles of food and drink, is a Sanitary Officer for each cantonment without any other duties. It proceeds on the assumption that such an officer will be appointed, and defines his duties and responsibilities. As, however, it is necessary to provide for the existing state of things also, it is ruled that, pending such special appointment, the Sanitary Officer of a cantonment means the senior executive medical officer present. The Sanitary Officer is given in Chapter XIII complete supervision over every sanitary matter within the cantonment, together with full powers for bringing to the notice of superior authority any recommendation which he may make and which does not receive due attention.

14. As regards the much needed rules for exercising a strict control over the preparation and sale of articles of food and drink, which are the first sanitary requirement of the day in India, section 26 of the Act gives no direct power to make such rules; but to meet this we have in Chapter XVIII taken advantage of the recently passed Punjab Municipal Act (XX of 1891), section 137 of which contains such a power, and this will enable Cantonment Authorities to make rules for this purpose. But in adopting a municipal enactment like this, we have considered ourselves bound to adopt its restricting proviso also, to the effect that the section must be specially extended to each cantonment by the Local Government concerned. As, however, we are aware of the great inconveniences suffered in the past by cantonment rules having the force of law in one place and not in another by reason of requiring such special extension, and as the universal need of such rules as above referred to in every cantonment is undoubted, we desire to note here that we have included this proviso in the hope that all Local Governments will extend the section in question to all cantonments within their jurisdiction.

Chapters XXIII XXXIV.

15. In the twelve chapters which deal with matters affecting the public safety and convenience the provisions of the Code are practically a selection from all the most suitable enactments of the principal municipalities. They are thus very comprehensive, and this is desirable seeing that the Code is intended to apply throughout the whole of India. Here again a comparison with Chapters

III and IV of the Rules under Act XXII of 1864 will show the extent of the advance made. By the almost entire use for this purpose of municipal enactments, rather than of rules made under the Cantonments Act, 1889, it is ensured that the provisions are those to which all dwellers in towns are already accustomed. The various subjects dealt with are sufficiently indicated by the headings of the chapters, which will be found detailed in the list entitled "Abstract of contents." A few of these chapters have only a partial application, not being applicable in provinces where Acts of the Legislature on the same subjects are, or may be brought, in force.

16. The remaining four chapters (containing supplemental provisions) call for no special remarks. Chapters XXXVII to XXXVIII.

17. Any section of the Code (except such as are made under clauses (1) to (11) of section 26 of the Cantonments Act, 1889) can be extended to any reasonable distance in the vicinity of the cantonment. The procedure is an application through the Commander-in-Chief to the Local Government, which has power, under section 28 of the Act, to make such extension.

18. Each chapter is provided with a foot-note showing in outline its scope.

19. The authority for each section is noted in the margin in brackets.

the Officer Commanding the Royal Artillery (if any) in the cantonment, and the Commanding Officer of each regiment or battalion forming part of the ordinary garrison of the cantonment,

(a) The changes made in the constitution of the Cantonment Committee are noted in the memorandum attached to the Code.

Rules for meetings of Cantonment Committees are provided in some detail in view of the more important status of these bodies, and also of the fact that in the future there may often be non-official members.

The fullest powers of control are given to the President.

Owing to the great variety of conditions under which small cantonments exist, it has been thought the best arrangement, as regards the powers of the Commanding Officer of a cantonment where there is no Cantonment Committee, to give the Local Government power (on the recommendation of the Commander-in-Chief) to modify the powers of the Commanding Officer as Cantonment Authority according as it may think fit, and to whatever extent it may see fit.

To the Cantonment Magistrate as secretary to the Cantonment Committee are left all executive matters, but he is to act solely as the agent and representative of the Committee, and is to be fully controlled by them. This control is to be exercised on behalf of the Committee by the president, or; in a cantonment where there is no Committee, by the Commanding Officer.

[Clause (4).] (78—83.)

President and secretary.

8. (1) The Commanding Officer of the cantonment, or, where the cantonment is the head-quarters station of a district, the officer who succeeds, or would, succeed to the command of the station during any temporary absence of the Officer Commanding the district, shall be president of the Committee.

9. (1) Every Cantonment Committee shall meet for the transaction of business at least once in every month on such day and at such place as may be notified in Station Orders. Meetings held under this sub-section shall be called ordinary meetings.

[Clause (4).] (101, 102.)

Notice of meetings.

10. (1) The Cantonment Magistrate shall give three clear days' notice of every meeting and adjourned meeting, unless the president for sufficient reason directs a meeting or adjourned meeting to be held at shorter notice:

Provided that every member present in the cantonment shall have a reasonable opportunity of being served with the notice.

(2) Every notice shall specify the time and place at which the meeting is to be held, and shall be accompanied by an agenda paper specifying the business to be transacted at the meeting.

[Clause (4).] (100.)

Meetings to be public.

13. Every meeting shall be open to the public unless the president, for a reason to be recorded in the minutes, orders otherwise.

[Clause (4).] (98 (2), 99, 104—112.)

Business at meetings.

(a) was not specified in the notice of the meeting, or

(b) does not directly relate to a report made by a Sub-committee or by a member of the Cantonment Committee appointed in that behalf, it shall, on the requisition of any three members present, be postponed to a future meeting:

Provided that the president shall not be required to postpone the consideration of any business more than once.

(2) All business relative to the imposition, abolition or modification of taxes must be transacted at a special meeting.

(3) The president may, for any reason to be recorded in the minutes, refuse to permit any motion or amendment of a motion to be discussed.

(4) The president shall preserve order at meetings, and his decision on any point connected with the conduct of business at a meeting shall, subject to the provisions of Chapter XXXVI, be final.

[Clause (4)] (113, 114.)

Decision by majority of votes.

15. (1) Except as provided in section 17, all questions coming before a meeting shall be determined by a majority of the votes of the members present and voting on the matter to be decided.

Explanation.—This section excludes voting by proxy. (103.)

[Clause (4).] (115.)

Record of decisions and dissents.

[Clause (4)]

Exceptional powers of president.

17. (1) The president may place his veto upon any decision of the Committee.

(2) If the president considers that any measure which the Committee is empowered to adopt, and to which a majority of the Committee do not agree, is of essential importance to the public health, safety or convenience, and if he is of opinion that the matter is of such urgency that delay would be seriously prejudicial to the public interests, he may order the measure to be adopted.

(3) Any order made by the president under sub-section (2) shall have the same effect as an order of the Committee.

(4) Every order made under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) shall be entered, with the reasons for making it, in the minutes, and a copy of the entry shall forthwith be submitted to the Commander-in-Chief, who may thereupon rescind the order, or direct that it shall continue in force, with or without modification, as he thinks fit.

[Act XVIII of 1889, s. 19.] (92.)

Executive Sub-committees.

18. (1) With the previous sanction of the Commander-in-Chief, a Cantonment Committee may, by order, appoint any two or more of its members to be a Sub-committee for the purpose of discharging or performing such of the functions or duties of the Committee as are specified in the order, and may delegate to the Sub-committee all or any of the powers of the Committee to be exercised for the purpose so specified.

CHAPTER IX. [a]

CONDITIONS OF OCCUPANCY.

Conditions applicable in case of building-sites (outside bazars) granted after the commencement of this Code.

[Clause (2).] (296, 308, 323, 328.)

Conditions applicable in case of building-sites (outside bazars) granted after commencement of this Code.

87. Every permission given in pursuance of an application to occupy land (outside bazars) for the purposes of a building-site shall be deemed to have been granted on the conditions specified in sections 88 to 110, both inclusive.

[Clause (2).] (309.)

Execution of agreement.

88. The applicant shall not use or occupy the land, or erect any building thereon, until he has duly executed an agreement in the prescribed form, and has registered the same

---

[a] The two main conditions exacted by the Government in return for the permission to build houses on its land are—

(i)—that the Government shall have the first claim to rent the house to the exclusion of any other person: this claim it passes on to its officers, but modified by a proviso that the claim shall not be exercised so long as there is another suitable available; and

(ii)—that the Government may resume the land at any time on paying compensation for all buildings which have been erected thereon with the concurrence of proper authority.

The principal aim, therefore, of this chapter is to enunciate these two conditions, and to ensure that they are duly subscribed to by every grantee. With this object a carefully drawn form of agreement is prescribed, in which these and all minor conditions are to be detailed, and which shall be signed by the grantee in all cases before he is put in possession of the land.

Provision is also made for setting apart certain houses for the exclusive use of civil officers, and carefully detailed rules are provided for the exercise, under due restrictions, of the right of priority of claim to rent houses in the three cases (a) of a military officer, (b) of a civil officer and (c) of departmental and regimental military officers, inter se. This is preferable to any arrangement for setting apart portions of a cantonment for particular classes or sub-divisions of the community, a method now out of date.

The subjects of tenancy, rents, repairs, &c., are all provided for by rules aimed both at placing all such matters on a just and equitable basis, such as should be equally satisfactory to both landlords and tenants, and also at protecting landlords from unfair treatment by unscrupulous tenants.

Disputes are to be settled by arbitration.

under the law for the time being in force relating to the registration of documents.

Explanation.—"The prescribed form" means a form prepared in accordance with section 113 and published in the Gazette of India. Copies of the form will be obtainable on application to the Cantonment Magistrate.

[Clause (2).] (309.)

Form of agreement not to be varied.

89. Any material variation made in the prescribed form of agreement without the express sanction of the Governor General in Council shall not be binding on the Government.

[Clause (2).] (300.)

Erection of buildings.

90. Buildings may be erected on the land only in accordance with the agreement or, where a proposed building, alteration or addition is not provided for by the agreement, with the written permission of the Cantonment Authority.

[Clause (2).] (301.)

Commencement and completion of buildings.

91. The buildings to be erected on the land in accordance with the agreement shall be commenced within six months from the execution of the agreement, and shall be completed within the period fixed in that behalf by the agreement, or within such further period (if any) as the Cantonment Authority may, by order in writing, allow.

[Clause (2).]

Right of the Government to require the grantee to let the house to a military or civil officer.

92. (1) In view of the special objects with which land is taken up by the Government for use as a cantonment, and of the necessity of securing, in the interests of the State, that military officers on duty in cantonments shall not be compelled to reside too far, in the case of regimental officers, from the men under their command, and, in the case of departmental officers, from the locality in which their duties chiefly lie, and that civil officers shall be provided with accommodation in cantonments, the Government reserves a right, subject to the provisions hereinafter in this chapter contained, to require the grantee at any time to let the house erected on the land to any military officer or civil officer to the exclusion of any other person.

(See Cantonments Bill of 1888, s. 23 (1).)

Clause (2).] (310, 324.)

Exercise of the Government right in behalf of a military officer where the house is not already occupied by a military officer.

93. Whenever the Cantonment Authority considers that the right reserved by section 92 should be exercised in behalf of any military officer, it may, if the house is not already occupied by a military officer, and if it has not been set apart under section 95 for occupation by civil officers, by notice require the grantee to let the house to the military officer named in the notice, and for that purpose to cause the existing tenant (if any) to vacate the same:

Provided that the grantee may at his option apply to the Cantonment Magistrate to enforce the vacation of the house under the provisions of section 115.

Exercise of the Government right in behalf of a military officer where the house is occupied by another military officer.

94. If the house is occupied by a departmental military officer, and the Cantonment Authority considers that it should, in view of the requirements stated in section 92, be vacated in favour of a regimental officer, or vice versâ, it may by notice require such departmental officer to vacate the house in favour of such regimental officer, or such regimental officer to vacate the house in favour of such departmental officer, as the case may be; [Clause (2). (325.)

and may, if necessary, by further notice require the grantee to permit the change of tenancy.

Exercise of the Government right in behalf of a civil officer.

95. (1) The Cantonment Authority may at any time, with the previous sanction of the Commander-in-Chief given with the concurrence of the Local Government, set apart the house for occupation by civil officers. [Clause (2). (310, 324, 332.)

(2) If the house has been so set apart, the arrangement shall not be revoked without the concurrence of the Local Government.

(3) If, while the house is so set apart, the Cantonment Authority at any time considers that the right reserved by section 92 should be exercised in behalf of any civil officer, it may, if the house is not already occupied by a civil officer, by notice require the grantee to let the house to the civil officer named in the notice, and for that purpose to cause the existing tenant (if any) to vacate the same:

Provided that the grantee may at his option apply to the Cantonment Magistrate to enforce the vacation of the house under the provisions of section 115.

Procedure to be observed before the Government right is exercised.

96. (1) Whenever a military officer or a civil officer considers that a notice should be issued in his behalf under section 93, section 94 or section 95, he may request the Commanding Officer of his regiment, or (in the case of a military departmental officer) the local head of his department, or (in the case of a civil officer) the District Magistrate to make an application to that effect to the Cantonment Authority. [Clause (2). (327, 333. (See Cantonments Bill of 1888, s. (1).)

(2) On receipt of any such application the Cantonment Authority shall enquire into the case, and it shall not issue the notice unless it is satisfied—

(a) that the circumstances are such as to require its intervention, and

(b) that no other suitable house is available, having regard both to the rank of the officer and the locality in which his duties chiefly lie.

Government right not to be exercised in respect of certain houses.

97. No notice shall be issued under section 93 or section 95 if the house— [Clause (2) (311.) (See Cantonments Bill of 1888, s. (13).)

(a) is occupied as a bank, and has been so occupied continuously during the last preceding twelve months, or

(b) is occupied as an hotel, shop or school, and has been so occupied continuously during the last preceding three years, or

(c) is occupied by a railway-administration, or

(d) is appropriated by the Government for use as a public office or for any other purpose.

[Clause (2).] Sanction to be obtained before the house is occupied as a bank, hotel, shop or school or by a railway-administration.

98. (1) In view of the privilege granted by section 97, the house shall not be occupied—

(a) for the purposes of a bank, hotel, shop or school without the previous sanction of the Commander-in-Chief obtained through the Cantonment Auhority, or

(b) by a railway-administration without the previous sanction of the Government obtained through the Cantonment Authority.

Explanation.—In this sub-section "Government" means, as regards cantonments in the Bengal Command, the Governor General in Council, and, as regards cantonments in the Madras and Bombay Commands, the Local Government.

(2) The Commander-in-Chief shall not sanction the occupation of the house for the purposes of a bank, hotel, shop or school unless he is satisfied that the number of houses in the cantonment, as compared with the strength of the existing or probable garrison, renders it unlikely that such occupation would—

(a) cause any difficulty in obtaining accommodation in the cantonment, or in the part of the cantonment in which the house is situate, for military officers or civil officers, or

[Clause (2).] (298.) Grantee to inform intending tenant, not being a military or civil officer, of his liability to ejectment.

99. To prevent hardship in the enforcement of the right reserved by section 92, it shall be the duty of the grantee, before he lets the house to any person other than a military officer or (if the house has been set apart for occupation by civil officers) a civil officer, to inform the tenant of his liability to ejectment, and to send to the Cantonment Authority a report, countersigned by the tenant, stating that he has so informed him.

[Clause (2).] (311.) (See Cantonments Bill of 1888, s. 23 (2).) Rent offered to be stated in notice.

100. Every notice issued under section 93 or section 95 shall state the amount of the monthly rent which, with the approval of the Cantonment Authority, the proposed tenant offers to pay for the house.

[Clause (2).] (311, 312.) (See Cantonments Bill of 1888, s. 23 (1).) Time to be allowed for giving possession of house.

101. (1) If the house is unoccupied, any notice issued under section 93 or section 95 may require the grantee to give possession of the same to the proposed tenant within seven days from the service of the notice.

(2) If the house is occupied, no notice issued under section 93, section 94 or section 95 shall require its vacation in less than thirty days from the service of the notice.

Claims to compensation barred.

102. Neither the Cantonment Authority nor any military officer or civil officer shall be liable to pay compensation to any person for any loss incurred in consequence of any notice issued under section 93, section 94 or section 95; and [Clause (2).] (322.) (See Cantonments Bill of 1888, s. 23 (12).) the grantee shall not be liable to pay compensation to any occupier for any loss so incurred, where he has duly informed the occupier of his liability to ejectment.

Terms of tenancy applicable to military and civil officers.

103. (1) Every lease to a military officer or civil officer shall, unless the officer of his own accord makes a special agreement to the contrary, be deemed to be a lease from month to month, terminable without notice in the case of the departure of the officer from the cantonment on duty or on medical certificate, or by fifteen days' notice to the grantee in any other case. [Clause (2).] (319—321.) (See Cantonments Bill of 1888, s. 24.)

(2) Every notice under sub-section (1) must be in writing, signed by or on behalf of the tenant, and the Cantonment Magistrate shall, if the tenant so desires, cause it to be served on the grantee free of charge.

(3) If a military officer or civil officer who leaves the cantonment on duty or on medical certificate has occupied the house during a portion only of the calendar month in which he so leaves, he shall be liable to pay as rent for that portion a sum bearing the same proportion to the monthly rent as the period bears to the whole month:

Provided that the sum shall not in any case be less than one-fourth of the monthly rent.

Responsibility of joint tenants for rent.

104. Where two or more military officers or civil officers occupy the house, whether each pays a share of the rent direct to the grantee or not, one of them shall be responsible for the whole rent, as follows:— [Clause (2).] (314.)

(a) where an arrangement has been made between the grantee and one of the tenants for the payment of the whole rent, the tenant who made the arrangement; and

(b) where no such arrangement has been made,—

(i) if the terms of tenancy commenced at the same time, the senior tenant, as seniority is reckoned in the service of the Government, and

Reference to arbitration.

105. If the grantee and his tenant, being a military officer or a civil officer, disagree on any question relating to rent or repairs, the question shall, subject to section 120, be referred for settlement to a Committee of Arbitration under the provisions of Chapter X: [Clause (2).] (316—318.)

Provided as follows:

(a) an offer of rent made in a notice in accordance with section 100 shall be deemed to have been accepted, unless the (See Cantonments Bill of 1888, s. 23 (7).)

grantee applies within fifteen days from the service of the notice for a Committee of Arbitration;

(b) after such acceptance, or the decision of a Committee of Arbitration, the amount of such rent shall not be called in question by either party except in the circumstances mentioned in clause (b) of section 119;

(See Cantonments Bill of 1888, s. 25 (4).)

(c) when a Committee of Arbitration has decided on any question relating to repairs, no such question in respect of the same house shall again be brought before a Committee of Arbitration within twelve months from the date of the decision.

(411.)

Explanation.—In this section "repairs" includes such repairs as are usually made in the neighbourhood to buildings of the same class as that to which the house in question belongs, but does not include additions, improvements or alterations except in so far as they are necessary to carry out such repairs as aforesaid, or have been made with the grantee's consent.

[Clause (2).] (315.)

Procedure where military or civil officer fails to pay rent or damages.

106. If the house has been vacated in compliance with a notice issued under section 93, section 94 or section 95 in favour of a military officer or a civil officer, and the tenant fails to pay the rent due for the use and occupation of the house, or to pay for any damage caused by an unreasonable use of the same, the grantee may, when the sum due to him on account of rent or damages (if any), or both, is equal to three months' rent, apply to the Officer Commanding the district for an order revoking the notice; and on receipt of any such order the Cantonment Magistrate shall by notice require the tenant to vacate the house.

Government right not to be exercised in behalf of certain officers.

107. If any Cantonment Authority is satisfied that a military officer or civil officer in whose favour a house was vacated as aforesaid—

(a) made any default in payment of the rent, or

(b) used the house in an unreasonable manner, or

(c) failed to comply with any reasonable conditions imposed upon him by the grantee, or

(d) gave up his occupation of the house during any temporary absence from the cantonment, the Cantonment Authority shall not require any grantee to let a house to him within five years from the date of such default, act or failure.

Explanation 1.—This section applies whether the default, act or failure occurred in the same or any other cantonment, or with respect to a house belonging to the same or any other grantee.

Explanation 2.—"Temporary absence" means an absence for any reason other than departure from the cantonment on duty or on medical certificate.

[Clause (2).]

Assignment of grantee's interest.

108. (1) Whenever the grantee intends to assign his interest in the land, or in the house erected on the land, by sale, gift or exchange, he or the intended assignee shall give the Cantonment Magistrate one month's notice in writing before the assignment is completed, and the Governor General in Council shall have power within that period to veto the assignment.

(2) If in any case the Cantonment Authority considers it desirable that the said power of veto should be exercised, it shall report the case to the Commander-in-Chief by telegram.

[Clause (2) (297.)

Penalties for breach of conditions whose breach is not otherwise provided against.

109. (1) If the grantee commits any breach of the conditions specified in sections 88 and 91, the Cantonment Authority may by notice require him to vacate the land, and to remove all or any buildings or materials which he may have erected or collected thereon, and, if any agreement has been executed, may cancel the same.

(2) If the grantee commits any breach of the conditions specified in section 90, the Cantonment Authority may by notice require him to remove any building or part of a building in respect of which the breach has been committed, or to alter the same to its satisfaction.

(3) The grantee shall not be entitled to compensation for any loss resulting from the issue of any notice under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2).

(4) If the grantee permits the house to be occupied for the purposes of a bank, hotel, shop or school, or by a railway-administration, without obtaining the sanction required by section 98, the privilege granted by section 97 in the case of a house so occupied shall be withdrawn.

(5) If both the grantee and the assignee fail to give notice, as required by section 108, of any intended assignment, the assignee shall be deprived of the benefit of sections 97, 104, 106 and 107.

[Clause (2).] (299.)

Right of the Government to resume the land.

Provided that no compensation shall be paid for any buildings standing on the land which have been erected without authority.

Explanation.—No compensation will be payable for the land or for anything in or on the land except buildings.

(b) where a grantee and his tenant, being a military officer or a civil officer, disagree as to any change in rent proposed in consequence of dilapidations or additions to buildings or for any similar reason, or

(c) where a tenant who is a military officer or a civil officer is unable to induce a grantee to execute reasonable repairs, or

(d) in any other case in which a grantee and his tenant, being a military officer or a civil officer, are unable to agree on any question relating to rent or repairs.

[Clause (31).] (413.)

120. The Commanding Officer of the cantonment may in his discretion refuse to convene a Committee of Arbitration on the ground that the application therefor is groundless or frivolous or for any other sufficient reason.

Grounds for refusing to convene Committee.

137. No plan relating to land in a cantonment shall be destroyed without the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council.

Plans not to be destroyed without sanction.

(a) To preserve the property of the Government in the land from becoming alienated in the course of years, the maintenance of proper plans and the careful registration of all sites granted and of all changes in occupancy are of the utmost importance. This chapter aims at providing as many safeguards as possible in these directions in order to counterbalance, as far as may be, the serious results which so frequently occur to the Government from ignorance, laziness or negligence in these important matters.

PART IV.

THE PUBLIC HEALTH, SAFETY AND CONVENIENCE.

CHAPTER XIII. [a]

[Clause (31).] (476—478, 482.)

Weekly sanitary report.

147. (1) Every officer mentioned in clauses (a) to (e) (both inclusive) of section 146 shall forward to the Commanding Officer of the cantonment a weekly sanitary report, stating that the parts of the cantonment over which he has control as aforesaid have been inspected by him, and are, in his opinion, in a sanitary condition or otherwise, as the case may be.

(2) Whenever any such officer reports that any part of the cantonment under his control as aforesaid is not in his opinion in a sanitary condition, he shall specify the defects and may make such suggestions for remedying the same as he thinks fit.

(3) The weekly sanitary reports of the officers mentioned in clauses (a) to (d) (both inclusive) of section 146 shall be forwarded through the Cantonment Magistrate.

(4) Where there is a Cantonment Committee, every weekly sanitary report shall be laid before the Committee at the first meeting held after the receipt of the report.

[Clause (31).]

Duties and powers of Sanitary Officer.

148. (1) The Sanitary Officer shall exercise a general sanitary supervision over the whole cantonment, and shall report every insanitary practice and every insanitary condition of things, whenever or wherever existing therein, both to the officer responsible under section 146 and to the Cantonment Authority, and shall attach to his report such recommendations for the remedy of the same as he may consider suitable:

(2) Provided that when the remedy is within the power of the officer responsible under section 146, and that officer intimates to the Sanitary Officer that he intends to apply a suitable remedy, the Sanitary Officer may at his discretion defer making any report to the Cantonment Authority.

(3) If any recommendation made to the Cantonment Authority by the Sanitary Officer is not carried into effect within a reasonable time, the Sanitary Officer may request the Cantonment Authority to forward a copy of his report to the Officer Commanding the district, and shall at the same time himself send a copy of the report to the Deputy Surgeon-General of the district.

(4) The Cantonment Authority on receiving such a request shall forthwith forward a copy of the report, together with any remarks it may wish to make, to the Officer Commanding the district.

[Clause (6).] (484.)

Cantonment Magistrate's duties in respect of sanitation.

149. It shall be the duty of the Cantonment Magistrate,—

(a) subject to the provisions of this Code, to make, and supervise the carrying out of, all arrangements (including the provision and maintenance of a sufficient number of animals, vehicles, receptacles and implements, and of places for keeping the same) necessary for—

(i) the removal of night-soil and other offensive matter and rubbish from latrines, urinals, streets and all other places, public and private, from which the removal of the same by the public conservancy establishments is directed by the Cantonment Authority,

(a) This chapter provides for a complete sanitary supervision (1) by continuing the present system (under more carefully defined rules) of making some one officer directly responsible for all sanitary matters within each portion of the cantonment; (2) by requiring that all that portion of the cantonment which is directly in the Cantonment Magistrate's charge shall be divided into conservancy blocks, with a conservancy overseer, whose duties are carefully detailed, over each block; and (3) by requiring a Sanitary Officer to exercise a general sanitary supervision over the whole cantonment, making him responsible for bringing to the notice of the Cantonment Authority every insanitary practice and every insanitary condition of things, and giving him large powers for ensuring that his recommendations are attended to.

The Sanitary Officer will recommend, the Cantonment Authority order, and the Cantonment Magistrate carry out, sanitary measures.

(ii) the surface cleansing of all streets and public places, and

(iii) the maintenance in a sanitary condition of public and private privies, latrines and urinals, of all sources of water-supply and the lands in the vicinity thereof, of markets, slaughter-houses, places for the disposal of the dead, encamping-grounds, sarais and fair grounds, of all other places likely to create a nuisance, and generally of every part of the cantonment;

(b) to make frequent inspections of all parts of the cantonment with a view to ensuring that all orders of the Cantonment Authority on sanitary matters are duly obeyed, and that all conservancy establishments satisfactorily perform their duties; and

(c) subject to the provisions of this Code and to the control of the Cantonment Authority, to take all necessary steps for remedying any defects in the sanitary condition of the cantonment of which he may become aware.

[Clause (31).] (479, 480.)

Reports by conservancy overseers.

150. (1) The parts of the cantonment referred to in clause (e) of section 146 shall be divided for conservancy purposes into as many blocks as the Cantonment Authority may direct, and a conservancy overseer shall be placed in charge of each block.

(2) Every conservancy overseer shall report daily to the Cantonment Magistrate on the sanitary condition of his block.

[Clause (31).] (481.)

Duties of conservancy overseers.

151. The duties of every conservancy overseer shall include the following, namely:

(a) to visit daily every latrine and urinal in his block;

(b) to ascertain whether each such latrine and urinal is in a sanitary condition, and whether any prescribed rules as to the use of dry earth, tar or any other deodorant, or as to any other like matter, are duly observed;

(c) to ascertain whether all receptacles, utensils and other conservancy appliances are complete and in good repair, and cleaned, tarred or deodorized in the prescribed manner;

(d) to ascertain whether the prescribed arrangements for the removal of night-soil and other offensive matter and rubbish have been properly carried out, and whether the sweeper attached to any latrine is present;

(e) to inspect all vessels, carts or other vehicles employed by the Cantonment Authority for the removal of night-soil and other offensive matter, and to ascertain whether they are in good repair, and properly tarred or deodorized;

(f) to visit daily all such trenches and other places for the deposit or disposal of night-soil and other offensive matter and rubbish as may be placed under his charge, and to ascertain whether all rules as to the deposit and disposal of night-soil and other offensive matter and rubbish are duly observed;

(g) to see that all streets in his block have been properly swept;

(h) to bring to the notice of the Cantonment Magistrate the commission of any offence which is punishable under Chapter XIV, XV, XVI, XVII, XXI or XXVII; and

(i) to report to the Cantonment Magistrate any neglect of duty on the part of any sweeper or other servant of the public conservancy establishments.

CHAPTER XIV. (a)

CONSERVANCY AND DRAINAGE.

Conservancy.

[Bengal Act III of 1884, s. 190.] (438.)

Private privies, latrines and urinals to be under control of Cantonment Authority.

152. All private privies, latrines and urinals, wheresoever situated within a cantonment, and all receptacles and utensils used in connection therewith, shall be under the survey and control of the Cantonment Authority.

Prohibition of cesspools.

153. (1) The Cantonment Authority shall not authorise the making or use of any cesspool in the cantonment.

[Clause (13).] (439.)

(2) The Cantonment Authority may by notice require the grantee, owner or occupier of any land or building to close any cesspool belonging to the land or building and to provide a proper receptacle in lieu thereof.

[Clause (13).]

Power to prevent private privy, latrine or urinal being put to public use.

154. The Cantonment Authority may by notice require the owner of any privy, latrine or urinal not to put the same to public use.

[Madras Act I of 1884, s. 280, and Act XVIII of 1889, s. 69.] (440, 441.)

Provision of privies, latrines and urinals on private premises.

155. (1) The Cantonment Authority may by notice require the owner or occupier of any building to provide, in such manner as it may direct, any privy or urinal, or additional privies or urinals, which should in its opinion be provided for the building.

(a) This chapter provides—

(1) that no latrine, either public or private, shall be constructed in cantonments, except on the standard plan approved for the purpose by the Commander-in-Chief;

(2) that the provision of an insufficient number of latrines or receptacles, which causes both insanitation and hardship to the people, shall be prohibited; and

(3) that, in the arrangements for removal of offensive matter to the place of disposal, the removal establishments shall not be allowed to fall below a certain fixed scale, such scale being that which is now recognised by all sanitary authorities as the absolute minimum at which sanitation can be expected.

The above deal with the three main causes to which are to be attributed the gravest of the evils under which cantonment conservancy at present labours.

The chapter also gives the widest powers at present allowed by the law to compel private persons to conform to those rules which sanitary science now demands as necessary for their well being. These powers are selected from the enactments in force in the principal municipalities of India, and consequently are such as all dwellers in towns are accustomed to.

(2) The Cantonment Authority may by notice require any person employing more than twenty workmen or labourers for any period exceeding one month, or any person being the grantee, owner or occupier of any land on which a block of six or more huts stands, to provide such latrines and urinals as it may think fit, and to cause the same to be kept in proper order and to be daily cleansed.

Protection of private privies.

156. The Cantonment Authority may by notice require the owner, grantee or occupier of any building or land to have any privy provided for the same shut out by a sufficient roof and wall or fence from the view of persons passing by or dwelling in the neighbourhood, or to remove or alter, as it may direct, any door or trap-door of a privy opening on to any street.

[Act XVIII of 1889, s. 70 (2), and Clauses (13) and (31).] (443, 444.)

Control over construction of new private privies, latrines and urinals.

157. (1) No new private privy, latrine or urinal shall be constructed in any cantonment, and no existing private privy, latrine or urinal shall be rebuilt, except on the approved standard plan.

(2) No private privy, latrine or urinal which has been newly constructed or rebuilt shall be opened for use until it has been inspected by the Cantonment Magistrate and passed by him as conforming, in respect both of the manner in which it is constructed and of the utensils with which it is supplied, with the approved standard plan.

(3) The Cantonment Authority may by notice require any person who constructs, rebuilds or opens any privy, latrine or urinal without its permission in writing or contrary to its directions or to the provisions of this section, or who opens, constructs or rebuilds any privy, latrine or urinal which the Cantonment Authority has ordered to be removed or not to be made, to remove the privy, latrine or urinal, or to make such alteration therein as it may think fit.

Explanation.—"The approved standard plan" means a standard plan for the construction and furnishing of privies, latrines or urinals which has been approved by the Commander-in-Chief. Copies of such plans will be obtainable on application to the Cantonment Magistrate.

Removal of insanitary private latrine or urinal.

158. (1) If any private latrine or urinal fails, in the opinion of the Cantonment Authority, whether by reason of the manner in which it is constructed or of the manner in which it has been kept, or for any other reason, to comply with the requirements of sanitary knowledge, and is in consequence likely to create a nuisance, the Cantonment Authority may by notice require the grantee or owner of the land or building to which it belongs to remove it, and to substitute fresh earth, to a depth of two feet, for the earth on which the latrine or urinal stood:

(2) Provided that, where the insanitary condition of any such latrine or urinal is not fairly attributable to any neglect on the part of the said grantee or owner, the Cantonment Authority shall either—

(a) bear the whole cost of the construction of a new latrine or urinal to be substituted therefor, or

(b) provide in lieu thereof all necessary accommodation in a public latrine or urinal situate within a reasonable distance from the land or building.

[Clause (13).] (443)

Cleansing, repair or alteration of private privy, latrine or urinal.

159. The Cantonment Authority may by notice require the owner, grantee or occupier of any building or land to cleanse or purify, or to repair or alter or put in good order, within a period to be specified in the notice, any privy, latrine or urinal belonging to the building or land, in such manner with respect to the site, materials, dimensions or construction thereof, the supply of utensils or of water thereto, or the use of disinfectants or deodorants therein, as may be prescribed in the notice.

[Act XVIII of 1889, s. 92 and Clause (12).] (448)

Penalty for allowing offensive matter to flow or be put upon street or public place.

160. Whoever, without the written permission of the Cantonment Authority, causes or allows the water of any privy, urinal or sink, or any other offensive matter, to soak, flow, drain or be put upon any street or public place, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to twenty rupees and, in case of a continuing offence, with an additional fine which may extend to three rupees for every day after the first during which the offence continues.

[Act XV of 1889, s. 66 (1).] (449)

Employment of public sweepers.

161. The Cantonment Authority may, with respect to any building or land, or to any privy, latrine, urinal or other receptacle for offensive matter pertaining to any building or land, provide for the performance by its agents of the duties usually performed by sweepers,—

(a) with the consent of the occupier of the building or land, upon any terms that may be agreed upon between them, or

(b) without such consent, if the occupier fails to make arrangements to the satisfaction of the Cantonment Authority for the performance of such duties, upon any terms it may think fit to impose.

[Bengal Act II of 1888, s. 310.] (492-494)

Provision and maintenance of public latrines and urinals.

162. (1) The Cantonment Authority shall provide and maintain public latrines and urinals, and shall place them in proper and convenient situations as near as circumstances admit to the dwelling-places of the persons for whose use they are intended:

(2) Provided that, except with the sanction of the Commander-in-Chief, no public latrine or urinal shall be placed within fifty feet, and no trench latrine shall be placed within two hundred feet, of any inhabited building.

(3) Every public latrine and urinal shall be constructed either for the exclusive use of males or for the exclusive use of females, and, whenever any public latrine or urinal for the use of males is constructed so as to be under the same roof as a latrine or urinal for the use of females, it shall be so constructed as to be entirely separated therefrom.

[Clause (31

Rules as to provision of public latrines and establishments therefor.

163. (1) In the provision of public latrines, the Cantonment Authority shall be guided by the following rules, namely:

(a) such number of latrines shall be provided as will admit of there being one compartment for the use of every fifteen adult persons resorting to the latrines ;

(b) no latrine shall be constructed for the use of more than five hundred persons ;

(c) every latrine, other than a trench latrine, shall be provided with proper closed iron receptacles in the proportion of not less than two for every hundred persons using the latrine, and with one iron or glazed earthen pan for each compartment ;

and includes any well situate on private premises from which water is taken for the use of any persons other than the occupier of the premises; and

(2) "water-works" includes all wells, tanks, rivers, streams, springs, channels, lakes, cisterns, pumps, reservoirs, conduits, aqueducts, tunnels, mains, hydrants and fountains, and all lands, bridges, buildings, engines, machinery, works, materials and things used for the purposes of or forming part of an artificial system for supplying water.

[Bombay Act III of 1888, s. 267, and Clause (19).] (505, 506.)

[Madras Act IV of 1884, s. 152.] (511.)

193. The Cantonment Authority may by notice require the owner, grantee or occupier of any building or land wherein or whereon gas-works are situated or any offensive trade or manufacture is carried on, by himself or his servant or agent, to cease, within twenty-four hours from the service of the notice, from any act whereby any source of public water-supply in the cantonment is fouled.

(a) A strict control by the Cantonment Authority over all sources of water-supply capable of being used for drinking, or of being introduced into articles of food or drink, is of the first importance to the public health.

This chapter therefore aims at providing—

(3) that no well or other source of water-supply be allowed within fifty feet of a latrine, urinal, cesspool, drain or place for the deposit of offensive matter, and that wherever such a state of things exists it be promptly put an end to.

As a means of ensuring that drinking water is not fouled, the Cantonment Authority is required to set apart sufficient places for bathing and washing.

Provision is made for the protection of catchment areas from being fouled.

Artificial water-works are left under the control of the Public Works Department; but powers are taken to punish persons damaging them or trespassing on them, and also to control the issue of water from them should such control be at any time required to be exercised by the Cantonment Authority.

(2) Whenever a notice is issued under this section, a notice-board shall be put up near the well, tank or other place to which the notice relates, stating that the water is impure.

Power to make rules for public markets.

XIII of 1889.

(a) A strict control over the preparation and sale of articles of food and drink is one of the first sanitary requirements of the day in India. Chapters XVI, XVII and XVIII aim at giving the Cantonment Authority the very widest powers in this respect of which the law at present admits.

In the case of many of such articles this control is only obtainable by the establishment and maintenance of regular markets for them, and Chapter XVI provides for this.

Markets may be established either by the Cantonment Authority itself or by private persons, and may range from an expensive building, like the Bombay market, to a mere field or other space within specified limits, where people congregate for barter, and which is declared a market. The conditions under which markets exist depend on local customs, differing widely in the different provinces of India, and this chapter therefore aims at investing the Cantonment Authority with such ample powers as will enable it to meet the requirements of its particular locality. The powers so given in respect of public markets relate mainly to nuisances, obstructions, conservancy, sanitation, ventilation, and water-supply, while power is given to make the owners or lessees of private markets conform as far as possible to similar rules.

and may recover from the occupier and pay to the Executive Engineer the expense incurred in so turning off or cutting off the water.

[Bengal Act II of 1888, s. 163.] (539.)

Penalty for wasting private supply.

208. The occupier of any building or land in which water supplied from cantonment water-works is from negligence or other circumstances under the control of the said occupier wasted, or or is for any reason likely to endanger the public health,

SCHEDULE II.

(See section 416.)

1. The first thing to do at a fire is to rescue any person in danger.

2. The next thing to do is to prevent the fire from spreading, and, if there is danger of its doing so, the buildings adjoining those on fire should be pulled down or soaked with water before those actually on fire are touched.

3. While a fire is still small, it can be easily put out by throwing earth or dust or a blanket or heavy cloth on it. It is a good thing to keep a box of earth in every room in a house liable to catch fire.

4. When a person is on fire, wrap him up in the nearest blanket, rug, carpet, curtain or heavy cloth available, and, if possible, roll him round in it.

5. When a house is on fire, if possible shut all the doors and windows before leaving it.

6. If smoke is choking or the heat is very great, when entering or leaving a burning house crawl on the hands and knees, because breathing is then easiest in this position.

7. When entering, and if possible when leaving, a burning house, draw a wet rag or piece of flannel over the mouth, and the breathing will be easy.

8. No crowd should gather close to a fire, because this prevents the firemen from working.

9. When buildings are thatched with grass or roofed with bamboo shingles, fire always catches in small patches at first; but, if there are people on the roof, these patches are easily beaten out with sticks or branches of trees, or put out with small quantities of water.

10. In saving property, watch the wind, and take the property either towards the wind or to one side of the direction in which it blows. Never take property in the direction of the wind.

11. Look out for thieves and help the police to catch them.

12. People who are helping at a fire should do exactly what the person in command tells them. Help is only obstruction if every person does as he may think best.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE INCOME-TAX IN BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1891-92.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT—SEPARATE REVENUE.

Dated Calcutta, the 29th August 1892.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Report of the Board of Revenue on the financial results of the administration of the Income-tax for the year 1891-92.

No administrative change of any importance was effected during the year in the working of the Income-tax Act II of 1886.

2. The following statement compares the financial results of the Income-tax during the last two years:—

	1890-91. Persons.	1891-92. Persons.
Number of persons finally assessed, including Government servants who pay tax through the Accountant-General	110,779	111,160
Number originally assessed, excluding Government servants	106,083	105,967
Number finally assessed, exoluding Government servants	102,988	103,176
Number of assessees, including Government servants, who paid tax within the year ...	104,886	107,878

	Rs.	Rs.
Final demand of tax for the year, excluding Government servants and interest on securities...	37,36,619	36,82,269
Final demand of tax for the year, including Government servants and interest on securities...	42,05,791	41,54,738
Final demand of tax for the year, including penalties, fines and arrears of previous years ...	45,30,457	45,30,877
Collections of tax within the year, excluding Accountant-General's collections.	34,86,635	35,58,330
Collections of tax, including Accountant-General's collections	39,55,807	40,20,843
Actual receipts, including advance and excess payments and after-adjustments	42,38,075	43,06,720
Charges	1,83,712	1,86,959
Percentage of charges	4 3	4·3
Net revenue	40,54,363	41,19,761

The net revenue shows an increase of 1·5 per cent. as compared with 1·3 per cent. in 1890-91. Including advance payments and excess collections, and making allowance for various adjustments, the actual receipts at the close of the year amounted to Rs. 43,06,720, against Rs. 42,38,075 in the previous year.

Demand, Collections and Balances.

3. The original demand amounted to Rs. 38,07,251 from 105,967 assessees, against Rs. 39,24,643 in the previous year, representing the demand from 106,083 persons. The demand was reduced on revision to Rs. 36,82,269 assessed on 103,176 persons, the corresponding figure for 1890-91 being Rs. 37,36,619 to be realized from 102,988 persons. Thus the number of assessees increased during the year by 188, while the final demand showed a falling off of Rs. 54,350. The percentage of collection on the final demand of the tax, excluding a voluntary payment of Rs. 9,956 noticed further on, was 96·3 against 93·3 in the previous year. The outstanding balance at the close of the year, including penalties and costs, aggregated Rs. 2,47,486, against Rs. 3,29,100 in 1890-91. Of this balance, Rs. 99,849 are reported to be good and under realization, Rs. 76,106 doubtful, and Rs. 71,531 irrecoverable.

The districts which succeeded in collecting the entire demand within the financial year were Burdwan, Birbhum, Midnapore, Nadia, Bogra, Darjeeling, Backergunge, Tippera, Malda, Cuttack, Puri, and Balasore. In Noakhali too the entire demand was realised within the year, but owing to the detention of a peon on the island of Sundwip by bad weather, a small outstanding balance of Rs. 48 was not credited into the treasury before the 2nd April. In the following districts the collections on account of the current and arrear demand, including penalties, &c., were below 95 per cent.:—

Dinajpur	93·08	Jalpaiguri ...	87·5
Purnea	92·9	Darbhanga ...	86·5
Patna	92·4	Singhbhum ...	84·5
Rangpur	92·06	Gaya ...	81·3
Jessore	90·03	Khulna ...	79·3
		24-Parganas ..	77·8

Eight of these districts also failed to collect 95 per cent. of the final demand of the current year on account of tax only. The explanations given in the report of the short collections cannot in some cases be accepted as altogether satisfactory, and the Lieutenant-Governor again expresses the hope that in future greater care and vigilance will be exercised in this important branch of the work. The Board observe that the Calcutta collections include "a voluntary payment amounting to Rs. 9,956, which amount is not accounted for in the demand on which the percentage is calculated." It appears that in two cases the completion of the assessment was delayed owing to difficulties in calculating the deductions to be allowed for depreciation of stock, and while these discussions were going on the assessees tendered sums amounting in the aggregate to Rs. 9,956 in satisfaction of the Government claim.

Assessments.

4. The number of villages visited by the forty-four assessors in the mufassal was 74,556 against 70,138, or on an average 1,694 against 1,600 in the preceding year. The seven assessors employed in Calcutta visited 515 streets against 680 in 1890-91. The number of persons finally assessed was 103,176 against 102,988, the percentage of exemption being 2·6 against 2·9. As in the previous year, the increase in the number of assessees was largest in Khulna, where 1,959 persons were finally assessed against 1,778 in the preceding year. Jessore again shows a marked decrease of 307 persons, but on the other hand the collections, as well as final demand, in this district show an improvement. In Patna the decrease is attributed to dullness in the grain trade consequent on high prices, in Darbhanga partly to imperfect assessment work, in Mymensingh and in the Rajshahi and Chittagong Divisions to slackness of trade on account of the failure of the jute crop, and in Lohardaga and Champaran to miscellaneous causes.

Objections.

5. Out of 105,967 persons originally assessed, 12,388 filed petitions of objection, the percentage of objections to assessments being 11·6 against 13 in the preceding year. In Calcutta the percentage was 11·06. In the whole province, successful objections numbered 4,513 or 36·4 per cent., against 5,321 or 38·3 per cent. in 1890-91. This shows an improvement in the results of the preceding year, especially in the districts of Pabna, Jessore, Noakhali, Manbhum, and Darjeeling, where the percentage decreased by over 15. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to notice the Board's observation that the Income-tax Deputy Collectors as a rule consulted or heard the assessor before reversing or modifying his decision, and that the Board's own enquiries show that in nearly every district objections have been disposed of with care and intelligence.

Incidence of tax.

6. The average incidence of the tax on the whole population of the province (excluding the assessments on the salaries of Government officials, and the interest on Government securities) was Re. 1 to every 19·2 persons, against Re. 1 to every 18·9 persons in 1890-91. Excluding Calcutta, the average incidence in the districts was Re. 1 to every 37·4 persons, against Re. 1 to every 37 persons. Darjeeling continues to show the highest mufassal average, Re. 1 to every 4 persons, and Cuttack the lowest, Re. 1 to every 83 persons. The average incidence in Calcutta was Re. 1 to every ·4 person, and one person in every 35 was assessed to the tax. The proportion of persons assessed for the whole of Bengal was 1 to 688 against 1 to 687 in 1890-91.

7. In accordance with the desire expressed in last year's Resolution, the Board have furnished in their present report statistics illustrating the distribution of the tax as between Calcutta and the rest of the province under the present Act and under former Income-tax and License-tax Acts. The Board's statement, which is re-produced below, shows that out of the total collections nearly one-half (48·3 per cent.) is contributed by Calcutta alone, and that, as was observed last year, the yield of the tax both in Calcutta and in the mufassal continues to increase. In contrast, however, with these figures, remains the fact that the final demand for 1891-92 was less than the final demand for 1890-91 by Rs. 54,350 if the sums levied on Government servants and on interest on securities be excluded, and by Rs. 51,053 if these amounts be included —

Coercive measures.

8. The number of distress warrants issued was larger than in the previous year, but the cases in which actual sale was resorted to fell from 346 to 333. In eleven districts no sales took place, while the districts in which sales were most numerous are Rangpur (94), Khulna (29), Singhbhum (26), and Jessore (25). In Calcutta distress warrants were issued in 586 cases, but in only one case was actual sale resorted to.

9. The total amount of tax collected during the year under section 9(2) was Rs. 2,52,448, against Rs. 2,51,946 in the preceding year, while the number of firms and men of business who entered into agreements under this section to collect the tax from employés in their service again fell from 318 to 340. In Calcutta, however, the number rose from 183 to 192, of whom 167 were Europeans, 22 natives, and 3 Chinamen. None of the companies, &c., in Calcutta who agreed failed to keep their engagement, while in the mufassal 11 failed to collect the tax after agreement. The Lieutenant-Governor is inclined to think that it is still premature to offer a definite opinion as to whether the system of collecting the tax through employers has or has not succeeded, though the Board's opinion continues to be of a discouraging nature.

10. The expenditure rose from Rs. 1,83,712 in 1890-91 to Rs. 1,86,959 in the year under review. The increase has chiefly occurred under "Collector's Establishment" (Rs. 1,343) and "Travelling Allowance" (Rs. 3,202). Under the former head the rise is mainly due to increase in clerical establishments in certain districts, which, however, has been met by a corresponding increase in revenue. It is noticeable that in many cases the amount drawn as travelling allowance by the assessor nearly equals and in some it even exceeds his pay. Careful supervision should be exercised over these charges, and travelling should be restricted within economical limits, unless it is clearly seen that a sufficient return is gained for the money. The percentage of cost for the whole province was the same (4·9) as in the previous year. It is observed that in some districts the cost of establishment is greatly out of proportion to the amount of revenue realised, e.g.—

The Lieutenant-Governor would wish the Board to consider if the pay both of the clerical establishment and the assessor should not be reduced where collections are small, the scale of establishments being made more elastic and commensurate with the work done.

11. The system of payment by money-order is, it is observed, steadily gaining in popularity. The difficulty noticed in last year's report, that the money-order coupon did not contain distinct headings for penalties and costs, has been removed in communication with the Postmaster-General.

12. The Rajshahi Embezzlement case noticed in last year's Resolution has been further commented on in the Board's present report, and the preparation of orders to prevent the repetition of such an occurrence, which was due to a lax system of allowing cash to be paid to the Income-tax clerk instead of direct to the treasury, has separately engaged the attention of Government. The Board have also noticed certain irregularities in the Darbhanga and Patna Income-tax Offices. In the latter case it was discovered that the amount assessed and the number of villages visited used to be shown in the Returns in round figures only, instead of the exact amount and number being shown. It is extraordinary that this procedure, which is said to have been in vogue since 1889, escaped notice for so long. The parties to blame in both these cases have been either censured or punished.

13. The names of the Deputy Collectors specially reported by the Board as having done good service will be communicated to the Appointment Department.

14. The Board have little to add to what has been said in previous reports on the question of popular feeling in regard to the tax.

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

IRRIGATION OPERATIONS OF CANALS IN BENGAL DURING THE RABI SEASON OF 1891-92.

No. 1045*I*.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL—PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

Irrigation.

Dated Calcutta, the 29th August 1892.

READ—

Statements Nos. I, II and III, showing irrigation operations of canals in Bengal during the Rabi season of 1891-92.

OBSERVATIONS.—The area irrigated during the rabi season of 1891-92 was 203,765 acres against 46,879 acres in 1890-91, showing an increase of 334·6 per cent.

2. These figures show a remarkable increase in the area irrigated by the Sone Canals, mainly in the Shahabad district, attributable to the partial failure of the rainfall, which was scanty during the autumn of 1891, and much below the average all through the rabi season. The area irrigated was abnormally large, and though some part of the increase may be retained, it is not likely that in years of normal rainfall such an area will be irrigated. In designing the Sone Canals, special attention was paid to the irrigation of spring crops, but until this year the area irrigated has never exceeded 125,000 acres, and only on two occasions, in 1877-78 and 1883-84, has it exceeded 100,000 acres.

3. The details of the increase or decrease in the irrigation of the rabi crops from each canal during the current year compared with those of the previous year are given in the following statement:—

AMENDMENT OF THE BENGAL MUNICIPAL ACT III OF 1884.

THE following papers are published for general information.

H. H. RISLEY,
Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—MUNICIPAL.

Circular No. 34M., dated Calcutta, the 30th August 1892.

From—H. H. RISLEY, Esq., C.I.E., Secretary to the Government of Bengal,
To—All Commissioners of Divisions.

I AM directed to forward copies of the Preliminary Report of the Select Committee of the Bengal Legislative Council appointed to consider the Draft Bill to amend the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884, and of the Bill as revised by them, and to request that the Lieutenant-Governor may be favoured, at as early a date as possible, with an expression of your opinion and that of the District Officers and Municipal Commissioners of your Division on the subject. I am to add the following observations in explanation of certain points which are not discussed at length in the Report of the Committee.

2. Bill, section 21 ; Act, sections 37*B to* 37*K, proposed.*—These sections, dealing with the introduction of systems of water-supply and drainage, have been drafted, as the Committee point out, for the purpose of giving effect to the recommendations of the Conference which met at Belvedere on the 18th July to discuss these subjects. The proceedings of the Conference have been separately circulated to you and to all District Officers and Municipal Commissioners, and I am to ask that in considering the draft sections those proceedings and the papers laid before the Conference may be borne in mind.

3. Section 69 of the Act.—It was proposed in the Bill referred to the Committee to empower Municipal Commissioners to apply the Municipal Fund to the training and employment of medical practitioners. This provision has been struck out by the Committee for the reason given by them. So far as concerns male medical practitioners the view taken by the Committee need not be disputed. But the need of female medical practitioners for service in district dispensaries is still so great, and the probability of its being met by private enterprise so remote, that the case seems to constitute an exception to ordinary rules. I am to inquire, therefore, whether in your opinion good grounds exist for taking power to spend Municipal Funds on the training of female medical practitioners, and to request that it may be stated what Municipalities in your Division would be prepared at once to exercise such powers if conferred upon them.

4. The suggestion thrown out by the Committee, that the tax upon persons according to their circumstances and property should be abolished altogether, raises various large questions of Municipal administration and Municipal finance. The tax is a very old one. It first appears in the form of a chaukidari tax in clause V of the sanad given in section 16 of Regulation XIII of 1813. This tax was to be levied "as equitably as practicable with reference to the visible or known circumstances of each shop-keeper or house-holder." Regulation XXII of 1816, which repealed Regulation XIII of 1813, lays down that the amount payable shall be regulated "with reference to the known or apparent condition and circumstances and the value of property to be protected of each person assessed." Act XV of 1837 raised the maximum payable by an individual from Re. 1 to Rs. 2 a month, and authorised the appropriation of a portion "to the purpose of cleansing and repairing the towns in which that tax was levied." The tax next appears in section 10 of Act XX of 1856, an Act "to make better provision for the appointment and maintenance of Police chaukidars in cities, towns, stations, suburbs, and bazars in the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal." This section says: "The tax to be levied in any city, town, or other place as aforesaid, for the purposes of this Act, may be either an assessment according to the circumstances and the property to be protected of the persons liable to the same, or a rate on houses and grounds according to the annual value thereof." Section 11 limits the former tax to an average of two annas per mensem for each house, and provides that the amount assessed on any one house shall not be more than the pay of a chaukidar of the lowest grade. The tax was continued in a slightly modified form in Bengal Act VI of 1868, an Act for the better regulation of the Police in towns, and for the conservancy and improvement thereof. Section 44 of this Act runs thus:—

"The tax to be levied in any town for the purposes of this Act shall be an assessment according to the circumstances and the property to be protected of the persons liable to the same. Provided that the total sum to be raised by such tax in any year shall not exceed the sum which would be produced by an average rate of two rupees and four annas per annum for each holding, and the amount assessed in respect to any one holding shall not be more than seven rupees per mensem." In Act V of 1876, which repealed Act VI of 1868, the tax on circumstances and property was maintained by section 77 (a), which authorises the levy of "a tax upon persons occupying holdings within the municipality according to their circumstances and property within the municipality." The proviso contained in the last sentence of section 44, Act VI of 1868, was re-enacted in the same words. Act III of 1884 re-enacted the provisions of 77(a) of Act V of 1876, omitting the portion relating to an average rate of Rs. 2-4 for each holding.

5. The tax then, though originally levied for the purpose of maintaining a town police, has since 1837 been applied in part to Municipal purposes, and since 1882, when municipalities were relieved of Police charges, has been wholly so applied. It last came under discussion when Bengal Act V of 1876 was being passed into law. The Hon'ble Mr. Dampier, who had charge of the Bill then, described it as "a rough and crude mode of taxation, which on the whole was well adapted to the circumstances of the country," adding, however, that "he should be glad to improve on it if it could be done." When Bengal Act III of 1884 was under consideration, the question of abolishing the tax on persons does not appear to have been raised.

6. This being the legislative history of the tax, I am to request that its practical working and its incidence on different classes of assessees may be carefully inquired into and a report submitted showing for each municipality where the tax on persons is in force whether the grounds of objection taken to the tax by the Select Committee exist there, whether the Municipal Commissioners advocate its retention or the substitution of the tax on holdings, and what reasons they give for this advocacy. A careful estimate should be made for each municipality where the tax on persons is in force of the probable financial effect if the rate on the annual value of holdings were substituted. The statement annexed to this letter gives some particulars which may be found useful in dealing with the question. Similarly in the case of municipalities where the tax on holdings is in force, enquiry should be made into the working of that tax, and a report submitted to shew what its results are, whether similar objections exist as to the equity of its assessment and incidence, whether the Municipal Commissioners prefer it to the tax on persons or not, and why, and what the financial effect would be if the tax on persons were substituted for it.

7. Bill, section 44; Act, section 120*A*, proposed.—This section, which attempts to simplify and cheapen the existing system of collecting Municipal taxes, will require careful consideration from the point of view of the assessee as well as from that of the Municipal Commissioners.

8. Bill, section 48; Act, section 172*A*, proposed.—Attention is directed to the provisions of the Calcutta Survey Act. These should be carefully examined with reference to the requirements of mufassal municipalities.

9. Bill, sections 59 to 61 ; Act, sections 237 to 241.—It will be seen that the Building Regulations have undergone considerable modification at the hands of the Committee. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that the Municipal Commissioners will look into them carefully with reference to the circumstances of their own municipalities, and to cases which have occurred, or are likely to occur, in practice.

10. In connexion with section 68 of the Bill (279 of the Act), regarding the imposition of water-rate, I am to inquire whether, in your opinion, provision should not be made for the exemption of buildings and premises such as Jails, Hospitals, Mills and Railways, the owners of which have made arrangements for an independent water-supply and do not use the municipal water. A precedent for such exemption is to be found in section 9 of the English Public Health (Water) Act, 1878, which provides that if any dwelling-house has a supply of wholesome water sufficient for the consumption and use of its inmates, no water-rate shall be recoverable from the owner or occupier unless the water supplied by the local authority is used by the inmates of the house. The question whether in any particular case the water-supply provided was good enough to constitute a claim for exemption might perhaps conveniently be referred for the decision of the Sanitary Board.

11. Bill, sections 50 and 71-76; Act, sections 193, 320-322, 327 and 334.—The changes introduced under the head of privies are important. It is proposed to make it obligatory on the Commissioners to maintain a sufficient number of common privies as a charge on the Municipal Fund. Special fees will be levied only for the cleansing of private privies, and will be limited to the amount actually expended, having regard to the labour employed and the amount ordinarily charged by private employés for doing the same work. In expressing their views on these provisions, I am to ask that Municipal Commissioners may be called upon to report in full detail the system now in force, stating the scale of fees levied, the mode of assessment, and the establishment employed (a) for the actual cleansing, (b) for the transport and disposal of the material, (c) for the supervision of the operations.

12. I am to request that an effort may be made to submit all the reports from your Division by the 1st November, and that your own report and those of the Magistrates subordinate to you may not be delayed by waiting for the reports of Municipal Commissioners.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—MUNICIPAL.

Circular No. 35M., dated Calcutta, the 30th August 1892.

FROM H. H. RISLEY, ESQ., C.I.E., Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

(1) To THE SECRETARY TO THE BENGAL CHAMBER OF COMMERCE; BENGAL NATIONAL CHAMBER OF COMMERCE; BRITISH INDIAN ASSOCIATION, CALCUTTA; INDIAN ASSOCIATION, CALCUTTA; EURASIAN AND ANGLO-INDIAN ASSOCIATION, CALCUTTA; NATIONAL MUHAMMADAN ASSOCIATION, CALCUTTA; MUHAMMADAN LITERARY SOCIETY; JESSORE INDIAN ASSOCIATION; MURSHIDABAD ASSOCIATION; BARANAGORE RATE-PAYERS' ASSOCIATION; BURDWAN ASSOCIATION; UTTERPARA PEOPLE'S ASSOCIATION; BALI SADHARANI SABHA; SIBPUR RATE-PAYERS' ASSOCIATION; RAJSHAHI ASSOCIATION; BOGRA PEOPLE'S ASSOCIATION; DACCA PEOPLE'S ASSOCIATION; EAST BENGAL LANDHOLDERS' ASSOCIATION; FARIDPUR PEOPLE'S ASSOCIATION; MYMENSINGH BRANCH, INDIAN ASSOCIATION; MYMENSINGH LANDHOLDERS' ASSOCIATION; BARISAL PEOPLE'S ASSOCIATION; ISLAM ASSOCIATION, CHITTAGONG; CHITTAGONG ASSOCIATION; BAR ASSOCIATION, NOAKHALI; TIPPERA PEOPLE'S ASSOCIATION; BIHAR LANDHOLDERS' ASSOCIATION, PATNA; INDIGO PLANTERS' ASSOCIATION, MUZAFFARPUR AND CHAMPARAN; BHAGALPUR LANDHOLDERS' ASSOCIATION; ORISSA ASSOCIATION; BALASORE NATIONAL COMMITTEE; SERAMPORE MUFASSAL ASSOCIATION; BARRACKPORE PEOPLE'S ASSOCIATION, SANTIPUR RATE-PAYERS' ASSOCIATION; UTTERPARA UNION; HOWRAH PEOPLE'S ASSOCIATION; SOUTH BARRACKPORE RATE PAYERS' ASSOCIATION; EAST BENGAL ASSOCIATION, DACCA; SRIPUR HITASADHINI SABHA; KRISHNAGAR RATE-PAYERS' ASSOCIATION; DINAPORE RATE-PAYERS' ASSOCIATION; JALPAIGURI RATE-PAYERS' ASSOCIATION, AND KONNAGORE RATE-PAYERS' ASSOCIATION.

(2) „ MASTER OF THE CALCUTTA TRADES' ASSOCIATION.

I AM directed to forward copies of the Preliminary Report of the Select Committee of the Bengal Legislative Council appointed to consider the Draft Bill to amend the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884, and of the Bill as revised by them, and to request that the Lieutenant-Governor may be favoured, at as early a date as possible, with an expression of the opinion of the Chamber of Commerce / Association on the subject. I am to add the following observations in explanation of certain points which are not discussed at length in the Report of the Committee.

2. Bill, section 21; Act, sections 37*B to* 37*K, proposed.*—These sections, dealing with the introduction of systems of water-supply and drainage, have been drafted, as the Committee point out, for the purpose of giving effect to the recommendations of the Conference which met at Belvedere on the 18th July to discuss these subjects. The proceedings of the Conference have been separately circulated. I am to ask that in considering the draft sections those proceedings and the papers laid before the Conference may be borne in mind

3. Section 69 of the Act.—It was proposed in the Bill referred to the Committee to empower Municipal Commissioners to apply the Municipal Fund to the training and employment of medical practitioners. This provision has been struck out by the Committee for the reason given by them. So far as concerns male medical practitioners, the view taken by the Committee need not be disputed. But the need of female medical practitioners for service in district dispensaries is still so great, and the probability of its being met by private enterprise so remote, that the case seems to constitute an exception to ordinary rules. I am to inquire, therefore, whether, in the opinion of the Chamber of Commerce, Association, good grounds exist for taking power to spend Municipal Funds on the training of female medical practitioners.

4. The suggestion thrown out by the Committee that the tax upon persons according to their circumstances and property should be abolished altogether, raises various large questions of Municipal administration and Municipal finance The tax is a very old one. It first appears in the form of a chaukidari tax in clause V of the sanad given in section 16 of Regulation XIII of 1813. This tax was to to be levied " as equitably as practicable with reference to the visible or known circumstances of each shop-keeper or house-holder." Regulation XXII of 1816, which repealed Regulation XIII of 1813, lays down that the amount payable shall be regulated "with reference to the known or apparent condition and circumstances and the value of property to be protected of each person assessed" Act XV of 1837 raised the maximum payable by an individual from Re. 1 to Rs. 2 a month, and authorised the appropriation of a portion "to the purpose of cleansing and repairing the towns in which that tax was levied." The tax next appears in section 10 of Act XX of 1856, an Act "to make better provision for the appointment and maintenance of Police chaukidars in cities, towns, stations, suburbs, and bazars in the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal." This section says: "The tax to be levied in any city, town, or other place as aforesaid, for the purposes of this Act, may be either an assessment according to the circumstances and the property to be protected of the persons liable to the same, or a rate on houses and grounds according to the annual value thereof." Section 11 limits the former tax to an average of two annas per mensem for each house, and provides that the amount assessed on any one house shall not be more than the pay of a chaukidar of the lowest grade. The tax was continued in a slightly modified form in Bengal Act VI of 1868, an Act for the better regulation of the Police in towns, and for the conservancy and improvement thereof. Section 44 of this Act runs thus:—

"The tax to be levied in any town for the purposes of this Act shall be an assessment according to the circumstances and the property to be protected of the persons liable to the same. Provided that the total sum to be raised by such tax in any year shall not exceed the sum which would be produced by an average rate of two rupees and four annas per annum for each holding, and the amount assessed in respect to any one holding shall not be more than seven rupees per mensem." In Act V of 1876, which repealed Act VI of 1868, the tax on circumstances and property was maintained by section 77(a), which authorizes the levy of "a tax upon persons occupying holdings within the municipality according to their circumstances and property within the municipality." The proviso contained in the last sentence of section 44, Act VI of 1868, was re-enacted in the same words. Act III of 1884 re-enacted the provisions of 77(a) of Act V of 1876, omitting the portion relating to an average rate of Rs. 2-4 for each holding.

5. The tax then, though originally levied for the purpose of maintaining a town police, has since 1837 been applied in part to Municipal purpose, and since 1882, when municipalities were relieved of Police charges, has been wholly so applied. It last came under discussion when Bengal Act V of 1876 was being passed into law, The Hon'ble Mr. Dampier, who had charge of the Bill then, described it as "a rough and crude mode of taxation, which on the whole was well adapted to the circumstances of the country:" adding, however, that "he should be glad to improve on it if it could be done." When Bengal Act III of 1884 was under consideration, the question of abolishing the tax on persons does not appear to have been raised.

6. This being the legislative history of the tax, I am to request that its practical working and its incidence on different classes of assessees may be carefully considered and reported on with special reference to the probable financial consequences of substituting for it the rate on the annual value of holdings. An expression of the opinion of the $\frac{\text{Chamber of Commerce}}{\text{Association}}$ is also desired on the question whether the latter mode of taxation is open to the objections taken by the Select Committee, and whether it is preferred to the tax on persons or the reverse.

7. Bill, section 44; Act, section 120*A*, proposed.—This section, which attempts to simplify and cheapen the existing system of collecting Municipal taxes, will require careful consideration from the point of view of the assessee as well as from that of the Municipal Commissioners.

8. Bill, section 48; Act, section 172*A*, proposed.—Attention is directed to the provisions of the Calcutta Survey Act. These should be carefully examined with reference to the requirements of mufassal municipalities.

9. Bill, sections 59 to 61; Act, sections 237 to 241.—It will be seen that the Building Regulations have undergone considerable modification at the hands of the Committee. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that the Chamber of Commerce Association will look into them carefully with reference to the circumstances of municipalities known to them, and to cases which have occurred, or are likely to occur, in practice.

10. In connexion with section 68 of the Bill (section 279 of the Act) regarding the imposition of water-rate, I am to inquire whether, in the opinion of the Chamber of Commerce Association, provision should not be made for the exemption of buildings and premises such as Jails, Hospitals, Mills and Railways, the owners of which have made arrangements for an independent water-supply and do not use the municipal water. A precedent for such exemption is to be found in section 9 of the English Public Health (Water) Act, 1878, which provides that, if any dwelling-house has a supply of wholesome water sufficient for the consumption and use of its inmates, no water-rate shall be recoverable from the owner or occupier unless the water supplied by the local authority is used by the inmates of the house. The question whether in any particular case the water-supply provided was good enough to constitute a claim for exemption might perhaps conveniently be referred for the decision of the Sanitary Board.

11. Bill, sections 50 and 71-76; Act, sections 193, 320-322, 327 and 334.—The changes introduced under the head of Privies are important. It is proposed to make it obligatory on the Commissioners to maintain a sufficient number of common privies as a charge on the Municipal Fund. Special fees will be levied only for the cleansing of private privies, and will be limited to the amount actually expended, having regard to the labour employed and the amount ordinarily charged by private employés for doing the same work.

12. I am to request that the opinion of the Chamber of Commerce Association may be submitted by the 1st November at latest.

Explanation.—... indicates that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0·1 inch of rain has fallen.

Calcutta, the 30th August 1892.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M., SATURDAY, THE 27TH OF AUGUST 1892.

DURING a considerable part of the previous week pressure had been extremely high over the province, and the monsoon current flowing over it had been unusually weak, so that a partial break in the rains had obtained in the southern and western districts. At the close of the week, however, a rapid fall of pressure had made conditions more normal, and hence again the monsoon current began to flow over Bengal more freely, and more general rain was recommencing. On the 21st, or the first day of the present week, the fall of pressure continued, and pressure was in defect of the normal by amounts varying from 0·02″ to 0·04″. This was succeeded by a slight rise on the 22nd, which continued on the 23rd and 24th and also on the 25th in Orissa and parts of South-West and East Bengal, though a fall commenced over the remainder of the province. On the 26th the reaction continued and pressure began to fall in all districts, but an increase again began on the 27th, and pressure was on this day in excess of the normal generally by about 0·02″. Hence while at the commencement of the week conditions were decidedly favourable for a good advance of the monsoon winds over Bengal, the conditions became steadily less favourable for rainfall for by far the greater part of the week. General rainfall was thus received in Orissa, South-West Bengal, East Bengal, and parts of Chota Nagpur for the first four or five days of the week, in Bihár rainfall was general for the last four or five days, and in North Bengal almost throughout the week, but towards the close again considerable parts of the western and south-western divisions were becoming rainless. The rainfall has again been determined in unusually large amounts towards the northern districts, and North Bihar and North Bengal have received exceptionally heavy rain. South Bihár has also received more than the usual fall, and East Bengal and Orissa nearly normal amounts. The unusual lightness of the rainfall in the south-western districts of Bengal and in Chota Nagpur, which has been a persistent feature for some weeks, has still continued in the week under review, and thus these two divisions have received falls of only from half to two-thirds of the normal, while in such smaller districts as Manbhum, and parts of the Burdwan and Bankura districts, the falls have been exceptionally light.

Pressure.—The general pressure for the week has hence again been in excess of the normal over the greater part of the province. The usual excess, however, only equals about 0·01″ to 0·03,″ and has hence been very much smaller than in the previous week. The excess has been, as might be expected, largest in South-West and West Bengal, and it is comparatively small in Bihár, and particularly in North Bihár, where indeed pressure has been practically normal. In Assam pressure has also been normal at Dhubri and Silchar, but Sibsagar again reports a defect of 0 05.″

Temperature.—Owing to the lightness of the rainfall in the western districts the mean temperature in Chota Nagpur, Orissa, South-West Bengal, and South Bihár has been in excess of the normal, the excess equalling 2·3° in Chota Nagpur and one degree in Orissa. On the other hand, owing to the heaviness of the rainfall in the northern districts, and partly in the east of the province, the temperature in North and East Bengal and North Bihár has been from half to one degree in defect. The mean temperature of the one-half of the province is therefore in defect and in excess in the other half, and hence the mean temperature has only been between two and three-tenths of a degree in excess of the normal. In Assam also, where copious rain has fallen, the mean temperature for the week is in defect by no less than 1·7°.

Rainfall.—An average fall of about six inches of rain is reported in North Bengal and North Bihár, or about twice the normal amount for the period. In North Bengal the falls have been excessively heavy in Rangpur, Jalpaiguri, Dinajpur, Kuch Bihár, and Darjeeling ; while, on the other hand, they have been comparatively very light in Rajshahi and Bogra. In North Bihár the falls have been excessive in Purnea, Champaran, and Saran, and generally very heavy over the whole division. South Bihár has received an average rainfall of about three and-a-half inches, or more than one inch in excess of the usual amount, and hence very heavy rain has fallen in the districts of Patna and Shahabad. East Bengal has received an average of two and-a-half inches, or practically a normal fall, and in this division the falls have been comparatively light in Dacca, Faridpur, and Tippera, and fairly good in other districts. In the Orissa Division the average fall was 1·82 inches, or slightly less than the normal, and the distribution has been fairly good throughout the division.

The two divisions where the falls have been decidedly defective are North-West Bengal and Chota Nagpur, which have only received about an inch and-a-half of rain, or about two-thirds of an inch less than the normal. In these divisions the falls have been very defective in the following districts:—Midnapore, Hooghly, Burdwan, Bankura, Birbhum, and Manbhum ; while, on the other hand, good rain has fallen in 24-Parganas, Hazáribágh, and Palámau.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 27th of August 1892:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT,—BENGAL.

DISTRICT ROAD FUND.

NOTIFICATION No. 260.

Dated Calcutta, the 5th September 1892.

THE subjoined Annual Report and Accounts of the District Road Committee of the district of Darjeeling, for the year 1891-92, are published for general information.

W. B. GWYTHER,
Under-Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 69R.F., dated Darjeeling, the 15th July 1892.

From—R. M. WALLER, ESQ., Deputy Commissioner and Chairman, District Road Cess Committee, Darjeeling,
To—The Commissioner of the Rajshahi Division.

I HAVE the honour to submit in duplicate the Annual Report on the administration of the Road Fund, Darjeeling, for the Cess year ending 31st March 1892.

2. The balance at credit of the Fund on the 1st April 1891 was Rs. 19,196-3-6, and the revenue collected under the several heads, Rs. 21,265-7-6, made up a total of Rs. 40,461-11. The total expenditure during the year was Rs. 13,846-2-9, leaving an apparent balance of Rs. 26,615-8-3 available for the current year, or an actual one of Rs. 19,885-0-7, if the advances made towards repairs of roads and still to be adjusted, Rs. 6,730-7-8, are deducted.

3. Assessment and Collections.—The road cess demand of the year under report was Rs. 17,065, compared with that of the previous year; it shows an increase of Rs. 355 due to revaluation of estates and to assessment of markets. The latter is a new source of income. Rs. 1,078 were realized in advance during the previous year, and Rs. 15,959 collected during the year, leaving a balance of Rs. 28 at the close of the year, which was subsequently realized. Besides this, Rs. 1,223 were collected in advance for future years. A further sum of Rs. 27 on account of arrears outstanding at the close of the previous year was collected, which made up a total collection of Rs. 17,209. The percentage of collection for the year was Rs. 99-8, and that of arrears cent. per cent.

4. Working of the Committee—The number of meetings of the District Road Committee held during the year under review was 5. The average attendance was 2 out of 8 official, and 5·8 out of 16 non-official members. There were eight meetings of the Terai Branch Committee held at Siliguri, and the average attendance, as reported by the Vice-Chairman was 1·25 out of 3 official and 4·87 out of 17 non-official members. In one of these eight meetings there was no quorum.

5. List of Roads.—Road No. 27, "Adulpur to Sukna," and 8 miles out of 14 of road No. 21, "Matigarah to Nuxulbari," have been transferred to the Public Works Department. The remaining 6 miles of the latter road will hereafter be known as the "Bagdogra-Hatighisa road." No new road was constructed by the Committee during the year under report.

6. Public Works.—No original work was executed by the Committee during the year.

Repairs.—Rupees 4,348-15-11 were spent on Hill roads and bridges, and Rs 6,109-12-6 on Terai roads, of which Rs. 1,237-9-1 on surface tracks, making a total of Rs. 10,458-12-5, from which Rs. 167-6 has been deducted on account of two cheques cancelled, reducing the net expenditure under this head to Rs. 10.291-6-5 as shown in the body of return No. 6, Part I.

I have here to mention that the amounts of these cheques were originally charged to Repairs, but through oversight were credited to Advance Account when cancelled. In the monthly accounts these amounts were shown under head "Advance recovered." The error was detected after the submission of the accounts for the month of March 1892, and is now rectified in the annual accounts by transfer from credit of Advance to Repairs account; thus the total amount recovered on account of Advances during the year was Rs. 7,953-3-1 instead of Rs. 8,120-9-1 as shown in the accounts for March 1892, and the total expenditure under head "Repairs" was Rs. 10,291-6-5, instead of Rs. 10,485-12-5.

7. Hill Roads and Terai Roads.—It will be noticed nothing has been shewn as spent against the budget grants for some of the roads. This is due to the gentlemen in charge of the roads not having submitted accounts for sums previously in their hands. The allotments for most of the roads have, however, been paid, but remain unadjusted at debit of Advance account. The expenditure against certain items has apparently exceeded the budget grants, but the excess is owing to accounts of work done in previous years having been submitted along with accounts for work done in the year of the report, necessitating the adjustment of sums paid in previous years during the year under review.

8. Working of the Cess Act.—The cess was levied at the maximum rate, and the results of the year were satisfactory.

9. Establishment.—The pay of the accountant was reduced from Rs. 70 to 30, and that of the sub-overseer increased from Rs 20 to 25. The Accountant, Babu Hari Lal Goswami, who was appointed on probation for six months, and gave satisfaction, has been confirmed in his post.

10. Inspection of Accounts.—The accounts of the Committee for 1891-92 were inspected by the Local Auditor on the 23rd May 1892, but no report has been yet received as to the result.

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE GOVERNMENT CINCHONA PLANTATION AND CINCHONA FACTORY IN BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1891-92.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS.

READ—

The Annual Report of the Government Cinchona Plantation and Cinchona Factory in Bengal for the year 1891-92.

THE Report is submitted by Mr. J. A. Gammie, Acting Superintendent.

In marked contrast with the heavy rainfall in 1890-91, the year under review witnessed the scantiest fall at the plantation since its formation, being 81 inches against an average of 126. Fortunately it was well distributed and proved sufficient for the requirements of the plants. Flights of locusts visited the cinchona reserves, but caused no material injury to the cinchona trees, which they passed by for the leaves of the acacias, and the wormwood which abounds in these parts. The number of cinchona plants in the plantation on the 1st April 1892 was 4,369,971, of which 3,149,971 were quinine-yielders. The cultivation of the Calisaya Verde and Morada species, of which great hopes were at first entertained, is being gradually abandoned, their yield of quinine being scanty as compared with that of Calisaya Ledgeriana, which must occupy the first place on the plantation as a quinine-yielder. The statistics given at the end of the report show that no red bark trees were planted out during the year, while the number of such plants up-rooted was 200,000. This is in accordance with the policy steadily observed for years past of gradually reducing the red bark trees, which, though rich in the inferior alkaloids, are poor in quinine. The complete exhaustion of these plants is only a question of time, the object being to gradually convert the Government Plantation into a source of quinine rather than of cinchona febrifuge.

2. The crop collected amounted to 285,560lbs. of dry bark against 293,972lbs. in the previous year, of which 80,430lbs. were of red bark, 114,540 of Ledgeriana, 70,870 of hybrid, 19,170 of Verde and Morada, and 550 of Crown or Officinalis bark. In other words, the crop was composed of 205,130lbs. of the quinine-yielding, and 80,430 lbs of the febrifuge yielding barks. The whole of this crop, with the exception of a small quantity supplied on indent or sold to Government institutions, was made over to the Febrifuge Factory for disposal.

3. The outturn of the factory, which is regulated by the demand, was 4,586lbs. of sulphate of quinine, and 4,190lbs. of febrifuge, against 4,010 and 4,031lbs., respectively, in 1890-91. The entire quantity was manufactured by the fusel oil process, which continues to work satisfactorily. The issues from the factory were larger than those in the preceding year, as will be seen from the following table:—

It is not explained why the medical depôt at Bombay has ceased to indent for the drug. In 1890-91 the demand from Bombay was no less than 400lbs. of sulphate of quinine, and 1,000lbs. of the cinchona febrifuge. The report also fails to distinguish clearly the supply to dispensaries; this should be separately shown in future reports.

4. The revenue derived from the sale of sulphate of quinine, cinchona febrifuge, cinchona bark and other products of the plantation amounted to Rs. 1,09,321-12-9 against Rs. 1,18,576 in the previous year:—

The net profit on the working of the estate amounts to Rs. 7,962-12-8 against Rs. 17,040-2 in 1890-91. The decline is attributed to the unusually low market rates, above which the Government quinine is not sold. The profit, small as it is, is sufficient. As explained in last year's Resolution, the Government does not aim at a profit, the sole object in establishing the cinchona plantations being to secure for the people a cheap remedy for fever. In pursuance of this principle the question of reducing the price of Government quinine lately engaged the attention of Government. Under the orders of the Government of India, the rate for locally manufactured quinine supplied to Government should be the rate in England of Messrs. Howard and Son's quinine on the 1st January each year converted into Indian Currency at the official rate of Exchange. The price of the quinine supplied to Government officers and Local authorities is, however, slightly higher than that charged to medical depôts, and the question is under consideration whether the former should not be placed in the same position as the latter. Another important scheme is now being matured by which pure Government quinine will be placed within the easy reach of the poorer classes in Bengal. The quinine will be made up into packets containing five grains each and sold for a pice apiece. The sales will be conducted at all public offices in the interior, such as thánas and police outposts, dispensaries, offices of managers of Ward's estates, etc., and also through the more effective agency of the village post office.

5. The Lieutenant Governor's acknowledgments are again due to Dr. King and Mr. Gammie for their efficient management of the Department.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. H. RISLEY,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

ANNUAL REPORT ON THE GOVERNMENT CINCHONA PLANTATION AND FACTORY IN BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1891-92.

No. 52C, dated Mungpoo, Kurseong, the 11th July 1892.

From—J. A. GAMMIE, Esq., Acting Superintendent, Cinchona Cultivation in Bengal,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department

I HAVE the honour to forward herewith the annual report of the Cinchona Plantations and Factory for the year 1891-92.

Thirtieth Annual Report of the Government Cinchona Plantation and Factory in British Sikkim for the year 1891-92, by J. A. GAMMIE, Esq., Acting Superintendent of Cinchona Cultivation in Bengal.

THE rainfall for the year 1891 was the lightest known at Mungpoo since its occupation by the Cinchona Department, being only 81 inches against an average of 126 and a maximum of 156 inches. But it was fairly well distributed over the growing season, and proved quite sufficient for the needs of the Cinchona trees, both young and old; and as there was no damage to roads or plantations from landslips or deluges, a saving in expenditure was effected. For several days the cinchona reserves were visited by immense numbers of locusts, but they did no appreciable damage to the cinchona trees, only a very few of them having been stripped of their leaves. They also did but little damage to the maize crop, the principal food-grain grown by the plantation coolies, as by the time of their arrival it was so nearly ripe that, although the locusts ate up all the green leaves, the cobs, which they barely touched, were so far advanced that they matured perfectly without them. The locusts ate, by preference, the leaves of the Acacia tribe, and so long as they lasted touched but little else. Their next favourite food was the wormwood which springs up so abundantly on abandoned fields and other open spaces in Sikkim.

2. Changes in the Plantation.—The estimated number of trees uprooted during the year, and consequently cut out of the returns, was 340,000, of which 200,000 were of the red or cinchona febrifuge-yielding sort, and 140,000 of the quinine yielders. The total number of plants put out in new clearances was 194,110—all of them quinine yielders, and many plants (also quinine yielders) were, besides, used to supply vacancies in the younger plantations as in former years. On the 1st April last there were in the open plantations 3,149,971 plants of the quinine-yielding and 1,220,000 of the febrifuge-yielding sorts, or a total of all kinds of 4,369,971, equal to an area of about 2,250 acres. As the Calisaya Verde and Morada sorts have not borne out the great hopes entertained of them in their earlier years, when they made rapid growth and their barks yielded a good proportion of quinine, their cultivation has not been extended, but is being gradually abandoned as the successive plantings arrive at maturity and are uprooted for their bark. Although the proportionate yield of quinine to the bark continues to be good, the total yield is scanty compared with that of Calisaya Ledgeriana, the bark being of a thinner texture and weighing lighter, and the trees die off at an earlier age in these plantations. Calisaya Ledgeriana continues to thrive and yield well, and it seems unlikely that it will ever be superseded as a quinine yielder in Sikkim, although it is hoped that continuous selection of seed may give still better results.

3. The year's crop.—There was collected during the year 205, 130 lbs. of quinine-yielding and 80,430 lbs. of febrifuge-yielding bark, or a total crop of 285,560 lbs., of which 182,440 lbs., were from the Mungpoo, 65,780 lbs., from the Sittong, and 37,340 lbs. from the Rungjung Divisions. The whole crop, with the exception of 1,824 lbs. sold to the public and Government institutions, was made over to the factory.

4. Plantation expenditure.—The budget allotment for the year was Rs. 70,884, of which Rs. 4,000 was afterwards transferred to the Factory allotment and Rs. 65,271-1-8 spent on the plantation, thus showing a net saving of Rs. 1,612-14-4. The details of expenditure are as follows:—

	Rs.	A.	P.
European establishment (including all salaries except that of Dr. King, Superintendent of the Botanic Garden, Calcutta), coolie labour, and office establishment ...	58,909	7	4
Keep of animals for plantations	900	0	0
Contingencies, &c., including service postage stamps, &c.	3,832	1	4
Stores from England	1,585	9	0
Total ...	65,271	1	8

As 285,560 lbs. of bark were collected and Rs. 65,271-1-8 were spent on the plantation, it follows that the cost per lb. of dry bark collected during the year was As. 3-7·885.

5. Factory.—As in last year, the whole of the bark worked up both for quinine and febrifuge was extracted by the mixed oil process, which was again found to work satisfactorily. The expenditure for 1891-92 was Rs. 38,595-1-5, or Rs. 5,588-1-1 in excess of that of last year, when, however, 735 lbs. less of medicine was produced, the outturn for 1891-92 being 4,586 lbs. of sulphate of quinine and 4,190 lbs. of Cinchona febrifuge, against the outturn for 1890-91 of 4,010 lbs. of sulphates and 4,031 lbs of febrifuge.

6. Sales of medicine.—The total issues for the year were 4,725¾ lbs. of febrifuge and 3,713 lbs 12½ oz. of sulphate of quinine, and were as follows:—

7. Stock account.—The bark in stock, of all sorts, on the 31st March 1892 was 451,217 lbs., or 18,700 lbs. less than on the same date of last year. But the less valuable red barks show a decrease of 21,810 lbs. and the better yellow sorts an increase of 3,110 lbs. The stock valuation compared with last year is:—

9. Financially the result of the past year's working is disappointing, showing the small profit of Rs. 7,962-12-8 only. The market rates, above which the Government quinine is not sold, kept lower during the year than ever previously known, and have almost reached the lowest figure at which the Sikkim plantations can be profitably worked. But this is rather a matter for congratulation than otherwise to the Government and to the public generally, who can now procure a five-grain dose of sulphate of quinine for the trifling sum of one pice, thus bringing so indispensable a medicine in malarious countries within the reach of the very poorest, and fulfilling the primary object of Government in introducing the cinchona plant to India. Efforts continue to be steadily made towards cheapening the cost of production, with good prospects of success. Although the plantations show so poor a financial result, it is believed that the saving to the Government of India through the cheapening of quinine has been considerable; and there can be no question that to the action of Government in introducing the cinchona to Madras and Bengal, and their liberality in distributing seeds to private planters in India, Ceylon, and other countries, this cheapness of quinine is mainly if not entirely due.

10. About 25 acres of new extensions were made to the fuel plantation, which continues to make satisfactory growth, and from now will yield from thinnings, the wood for building coolie huts, &c., and a considerable proportion of the firewood for the Factory.

11. The sum of Rs. 2,477-12, collected from the cinchona reserves during the year on account of land rents and grazing dues, was paid into the Darjeeling Treasury as land revenue from Government estates, and is not shown in the accompanying Cinchona Department accounts.

12. Dr. King, the Superintendent, was absent during the year for three months on privilege leave, when the Deputy Superintendent was in charge. Mr. G. A. Gammie, the third assistant, was deputed for six months to the North-West Provinces to officiate for the Director of the Botanical Department of Northern India. The other assistants and clerks had no leave and worked, as in former years, to the satisfaction of the Superintendent.

RESOLUTION ON THE PROGRESS REPORT OF FOREST ADMINISTRATION IN THE LOWER PROVINCES OF BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1891-92.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—FORESTS.

RESOLUTION No. 3337 For.

READ—

The Progress Report of Forest Administration in the Lower Provinces of Bengal for the year 1891-92.

Introductory.

1. The Report which was due from the Conservator on the 10th July, did not reach Government till the 5th August, the delay being due to the late receipt in Mr. Dansey's office of the report and returns of the Jalpaiguri Forest Division, which, owing to the ill-health of Mr. Manson, the Officer in charge, were five weeks behind their time. The paucity of Forest Officers in Bengal is such that Mr. Dansey had no way of relieving Mr. Manson except by depriving himself of the services of Mr. Green, his Personal Assistant, and sending him in June 1892 to replace Mr. Manson in the Jalpaiguri Division.

The Conservator's tours of Inspection.

2. The Bengal Forests have been under the able charge of Mr. Dansey, who acted as Conservator throughout the year. His tours covered a period of 251 days, in the course of which he paid two visits to Orissa on important duty in connection with the Forests of Angul and Khurda, travelled over the whole of Chota Nagpur, examining the Palámau, Ranchi, and Koderma Forests, and acquiring a fair insight into the condition of the private forest estates, visited the Sonthal Parganas, inspected the Forests of the Jalpaiguri Division, and had nearly completed his inspection of the Buxa Forests, when he was compelled by fever to return to head-quarters, which he reached on the 1st May. This record of activity in inspection deserves the highest commendation. Mr. Dansey, however, is not satisfied that justice was done to the Circle even by a tour of this length. He rightly regards an intimate personal knowledge of the whole of the Forests under his charge as essential to the performance of one of his principal duties, that of deciding how each Forest shall be worked to the greatest economic advantage, and as an instance of the kind of action which might be possible elsewhere if he were in possession of complete information, he cites the beneficial result of his visit to Singhbhum. He found there that sâl trees were being sold at a fixed price per tree, with option to the purchaser to choose his own trees. Under his direction this faulty procedure gave place to a system under which a given number of trees are marked on a given area irrespective of the quantity and quality of the timber, except that trees apparently hollow are excluded. The marked trees are then advertised in lots and tenders invited. The introduction of this system raised the average price of sâl trees in Singhbhum by one-half. The Lieutenant-Governor recognizes that this is a good example of the advantages of personal inspection, although the thesis hardly required proof, as it is an accepted principle of administration with His Honour. Every one must feel that the area which Mr. Dansey has to control is too large for him to inspect thoroughly and in every detail and at once. But on the other hand, if he had been able in one-and-a-half years to see everything, the work of inspection would have lost much of its interest, and would, after a few years, become dull and monotonous.

Area of Bengal Forests.

3. During the year the Rajin Forest in the Puri Division, formerly a Protected Forest, was added to the area of Reserved Forests, which was thus increased, after making allowance for some small deductions, by 21 square miles, the total area for the year under report being 5,210 square miles as compared with 5,189 square miles for the previous year.

Deducting the Rajin Forest, and excluding certain forest lands in the Sundarbans, which were given up for purposes of cultivation, the area of Protected Forests, which at the commencement of the year was 2,289 square miles, was diminished to 2,181 square miles at its close. To this, however, must be added the Government Forests in the Sonthal Parganas, constituted such by the Act of 1865, though not hitherto brought under the management of the Forest Department.

The Unclassed Forests, confined to Chittagong and Chota Nagpur, which are under the partial management of the Department, are believed to exceed 4,500 square miles.

Locations for coolies in the Terai.

4. In several instances, planters in the Kurseong Terai have been granted locations for their coolies within the Reserved Forest, a few acres being given up for this purpose. These cessions are made by Government ungrudgingly to secure healthier sites for the coolies, who suffer from fever in the Terai, care only being taken that they do not trespass into or injure or burn the adjoining Forest.

Proposals for extending the operations of the Forest Department—
In the Sonthal Parganas.

5. The Lieutenant-Governor has approved of the principles involved in the joint proposals of the Commissioner of Bhágalpur and the Conservator for the management of the Forests in the Sonthal Parganas, which will necessitate the creation of a separate Forest Division in that locality. But before the scheme can be submitted to the Government of India, it is necessary to come to a definite understanding on the question of Forest Settlement, which is still pending.

State and Private Forests in Chota Nagpore.

6. The proposals which the Commissioner of Chota Nagpur and the Conservator have put forward with a view to bringing the Unclassed State Forests in Chota Nagpur under the management of the Department, as Protected Forest, were approved by the Lieutenant-Governor, and have since received the sanction of the Government of India, to whom they were submitted. Not the least of the benefits to be anticipated from this policy is the likelihood that, when its advantages are made apparent, it will be extensively followed by the private owners of large forest estates in the division, and by the Native Chiefs. The Commissioner has already been requested to use his influence with the latter in this direction, and in particular to ask them to prohibit the felling of immature sâl trees having a girth (at four feet from the ground) of less than six feet. Such action was the more necessary as the Chiefs have been tempted to dispose of their timber without restriction to contractors anxious to supply sleepers to the Bengal-Nagpur and East Coast Railways. It may be well, however, to remove all misapprehension by stating that contracts of this kind given by the Chiefs to private firms are invalid, unless they have been approved and confirmed by the Commissioner.

Unclassed Forests in Chittagong.

7. Proposals for bringing under the operation of the Forest Act the extensive Unclassed Forests in the district of Chittagong have been mooted, but have not yet taken final shape or been submitted to Government.

Unreserved Forests in Angul.

8. The Lieutenant-Governor agrees with the Conservator that the Unreserved Forests of Angul should be subjected to some form of forest management, the same leniency of treatment being extended to the neighbouring raiyats as in the case of the Khurda Forest.

Weakness of the Superior Establishment.

9. The weakness of the Forest Establishment of Bengal is a very serious drawback, and the Lieutenant-Governor was disappointed to learn in reply to his request that the Government of India would post an officer to the Circle to replace the late Mr. Henvey, that it would be impossible to appoint any new officers to Bengal till 1893. Owing to the present weakness of the staff it has been found impracticable to make any substantial progress with the preparation of working plans. Sir Charles Elliott concurs in the view expressed by the Conservator that this work should be entrusted to special officers, and that it is inexpedient to grant to an officer in the regular line a special allowance for the preparation of a working plan in addition to his ordinary duties. If the latter are properly performed, there will be but little time to devote to special work, and the allowance will not be earned. Moreover, the grant of such an allowance is a direct incentive to postpone the completion of the work as long as possible; and the time spent on the work being variable, there is no standard by which progress can be tested. There are at present, in Mr. Dansey's opinion, only two officers in the Circle, excluding Messrs. Chester and Rogers both on deputation outside Bengal, who are qualified to undertake a working plan, and these officers cannot be spared for special duty. Until, therefore, the Department receives an addition to its strength, no improvement in this direction can be looked for.

The number of Officers in the superior grades is now one short of the number sanctioned, the gap caused by Mr. Henvey's death not having been filled up. The death of this promising young Officer, who was accidentally shot by a fellow-sportsman at night, was a serious loss to the Department. Mr. Fowler, who was transferred to Bengal from the Central Provinces in 1888, died at Ceylon on his way to Europe on leave.

Subordinate Forest Staff.

10. The Conservator has little to say in praise of the Subordinate Forest Establishment, which has been for some time in great need of reinforcement. Proposals for the reorganization of this establishment were submitted to the Government of India in June 1891, but no orders have yet been received, the delay being probably due to the necessity of harmonising the Bengal scheme with those framed in other Provinces of India. A revised scheme for the whole of India, formulated by the Inspector-General of Forests, has lately been received, and has been referred to the Conservator, and His Honour trusts that, when final orders are passed, a much needed reform will be effected.

Employment of natives of India as Forest Officers.

11. The Dehra Dun Forest School supplied no Forest Officer to Bengal during the year. Of the eight native officers received from the school in previous years, only one now remains, and the Conservator's opinion of the qualifications of natives of Bengal for the post of Range Officer, where rough work has to be done on land, is distinctly unfavourable. In the Sundarbans and Chittagong, where the work is to a large extent sedentary, and confined to the collection of tolls on forest produce floated past a river station, Mr. Dansey thinks that a purely native agency is sufficient, but for the other divisions, in which a more active life is required, he considers that Bengális are unsuited. The Lieutenant-Governor is not inclined to accept this conclusion without further trial, believing, as he does, that the Bengáli has in him capacities for physical activity which are only now beginning to be developed. Already Bengali officers have in other departments, and especially in explorations beyond our Northern Frontier, shown great powers of physical activity; but it is unquestionably desirable that in the selection of candidates for forest work, great attention should be paid to their physique and to their inclination for a hard and active out-of-door life in the jungles. His Honour trusts that, with the improved prospects which the new scheme will offer, better men will be attracted. At present there are only two Rangers drawing as much as Rs. 80 a month. It is proposed that in future there shall be three Rangers on Rs. 150, three on Rs. 125, three on Rs. 100, and three on Rs. 80. With such advancement to look forward to, the Department should be able to secure men who combine activity with intelligence.

Security deposits.

12. The Conservator has submitted, and not before they were needed, proposals for a revision of the system on which security is deposited by members of the subordinate staff. These proposals are now under consideration, and it is intended that the new scheme should provide for every man who touches public money giving sufficient security against dishonesty.

Office Establishments.

13. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to learn that in the opinion of the Conservator the office establishments leave nothing to be desired except as regards numbers, and it is a satisfactory result that the abolition of forest sub-divisions enabled head offices to be strengthened in this respect.

Breaches of Forest Law.

14. A great decrease is noticeable in the number of forest cases which were taken into Court, being 79 in 1891-92 as compared with 203 in the previous year. This result is attributed to a change of policy in the Sundarbans, of which the Lieutenant-Governor approves, and which is thus described by Mr. Dansey:—

"A large number of cases were instituted by Mr. Ellis in previous years against purchasers who had failed to return their permits according to rule 3 of the rules printed on the reverse of their permits, and who had got away undetected. But as these persons could, in general, only be traced by their registered, and often false, addresses, it followed that the majority of such cases had to be withdrawn later on, the police not succeeding in discovering the offenders.

It was decided during the present year to desist from this fruitless course, and to endeavour to attain our object, if possible, by the exercise of a better system of supervision. The prosecutions under this head were consequently confined to people apprehended in the act of evading the law."

Forest fires.

15. Out of an area of 1,975 square miles of forest specially protected from fire, 401 square miles were burnt. In the previous year 1,464 square miles were protected, and 75 square miles were burnt, the percentage of specially protected forest which escaped fire being thus 80 in 1891-92 as compared with 95 in 1890-91. The extension of the protected area occurred for the most part in Singhbhum, where an attempt was made to protect the whole of the Reserved Forest comprising an area of 730 square miles. This attempt was only partially successful, a result attributable in some degree to the laxity of the Divisional Officer, who did not leave his head-quarters after the 7th April.

In the Jalpaiguri Division a fire of some magnitude occurred in the Tondu Forest, occasioned probably by an act of carelessness on the part of the coolies employed on the Ramshaihat Branch of the Duars Railway.

The Lieutenant-Governor agrees with the Conservator that it is futile to attempt to preserve from fire the plains of grass which are interspersed between the belts of tree forest in the Jalpaiguri Division. To quote Mr. Dansey:—

"During the hot months of the year, these savannahs may be likened to as many powder magazines, of which the ignition is bound to cause widespread destruction. It seems difficult to believe that the folly should have been perpetrated from year to year of building up such fatal barriers to the cause of fire protection; but so it is, and the Conservator can see no certain prospect of protection for the Jalpaiguri forests until we revert—as indeed it is proposed to do next season—to the wise policy adopted years ago by Sir Dietrich Brandis, of setting fire to all the more dangerously situated savannahs early in the year, when the plains of tall dense grass are not too dry, and when the fallen leaves and undergrowth in the adjacent belts of tree forest are still green and wet."

It is reported that the Darjeeling Division escaped the fires which usually follow the flowering of the bamboos in the Singalila Range, the action of the Nepalese authorities in protecting their forests across the border having proved to some extent a safe-guard.

Plantations and cultural operations.

16. The area of regular plantations was given as 3,143 acres in the previous year, and is now given as 3,153 acres at the close of the year under report. The latter figure has been arrived at by the addition of 58 acres of new plantation formed during the year, and by the correction of inaccuracies discovered in former statements. The plantations include among others the Bamonpokri teak plantation in the Kurseong Division, which at present promises well. The Conservator, however, expresses some doubts as to the wisdom of this attempt to introduce exotics into such a locality as the Terai, where fine sâl trees grow as a natural product.

As regards purely cultural operations, the Conservator points out that the area over which they extend has increased from 934 acres in 1884-85 to 1,282 acres in the year under report, the corresponding expenditure for the two years being Rs. 20,463 and Rs. 27,006, respectively. Sir Charles Elliott agrees with Mr. Dansey that a great deal of money has been frittered away in these operations, and that it is inadvisable to extend them without full consideration.

Communications.

17. The expenditure on communications during the year was Rs. 6,910 as compared with Rs. 6,068 in the previous year. This branch of forest work is in a backward state, and the Lieutenant-Governor hopes to see more progress made in future years in proportion as the Conservator gets more grasp of the province. Owing again to the want of officers, it was found necessary to keep in abeyance for the present the preparation of a general project suggested by the Government of India for the extension of forest roads in Bengal during a series of years.

Outturn.

18. Mr. Dansey states that the total outturn of the Circle in timber was 72½ lakhs of cubic feet, and that this quantity, if the factor of conversion hitherto used had been retained, would have appeared as 100 lakhs of cubic feet compared with 83 lakhs in 1890-91, but he has not explained the change in the process by which this calculation is worked out.

Of this 72½ lakhs of cubic feet, only 24,000 cubic feet were the outturn of departmental agency, the remainder being set down to the agency of traders.

The Lieutenant-Governor agrees with Mr. Dansey in his policy of discouraging departmental operations.

The total outturn of fuel was 180 lakhs of cubic feet against 166 lakhs in the previous year; the outturn of bamboos was 162 lakhs of bamboos against 165 lakhs; and the total value of the outturn of minor produce was Rs. 91,000 against Rs. 86,000, free grants being excluded in each case.

The Lieutenant-Governor regards with satisfaction the increase in the outturn of timber in the Sundarban and Singhbhum Divisions, in which the outturn of the previous year was exceeded by 13 lakhs and 4 lakhs of cubic feet, respectively. In this connection the Conservator observes—

"A noticeable feature in the year's administration is thus the recovery in the Sundarban timber trade, which would seem to point to the conclusion that the abnormal fall in 1890-91 was in a large measure due either to local agricultural distress, or to the presence of excess sundri stocks in the market; or perhaps to both circumstances combined.

"The great increase in the outturn from the Singhbhum forests is also an encouraging sign of the times. It is to be feared, however, that the successful bargains lately made by certain wealthy firms of timber contractors with some of the ignorant Chiefs of Chota Nagpur, added to the unchecked destruction going on in the pettier private estates of that Province, will, for the next few years at least, have the effect of either reducing the outturn from the Government forests of Singhbhum, or in any case of lowering prices."

Financial results.

19. The financial results are satisfactory, and compare as follows with those of the three previous years:—

Year.	Receipts. Rs.	Charges. Rs.	Surplus. Rs.
1888-89	6,76,907	3,75,471	3,01,436
1889-90	7,68,718	3,90,265	3,78,453
1890-91	7,27,392	4,14,005	3,13,387

Mr. Dansey writes:—

"Both the gross revenue and the surplus of the year were thus the largest obtained since the formation of the Department, and this notwithstanding the occurrence of heavy items of capital expenditure, such as the disbursement of Rs. 31,500 on account of the new steamer Swan, and Rs. 8,000 on increased pay of establishment.

"The proportion of surplus to gross revenue was 48, as compared with 44 in the previous year."

The following statement shows the financial results for each Division in comparison with the figures for the previous year:—

Division.	Receipts.		Charges.		Surplus.		Deficit.
	1891-92.	1890-91.	1891-92.	1890-91.	1891-92.	1890-91.	1891-92.	1890-91.

It will be observed that there was an improvement in every Division except Jalpaiguri, where a surplus was turned into a deficit. The cause of the improvement in Singhbhum has already been noticed.

General.

20. In the concluding chapter of his report, Mr. Dansey notices the waste which accompanies the import of timber from Sikhim. This timber is used for the manufacture of tea boxes, and the quantity of immature timber that is brought in unfit for use is very large. The Lieutenant-Governor will be glad to receive Mr. Dansey's proposals for placing the Sikhim forests under departmental management.

21. In concluding this review, the Lieutenant-Governor desires to express his acknowledgments to Mr. Dansey for the conspicuous zeal and ability displayed by him in the management of the Department entrusted to his charge.

Explanation.—... indicates that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0·1 inch of rain has fallen.

Calcutta, the 6th September 1892.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M., SATURDAY, THE 3RD OF SEPTEMBER 1892.

THE general meteorological conditions existing over the Bay of Bengal and Bengal at the close of the previous week were fairly normal. On the 28th pressure had risen slowly at a few of the stations in the north and west of the province, but elsewhere there was a fall, and pressure was slightly in excess of the normal along the foot of the hills and below it elsewhere, the defect at the eastern stations equalling about a twentieth of an inch. In the centre and the south of the Bay the monsoon current was blowing rather strongly, but at the head of the Bay the current was light to moderate in strength only. The distribution of pressure over the Bay on the 28th also was a little abnormal, for the lowest pressures were reported from Vizagapatam and Coconada instead of from the head of the Bay as usual at this season of the year. On the 29th the low pressure off the mid-west coast of the Bay had developed, for pressure had fallen over that area, while it was rising at the eastern and southern stations and a distinct but rather feeble barometric depression was formed on this day with a centre to the east or south-east of Gopalpore. This depression was also accompanied by a very complete cyclonic circulation of winds, though the wind velocities were very moderate. With the formation of this depression the rainfall-bearing current was immediately deflected towards it, and even on the morning of the 29th the rainfall reported in the south-west of Bengal had become very light and local, though the falls were still fairly general in other districts. On the 30th the centre of the depression was a little further north, and was probably near Puri, but the small storm had not intensified to any extent and it was still feeble. On this day the indraught towards the depression caused a distinct break in the rains in Bengal, and in all districts, except Orissa, rainfall was confined to a few local showers, but in Orissa, which was under the influence of the depression, general rain was received. During the evening of the 30th the feeble depression moved inland over Orissa, travelling in a west-north-westerly direction, and on the morning of the 31st its centre was near Sambalpur. With the inland advance of the feeble storm the monsoon current again began to sweep over Bengal, and on the 31st rain was fairly generally reported except in Bihár, the heaviest falls being received in the south-western districts, and particularly in Orissa. On the 1st of September the centre of the small depression was advancing towards Sutna, and a further rather rapid fall of pressure took place over the whole of Bengal, which became covered by a shallow barometric depression, the defect ranging from 0·15″ over parts of Orissa and the adjacent parts of South-West Bengal to only about 0 08″ in Assam. At the same time also the wind directions in the south-west of the province and over Orissa, and particularly round the north-west angle of the Bay, began to form part of a cyclonic circulation, the centre of which was apparently not far from Balasore. The depression increased very distinctly on the 2nd, and on this morning there was a well-defined but still feeble storm in the north-west angle of the Bay, with a centre a short distance to the south of Saugor Island. The small storm was attended by a perfect cyclonic circulation of winds which affected almost the whole of Bengal, but the wind force near the centre was small, though to the east and south of the depression strong winds were blowing and squally weather obtained over the northern half of the Bay. The small and feeble storm passed inland during the evening of the 2nd, the centre crossing the coast apparently near Balasore, and moved rapidly in a north-westerly direction, so that by the morning of the 3rd the depression had apparently joined to the depression which had passed inland over Orissa three days previously and which at that time existed in the North-West Provinces. Thus on the 3rd instant, or the last day of the week under review, a strong wave of monsoon winds was flowing in over the province in the rear of the small storm and general and rather heavy rain was recommencing, the falls being heaviest in the south-western districts; and at False Point on the morning of the 3rd instant, 8 26 inches of rain were reported. With the inland advance of the storm also on the morning of the 3rd, pressure rose extremely rapidly, the rise at some stations equalling a tenth of an inch; but still pressure was below the normal by about 0·15″ at the western stations, though the defect decreased towards the east of the province, where it equalled only about 0 05″.

Pressure.—Owing to the formation and advance of the two depressions from the Bay during the week, the mean pressure has been very considerably in defect of the normal. This defect has been largest in the south-western districts, through which or near which the depression passed, and hence in Orissa and the south-western parts of Bengal the defect has in some cases exceeded a tenth of an inch, while in North Bengal the defect is generally not larger than 0·03″ or 0·04″. The mean defect for the week has exceeded a tenth of an inch at the stations Gopalpur, False Point, Balasore, and Chaibassa, while it has been less than 0 04″ at Bogra, Rangpur, and Jalpaiguri.

In Assam the mean defect for the week has equalled 0·057″ and, as in previous weeks, the largest defect is at Sibsagar, where it equals 0 073″.

Temperature.—Owing to the heavy rainfall in Orissa, the mean temperature for the week has been rather largely below the normal, the defect equalling 1·3°. In all other divisions the mean temperature has been either normal or very slightly above it, the excess, if any, being only a fifth of a degree in East and North Bengal, in Chota Nagpur, and in South Bihár, and equalling only four-tenths of a degree in South-West Bengal and North Bihár. For the whole province, therefore, the mean temperature for the week has been almost absolutely normal.

In Assam a very small excess temperature of 0·3° has been registered for the week.

Rainfall.—Heavy rain has fallen in Orissa, which has averaged 4·50 inches, or two inches more than usual for the period. In South-West Bengal and North Bihár the falls have averaged about two inches, and they are smaller than the normal by about half an inch. In North Bengal, South Bihár, and Chota Nagpur the falls have ranged from a little more than an inch and-a-half to nearly two inches, and in all districts the defects are considerable. In Chota Nagpur and South Bihár the defects exceed half an inch, while in North Bengal the defect is equal to two and-a-third inches. Also East Bengal has received the very small fall of 1·35 inches during the week, or more than two and-a-half inches in defect. Notwithstanding that the actual falls in six out of the seven districts are smaller than usual, the actual number of rainy days in the week has been greater than usual in Orissa, South-West Bengal, and South Bihár, while the number has not been very far from the normal in the other four districts. Hence it will be seen the deficiency this week has been mainly due to the unusual lightness of the rain showers themselves, rather than to any particula absence of rainy days. Compared with the normal falls for the week, the actual falls hav equalled the following percentage amounts:—Orissa 180 per cent., South-West Bengal 86 per cent., North Bihár 78 per cent., South Bihár 76 per cent., Chota Nagpur 73 per cent., North Bengal 41 per cent., and East Bengal 35 per cent.

Taking up the case of the smaller districts, the following have received exceptionally scanty rainfall for the week:—Malda, Kuch Bihar, Chittagong Hill Tracts, Chittagong, Dacca, and Tippera; and the following have also received amounts rather or very largely in defect of the normal:—Jessore, Birbhum, Rangpur, Jalpaiguri, Noakhali, and Faridpur.

In Assam the following amounts of rainfall have been reported during the week:—Sibsagar 3·67 inches, Silchar 7·91 inches, and Dhubri 0·34 inches.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 3rd of September 1892:—

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park Street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 0·6° higher; and, finally, the thermometer which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

VILLAGE CHAUKIDARI ACT, 1870, AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble Mr. Cotton moved that the clauses of the Bill to further amend the Village Chaukidari Act, 1870, be further considered in the form recommended by the Select Committee. He said:—

"At the last two meetings of the Council the provisions of the Bill were fully considered, and many amendments were proposed and carried; but the result of those amendments has been that, in several cases it becomes necessary to modify not only the provisions of the Bill in detail, but also the substantive law, Act VI of 1870 as amended by Act I of 1871, and the subsequent law of 1886. The amendments which it is necessary to make are principally of a verbal character, but they are of none the less importance on that account, and the most important of them relates to the use of the words 'Magistrate of the district' and 'Magistrate' throughout these Acts. In Act VI of 1870, 'Magistrate of the district' is defined as the chief executive officer of the district by whatever name he may be designated, and the word 'Magistrate' is defined to mean the officer in charge of a sub-division of a district. Now one of the principles of the Bill introduced into the Council, a principle which has been accepted, is that the Magistrate of the district is the officer responsible for administering the law, but that he should have the power, with the sanction of the Commissioner of the Division, of delegating that authority, either as a whole or in part, to any first class Magistrate under him, or to a Sub-divisional Officer, or to the District Superintendent of Police. That is an important change introduced into the law by this Council. As the law now stands, the Magistrate of the district exercises very few special and definite functions. He is empowered, under section 3 of Act VI of 1870, to appoint the members of the panchayat, and under section 10 of the same Act, he is empowered to remove or to discharge any member of the panchayat. As far as I am aware, those are the only powers which are expressly reserved to the Magistrate of the district under Act VI of 1870. There is no power under which he can delegate his authority in that Act. All the other powers of the Magistrate under Act VI of 1870 are exercised by the Sub-divisional Officer. In the Bill, as far as it has been approved by the Council, the Magistrate of the district is vested with many additional powers. He is vested with the power of delegating his authority, a power to which I have just referred; he is empowered to define a village, he is empowered to determine the number of chaukidars, he is empowered to fix the salaries of the chaukidars, and he is empowered to appoint and dismiss chaukidars. These are additional powers with which in the Bill, so far as it has been approved by the Council, the District Magistrate has been specifically invested. It is needless to point out to the Council that, as the law and the Bill now stand, there is risk of very considerable confusion, and in order to avoid this confusion, it is thought desirable to repeal the definition of 'Magistrate' under Act VI of 1870, that is to say, to enact that the section defining 'Magistrate' to mean the officer in charge of a sub-division shall no longer remain part of the Statute law.

"It has been put down in my name that I shall move that, the definition of 'Magistrate of the district' be also repealed; but I think on consideration that it is expedient that the definition of 'Magistrate of the district', as the chief executive officer of the district, by whatever name he may be designated, should remain.

"With your permission, Mr. President, I will, at the same time as I am moving that the definition of 'Magistrate' be repealed, also move the motions which are marked numbers (4) and (5) on the List of Business, and which stand against my name, as those motions bear directly on this question of the definition of 'Magistrate.' The definition of 'Magistrate' being repealed, it becomes necessary that the word 'Magistrate' be understood as 'Magistrate of the district' in all places in which the word occurs, both in the existing law and in the Bill now before the Council. The Bill as now amended contemplates no other Magistrate than the Magistrate of the district. He is empowered to delegate his authority under section 3, but the law recognises the Magistrate of the district only. In order to ensure this object, I will move the amendment marked (4)."

The HON'BLE THE PRESIDENT said:—"I must ask the hon'ble member to confine himself to the motion before the Council. His covering speech can explain the line he intends to take altogether, but I think he should take the sense of the Council on each motion separately."

The Motion that the clauses of the Bill be further considered, was then put and agreed to.

The HON'BLE MR. COTTON then moved that the following section be inserted in the Bill after section 1:—

"In section 1, the definition of 'Magistrate' shall be omitted."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The HON'BLE MR. COTTON also moved that the words "or group of villages," so often as they occur in sub-sections (1) and (2) of section 2 of the Bill, be omitted. He said:—

"The reason for this amendment is, that the Magistrate of the district is empowered, under section 4 of the Bill as it now stands, to define a village. The section runs thus:—

'The Magistrate of the district may, from time to time, by an order in writing under his hand, declare any local area or group of dwellings within the district of which he has charge to be a village for the purposes of this Act.'

"That section having been approved by the Council, the introduction of the words 'or group of villages' becomes mere surplusage and should be omitted from the Bill."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The HON'BLE MR. COTTON said:—"With the permission of the President, I have a verbal amendment to propose which is not included in the list of business. In section 2 of the Bill as it was passed at a previous meeting of the Council, the words 'Official Gazette' are used, but as Act VI of 1870 uses the words 'Calcutta Gazette', which are the words more ordinarily used in the legislation of this Council, I will move that the words 'Calcutta Gazette' do replace the words 'Official Gazette' both in sub-section (2) and in the second proviso of section 2, of the Bill."

The HON'BLE THE PRESIDENT said:—"Although no notice was given, I do not think there is any objection to the introduction of this clerical amendment."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The HON'BLE MR. COTTON also said:—"In the same way, with your permission, I may point out that section 3 of the Bill as it is now before the Council is introduced as a substantive section in the law, and not as a proviso. When the Council discussed the provisions of this section regarding the delegation of powers, it was treated as a proviso, but it has now, for the convenience of drafting, been inserted as a separate section; and as this is a very small matter, I hope the Council will agree to the change."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The HON'BLE MR. COTTON also said:—"The next motion in my name is also of a verbal character to bring about uniformity in the law. Section 4 of Act VI of 1870 has been repealed by section 4 of the Bill now before the Council. Section 5 of Act VI of 1870, however, refers to section 4 of the same Act, which has now been repealed. It is therefore necessary, looking to the fact that section 4 of Act VI of 1870 has been repealed, and also that the words 'or villages' are no longer required when the Magistrate is empowered to define 'a village', to insert the following section after section 4 of the Bill:—

'In section 5, the words or in two or more villages so situate as in section 4 is set forth; and the words or villages, so often as they occur in this section, shall be omitted.'

The HON'BLE THE PRESIDENT said:—"This amendment is of the same nature as the amendment for the omission of the words 'group of villages', which has been approved by the Council. I conceive, therefore, there can be no objection to this alteration, which works to the same end."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The HON'BLE MR. COTTON also said:—"The next motion is that to which I have already referred when I addressed the Council in regard to the omission of the definition of 'Magistrate.' The motion which appears in the list of business is, that the following section be inserted in the Bill after the last proposed section and before section 5:—

'In sections 6, 8, 9B, 20, 30, 45, 46B, 47 and 63, after the word Magistrate, so often as it occurs, the words of the district shall be inserted.'

"This is in accordance with one of the principles of the new Bill, that the Magistrate of the district, being responsible for working the law, but subject to the control of the Commissioner of the Division, should be able to delegate his powers to the officers specified in section 3 of the Bill. It has been suggested to me since I have come to this Chamber that it would be simpler to move that in place of the word 'Magistrate,' wherever it occurs in the existing law, the words 'District Magistrate' should be inserted, and I myself think that that would be the simpler form of the amendment to be proposed. The Advocate-General, however, took exception to the use of the words 'District Magistrate' in the Bill as it was originally drafted on the ground that, in Act VI of 1870, the words 'Magistrate of the district' are used in the two or three cases in which they occur. It is a matter of no importance whether the words 'Magistrate of the district' or 'District Magistrate' are used, but as the Assistant Secretary points out that it will be more convenient for the purposes of drafting to use the words 'Magistrate of the district', I am quite willing that they should be used, as they mean the same thing. I have, therefore, also to move that in sections 9, sub-section (1), 11, 12, 14 and 15 of the Bill, after the word 'Magistrate', so often as it occurs, the words 'of the district' be inserted."

The HON'BLE BABU GONESH CHUNDER CHUNDER said:—"To make the law consistent, I move that the words 'and Magistrate' after 'panchayats' in section 64 of Act VI of 1870, be also omitted."

The HON'BLE MR. COTTON said:—"I concur with the HON'BLE BABU GONESH CHUNDER CHUNDER in the suggestion he has made. I omitted to bring it forward by oversight."

The HON'BLE THE PRESIDENT said:—"The motion before the Council is practically the amalgamation of motions 4 and 5 as they stand on the amendment list, to the effect that, where the word 'Magistrate' is used, it should be read as 'Magistrate of the district.' To this, the HON'BLE BABU GONESH CHUNDER CHUNDER has suggested the addition that, in section 64 of Act VI of 1870, the words 'and Magistrate', where they stood separately, should also be omitted. I shall therefore put the whole as an amalgamated motion."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The HON'BLE MR. ALLEN moved that, in the existing Act as intended to be amended by this Bill, and in the Bill as amended by the Select Committee, for the words "Magistrate of the district", wherever they occur, the words "District Magistrate" be substituted.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Woodroffe said:—"Having considered the matter, I will ask the permission of the President to put the following amended motion instead of the motion standing in my name in the list of business, namely, that in sub-section (9) of section 11, for the words 'any officer of police' the words 'Sub-Inspector of Police or other officer in charge of a police-station' be substituted."

The Hon'ble the President having given permission—

The Hon'ble Mr. Woodroffe said:—"Now that the word 'District Magistrate' in these clauses stands for 'Magistrate', there seems to be but little necessity in view of the powers of delegation which the District Magistrate possesses for any words after 'Magistrate'; but as this sub-section renders every chaukidar appointed under the provisions of this Act bound to supply local information not only to the District Magistrate, but to any officer of police, thus rendering the position of the chaukidar a very unpleasant and very troublesome one. I venture to submit that the object I have in view will be gained, and the law will be brought into conformity with what I understand to be the prevailing practice; by rendering the chaukidar liable to supply any local information to the District Magistrate, and to the Sub-Inspector of Police or other officer in charge of a police-station. The chaukidar is bound under the law to report himself at the thána, and under the proposed amendment to give any local information which may be required to the thanadar; but he will not be at the beck and call of every member of the police force, but only of the Sub-Inspector or other officer in charge of the station. I understand that, as a rule, a Sub-Inspector is in charge of every thána, but that there are some instances in which a head-constable is in charge, and therefore I have added the words 'or other officer in charge of a police-station.' The chaukidar will not be liable to be dragged hither and thither to answer enquiries by persons who ought not to be placed in a position to exercise authority over him: he will have to answer enquiries by the officer to whom he is under the existing practice bound to furnish information."

The Hon'ble Mr. Cotton said:—"It is far from pleasant to me to appear to be always in opposition to amendments proposed in this Bill by the learned Advocate-General. But I regret to say that, though I have given this amendment my most careful consideration, and though some of its most objectionable features have been removed by the alteration which, with the President's permission, has been made in the motion, still as the amendment stands, it is open to the strongest objection from an executive point of view. The law of 1870 requires the chaukidar to supply any local information which the Magistrate or any officer of police, or any other officer thereunto authorized by the Local Government, may require. When the Act of 1870 was passed, the addition of the words 'or any other officer thereunto authorized' did not appear. They were introduced by the amending Act of 1871, to enable irrigation officers to make calls on the chaukidars to supply local information. The Government has now allowed those words to drop out, as they were felt to be of no great practical importance. But it has been felt—I speak on behalf of all executive officers in this Province—to be extremely important that the chaukidar should be required to furnish information to any officer of police when called upon to do so. And I will illustrate my meaning by one or two examples. A police constable is entrusted with the execution of a warrant of arrest; he proceeds to the village where the accused resides, and the first thing he does is to call the chaukidar and say, point out the accused person to me: where does he live, where shall I find him? Under the law as it stands, the chaukidar is bound to give such information. Under the law as it will stand, if the Advocate-General's amendment is carried, the chaukidar may say, I am not bound to give you such information, you can find out for yourself. What a state of things! The constables of the regular police are the right-hand of the executive; they are the agents employed by the higher executive authorities, and they must obtain their information through the village chaukidars. It has often been said that the village chaukidar is the unit of administration in Bengal. As he now exists his position admits of very great improvement, and we trust that this Bill, as it is proposed to be passed, will result in somewhat improving his status. I do not expect that the result will be very great, but I hope it will certainly improve his status; and that a few years hence, by further legislation in the same direction, the object which has now been only sketched out in a very vague and tentative way, will be fulfilled. But taking the chaukidar as he now is, and always must be, the village police of the interior, he is the means by which the higher executive authorities obtain the information which is furnished to them through the executive police, and it is the police officer who enquires from the chaukidar whatever it may be necessary to ascertain.

"At the thána itself, where the chaukidar is required to do his hazree as it is called, that is to be present and report the events of the previous week within his village, the chaukidars attend in large numbers at a time; rules have been prescribed by the Government directing them to attend in large batches—it may be fifty or a hundred at a time. It is a difficult matter to take down the information which such a large body of men has to supply, and it can only be done by the officer in charge of the thána delegating to his subordinates the duty of making enquiries. It may be that when the chaukidar comes to do hazree, the officer in charge of the station is ten or twenty miles distant investigating a case. Often there is no one in charge of the thána to receive such information, and either the writer-constable or other constable possessed of intelligence above the average takes down the statements of the chaukidars; he fills up the register and does the work which in theory is done by the officer in charge of a police-station. Practically it is impossible for the officer in charge of the thána to take the examination of the chaukidars himself, to make all the enquiries necessary from the chaukidars who appear at the thána once a week.

"It is on considerations, such as these, that our predecessors enacted the provision in the law of 1870 that, the chaukidar should supply any local information which any officer of police may require. The reasons which existed twenty-two years ago are equally valid now, and I can assure the Council that it will be a most embarrassing step to cancel those words and to introduce in their stead the words 'officer in charge of a police-station.' One of the main objects of the present Bill is to link together more closely, than is now the case, the village police and the regular police of the country. The Bill takes a very small step in that direction. It will be left for future legislators in this Council Chamber to complete the measure which we have this day begun, and that it will be completed, I for one have no doubt. The amendment of the Advocate-General directly traverses this principle of the Bill. If carried, the effect will be to weaken the connection between the regular police and the chaukidar. Our object is to strengthen it. On these grounds, both of principle and because the amendment, if carried, will cause the greatest possible inconvenience in practical administration, I hope the Council will allow this section of the Bill, as it has been drafted and laid before you by the Select Committee, to stand."

The Hon'ble Mr. Lambert said:—"I am not satisfied, though I say so with much deference, that sufficient grounds have been shown to justify this amendment. Chaukidars, if not a component part of, are at least the auxiliaries of, the district police, and speaking for myself, as the head of a large police force, I should be extremely sorry to find the Legislature interfere and attempt to define the relations which should exist between the component parts of the force. By law, chaukidars are required to make reports to the officer in charge of a police-station, and it certainly seems to me that, if these reports are to be made for any practical purpose, it must be necessary for superior officers to depute their subordinates occasionally to the village to obtain further information in connection with the reports made at the thána; and so far as I am aware, it has never been alleged that, a policeman of any rank has at any time called upon a chaukidar for a report on matters not required by his official superiors or for official purposes. I may add, from what I know of policemen and chaukidars, that, so long as policemen are policemen, and chaukidars are chaukidars, this amendment, if it is passed, will certainly be a dead letter."

The Hon'ble Mr. Woodroffe in reply said:—"I confess I am not converted by the remarks which have fallen from the Hon'ble Mr. Cotton and the HON'BLE MR. LAMBERT. Both hon'ble members referred to enquiries being made by superior officers, Sub-Inspectors, or officers in charge of thánas, and to their delegating their subordinates to make enquiries. I look on such enquiries as enquiries made by the Sub-Inspectors or officers in charge of thánas. It is not my intention in any way to interfere with the making of such enquiries. It is only in reference to enquiries made independently by Police officers not being, in the position of Sub-Inspectors or officers in charge of a thána, that I wished to make provision."

The HON'BLE THE PRESIDENT said:—"In putting this motion, I wish to say that on the whole, it seems to me, from the point of view of the Executive Government, that the amendment which has been proposed might be somewhat injurious to the efficiency of the administration. I quite think with the Advocate-General that the words he proposes to introduce ought to be understood to include the cases which the HON'BLE MR. COTTON put, especially the very common and important case of a policeman being sent to execute a warrant, and requiring information from a chaukidar as to where the accused resides, or where he is to be found. Supposing the amendment to be carried, that the intention of the mover evidently is that it shall not interfere with such matters, and it ought not to interfere with such matters. But there is just the possibility of some lawyer or other technically-disposed person advising a chaukidar that he is not bound to give information, except to a Sub-Inspector or other officer in charge of a police-station, and if a single criminal escaped from justice by such a misunderstandig, it would be a great misfortune. Considering that we are not making any change, but are re-enacting the law as it stands, and that there is nothing in the Police Committee's report, or in the reports of the officers who have been consulted, to show that the section has worked ill, I must say that I hope the Council will allow it to remain unaltered."

The Motion was then put and negatived.

The HON'BLE MR. WOODROFFE also moved that the following words be inserted at the end of the proviso in section 11:—

'and that any police officer so employing any such chaukidar shall be punishable with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.'

He said:—"The Council will remember that at a previous meeting it was agreed by a considerable majority that this proviso should be inserted, Objection was made to it on the ground that there was no sanction attached. and it was suggested that, when the Council next assembled, I should put before the Council some clause which should contain that sanction. Accordingly I now propose to add these words to the proviso in section 11. I pointed out at the time that the provision in the Regulation from which this section was taken contained such a very severe penalty, namely, that of dismissal from service, that it had practically reduced the section to a dead letter, and it is in that view that the amendment now suggested has been framed on much more moderate lines.

"It has, however, been represented to me that the proviso, as it has been passed by the Council, contained words which might very seriously impede the executive authorities in respect of the employment of the chaukidar, and that mischief lay in the words 'or on any duties not by this Act made obligatory on such chaukidar.' I need hardly say that it was far from my intention and, as I believe, also far from the intention of those who voted with me, that those words should be taken to include such matters as, for instance, requiring the presence of chaukidars on the advent of the Lieutenant-Governor of these provinces, or of any other important executive authority coming to the station, or any matter of that kind. It was not intended that the chaukidar should be put in a position to say, it is no part of my duty to assist in making preparations for the reception of the Lieutenant-Governor at the station. I understood and do understand that those words were governed by the term 'any police officer', and that they were not intended to prevent the chaukidar from being employed on such purposes as I have indicated.

"And, further, it has been pointed out to me that the object I had in view in moving that proviso, and the amendment which the Council is now asked to be added to it, could or might more effectually be obtained by the action of the executive authorities brought to bear directly on police officers in the discharge of their duties to the chaukidar, and of the chaukidar in connection with their relations to police officers. If such orders can and will be made in such a manner as to secure the object, which I believe the Council had in view in passing this proviso, namely, that police officers should not use chaukidars in menial employments, I am prepared, with the President's permission, to withdraw not only this amendment, but to move the omission of the words 'or on any duties not by this Act made obligatory on such chaukidar, contained in the proviso."

"For my own part, I have much more faith in the written letter of the law than in circular orders—and for this reason, that circular orders depend entirely for their observance on the zeal of the executive officers in the performance of their duties, and on the assiduity with which those orders are constantly brought before them. If those orders are not efficiently carried out, if there are not strong hands to insist upon their being carried into effect, they are, we all know, liable to be relegated to entire obscurity.

"If, therefore, I am in order in making these observations in reference to the amendment I propose, I shall be prepared, with the President's permission, to withdraw the amendment I have proposed and the words to which I have referred in the proviso, if there can and will be given by the Government an undertaking, to pass such rules and orders as will secure the object which, I believe, the Council had in view in accepting the proviso to section 11."

THE HON'BLE THE PRESIDENT said:—"I think I had better intervene at this early stage, contrary to my usual practice, and state the views which the Government have on this subject. I sympathize so entirely with what the Advocate-General has said, and I appreciate so completely the motive which has induced him to bring it forward, that I should be very sorry if any impression is created that I am opposed to his views, or that I wish to do anything which would weaken the effect of the sentiments which he has expressed. On the other hand, I wish to make it as plain as possible that I entirely agree with him, and that the only difference between us is, that the way in which I propose to meet the case is likely to be better and more effective. The HON'BLE MR. WOODROFFE has said with great truth what the drawbacks are with regard to executive circular orders. It is true that they are often forgotten; and it is possible that they may be disobeyed. If the officer to whom the carrying out of a circular order is relegated is not vigorous in his desire to carry it out, and is not stirred up by inspecting officers, it is quite possible that it may be disobeyed and forgotten. But exactly the same thing takes place in regard to the law. We have here a crucial instance. The amendment which we are now debating is, the re-introduction of a passage from an old Regulation which has existed for nearly 80 years, and which has been practically forgotten and has not been carried out. So that, as regard the modus operandi, the matter in which you envelop your decision, it makes very little difference whether you proceed by introducing a section into a law or by issuing a circular order. But there is this difference that, when the Executive Government pledges itself on an occasion like this to see that what is required is carried out, something of the personal element comes in. There is a body of persons who have made themselves directly responsible to see that it is done, but if you merely put it into the law, it is nobody's duty in particular to see that the law is carried out. The law is, as a general rule, expected to be self-acting. A Government order is like a nail driven home by the strikes of every official concerned in carrying out the law, by those in authority over him and by the inspecting officers—the Inspector-General and the Deputy Inspectors—on their tours; and therefore you have more persons concerned in effecting the object you have in view, than if you put it into a section of the law and let it lie there.

"I wish to mention here that orders were issued which touch upon this subject some little time ago, as has been mentioned by the Chief Secretary. These orders have been slightly revised, and I have now a draft received from Mr. Henry, Inspector-General of Police. This was not done by him in communi cation with me, or in connection with the matter immediately before the Council; but of his own accord. One of the rules laid down is, that chaukidars are not to be taken away from their villages on miscellaneous or other work, except in special cases; and that anybody misusing them will be liable to summary dismissal. These instructions are sent to District Superintendents, who are directed to communicate them to all officers in charge of police-stations who are to publish them at the time of the weekly parades of chaukidars, of which we have all heard. The instruction, as it stands by itself, corresponds very much to the proposed amendment of the law, and is just as liable to be ineffective. But what I propose to do is, to issue orders that every District Superintendent of Police shall not only vigorously carry out the orders, but shall mention in his annual report what he has done in this direction, and shall write a special paragraph containing information regarding any instances he may find in which these rules have been neglected or traversed. The Inspector-General and his two Deputies will also receive instructions that, as they go round the Province (and as you know they visit every district in Bengal once a year), they themselves will give special attention to this point and mention it in their annual report; and this, when it is published, will be evidence to all concerned and to the public that, the Government is carrying out its pledge and giving due attention to the subject.

"I, therefore, venture to think that of the two measures, the one more likely to be direct and effectual in carrying out the views of the Council is the one I propose, and if the Advocate-General finds himself able to accept my assurance, and if you, gentlemen, agree to accept my pledge, I shall be glad to see it moved that, the proviso which was passed at the last Council meeting should be struck out, and the amendment standing in the HON'BLE MR. WOODROFFE'S name shall be allowed to be withdrawn."

The HON'BLE MR. ALLEN said:—"On the last occasion I apparently acquiesced in the statements read by the Advocate-General from the papers before us, as to the extent to which this practice of misemploying chaukidars, as it is called, prevails. I take this opportunity to say that I am perfectly satisfied these reports are grossly exaggerated, and that the employment of chaukidars at the thánas is by no means so oppressive, or so entirely in violation of the law, as some of these reports make out. They talk of menial duties; the cutting of grass, the thatching of huts and the working upon the Sub-Inspector's garden. But the Sub-Inspector has no garden: it is the little plot of garden attached to the thána, property of the Government. I do not find that any European Magistrate has made such reports. The hostility with which the police are regarded by certain classes is well known to all who see the native newspapers, and it has largely coloured these reports. I believe that chaukidars are employed by the police at the thánas, but the business can in no proper sense be called menial or the private business of the Sub-Inspectors. It is business connected with the thánas which the constables themselves perform. As to the chaukidars being used as hewers of wood and drawers of water for the police officers. what Sub-Inspector, Hindu or Mussulman, would drink water from the hands of a dosath or bowrie, or any of the other low castes to which the chaukidar belongs? It is absurd."

The HON'BLE MR. COTTON said:—"I have only one word to add. I need hardly say that the expression of opinion put forward by the President on this subject is one with which, if I may venture to say so, I entirely and thoroughly concur. But in regard to the form of the proviso in the Bill, which I trust, after this discussion, may be withdrawn, I wish to say that this Council should not, I think, allow itself to be identified with any section of the law, which declares that a public servant, such as a village watchman is, should not be employed 'on any duties not made obligatory upon him' under any particular Act. That is a most pestilent provision. A member of the village police is not different in status as regards his public duties from a member of the regular police, or, indeed, from any member of the public service. Whatever he may be told to do, that he must do; provided he is told to do it by competent authority. This is a rule I lay down for my own subordinates; and it is a rule I always carry out in my official capacity. Whatever orders I receive,

I obey: and whatever orders I give, I expect to be carried out. It seems to me that the Council was about to identify itself with a most pernicious provision of the law, and I am only too thankful that we are offered the present opportunity of receding from the great mistake which, at a very late hour of the debate at the last Council meeting, we inadvertently fell into."

The HON'BLE MR. WOODROFFE in reply said:—"May I be permitted to say that, had either of the two speeches which have just been addressed to the Council been made before I first spoke on this subject to-day, I should not have been prepared to go so far as I did. It raises the grave question, whether I should be justified in going to that length or not. This pestilent provision, this pernicious section, as it has been described by the last speaker, met with the approval of the majority of the Council. It is, I think, very undesirable that there should be introduced into this matter a disquisition as to the view with which the police are regarded by this particular section or that particular section of the community, whether with favour or with disfavour. Those who regard them with favour may err as much in excess in one direction, as those who dislike them may do in the opposite direction.

"I think, however, that what has fallen from the President, with respect to the orders proposed to be made, still leaves me free to do that which I suggested, namely, to let the Council decide whether this amendment should be withdrawn or not, and the proviso amended by removing the words 'or on any duties not by this Act made obligatory on such chaukidar.'"

The HON'BLE THE PRESIDENT said:—"I think no hon'ble member of Council will object to what the Advocate-General proposes to do, and I think that under the rules I have power to allow this proposal, to strike out those words at the end of the proviso, to be put to the Council."

The Proposal was put and agreed to.

The HON'BLE MR. WOODROFFE'S motion to add to the proviso to section 11 the words "and that any police officer so employing any such chaukidar shall be punishable with fine which may extend to fifty rupees" was, by leave, withdrawn.

The HON'BLE THE PRESIDENT then moved that the remainder of the proviso to section 11 be omitted from the Bill, on the understanding that the Executive Government undertakes to carry out the procedure which he had already described.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The HON'BLE MR. COTTON moved that the following section be inserted in the Bill after section 13:—

'In section 44, for the words as the Magistrate may appoint, the words as the Local Government may prescribe or direct, shall be substituted.'

He said:—"This is a purely verbal amendment. Section 43 of Act VI of 1870, as amended by Act I of 1886, stands thus:

'Every chaukidar shall receive quarter by quarter the full amount of his salary from such officer or person as the Magistrate shall appoint.'

"For the words 'as the Magistrate shall appoint', the Council has already agreed to the substitution of the words 'as the Local Government may by rules made under this Act prescribe or direct', and the present amendment is intended to bring the two sections of the law into consonance with one another."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Cotton said:—"I wish to ask the Advocate-General and the Council to agree to omit from section 15 of the Bill all the words after the words 'exercised by the Magistrate.' The power of delegation contained in the subsequent words 'or any Magistrate of the first class subordinate to him, or any Magistrate in charge of a sub-division or the District Superintendent of Police authorised by him in writing in that behalf' is now unnecessary. It is superfluous to give specific powers under this section, when full powers of delegation under any or all the sections of the Act have already been conferred upon the District Magistrate by section 3 of the Bill. There is no more occasion to give powers of delegation under section 15 than under any other section of the Act. I will therefore, with the permission of the President and the Council, move that in section 15 the words 'or any Magistrate of the first class subordinate to him, or any Magistrate in charge of a sub-division, or the District Superintendent of Police authorized by him in writing in that behalf' be omitted."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Woodroffe said:—"If I am not out of order, I wish to say that I am afraid my amendment on the proviso in section 11 has been misunderstood. What I moved was, only to strike out the words 'or on any duties not by this Act made obligatory on such chaukidar' at the end of the proviso. I did not move to strike out the whole of the proviso."

The Hon'ble the President said:—"I understood the Advocate-General to agree to the omission of those words at the end of the proviso, and I put it to the Council on my own motion that, the remaining portion of the proviso be also omitted, and I understood the Council to agree to that also."

The Hon'ble Mr. Risley said:—"Sub-section (2) of section 2 of the Bill, as it now stands, does not seem quite to accord with sub-section (1) of the same section. In connection with sub-section (1), there was a discussion as to the constitution of the panchayat, and whether a single person could be appointed to be a panchayat: and although sub-section (2) has been corrected in accordance with what the Council agreed to, the whole of the sub-section has not been redrafted on the same lines, but a portion of it has been drawn, so that one individual may be appointed to be a panchayat, a proposal which the Council has distinctly negatived. I therefore move that the following be substituted for sub-section (2) of section 2, in order to bring it into accordance with the first sub-section as it now stands in the Bill:—

'or (2) he may, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, direct that the adult male rate-paying residents of any village shall select, according to any rules that may be prescribed by the Local Government, and published in the Calcutta Gazette, not less than three nor more than five residents of the village to be the panchayat thereof, and the District Magistrate shall, if he approves of the persons so selected, appoint such persons to be the panchayat; but if, in his opinion, any person so selected is, for reasons to be recorded by him in writing, unfit to be appointed a member of the panchayat, the District Magistrate shall appoint a fit and proper resident to be a member of the panchayat.'

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Cotton said:—"It only remains for me to move, subject to the amendments which have been passed to-day, which will be very carefully examined by myself and the Assistant Secretary in order to see that they are completely in accordance with all the provisions of the Bill, that the Bill be now passed."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

BENGAL MUNICIPAL ACT, 1884, AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble Mr. Risley presented the Preliminary Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884.

ADJOURNMENT OF THE COUNCIL.

The HON'BLE THE PRESIDENT said:—"The business before the Council is finished for the present. The Council will now adjourn sine die, and will, I hope, re-assemble in the cold weather. Meanwhile I propose that the Municipal Bill, as it has been preliminarily amended by the Select Committee, shall be circulated, and opinions called for from local officers. And I hope that, when the Council meets again, the answers of those officers will have been received and laid before the Select Committee for consideration: and that in the course of the cold weather, we shall be able to pass both that Bill and the Fire-Brigade Bill, which are the only two measures at present before the Council."

The Council adjourned sine die.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT OF THE SANITARY COMMISSIONER, BENGAL, FOR THE YEAR 1891.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—SANITATION.

Darjeeling, the 9th September 1892.

ESOLUTION No. 2441S.

READ—

The Report of the Sanitary Commissioner, Bengal, for the year 1891.

This Report, which was due on the 1st May, was only received by Government on the 1st August. Dr. Gregg, who continues to hold charge of the office of Sanitary Commissioner, ascribes the delay in submitting the report to the difficulty experienced in obtaining from the Census Office statistics of detailed population according to the recent census, upon which the calculations in the report are based.

2. The registration of births was confined as before to Municipal towns, numbering 141 with an aggregate population of 2,716,424. The total number of births recorded was 58,317, giving a birth-rate of 21·46 per thousand as compared with 19·71 per thousand in 1890.* There can be no doubt, as was observed last year, that the rate returned is much below the actual rate. In last year's Resolution the Sanitary Commissioner's estimate placing the normal birth-rate for these provinces at something over 40 per thousand was accepted, and this opinion is borne out by the statistics of other provinces quoted by the Army Sanitary Commission in their Memorandum on the Provincial Sanitary Reports for 1889. The highest birth-rate there recorded is 40 per thousand for the Punjab; the Central Provinces show 39, and the North-Western Provinces and Bombay 36, while the Government of the latter Province express the belief that the true birth-rate of that part of India cannot be less than 45, which was the estimate adopted by the Famine Commission. On these general grounds and by reason of the occurrence of such widely divergent rates as 44·57 in one town (Kurseong) and 2 95 in another (Jhalakati), the reported birth-rate of 21·46 per thousand for the urban population subject to registration during 1891 may be put aside as manifestly absurd and impossible.

Births.

*Calculated on the population of 1891.

Out of the 141 municipalities, ten† only show a birth-rate over 35; 60 returning birth-rates varying from 34·85 to 22·08, and the rest varying from 21·54 to 2·95. The most notable instances of imperfect registration among towns of any size, with officers of high standing resident or close at hand, are South Suburban (7·69), Nadia (8·39), Barisál (8·91), and Nasirabad (10·47). On the other hand, the large number of prosecutions instituted in Burdwan (112), Chapra (60), and Midnapore (41), for neglecting to report births, shows that serious attention was directed to this subject in those municipalities.

3. The male births numbered 30,593, against 27,724 female births, the ratio being 110 male to every 100 female births Dr. Gregg is inclined to adopt the view expressed in last year's Resolution that this disparity is probably due rather to the omission to register the births of female infants than to more obscure causes affecting the relative number of births of each sex. The deficient record of female births is not confined to Bengal, but prevails more or less in other parts of India, as will be seen from the following figures reproduced from the Memorandum by the Army Sanitary Commission on the Provincial Sanitary Reports for 1889:—

4. After very careful consideration of the whole question, and after detailed inquiries in several municipalities the Lieutenant-Governor satisfied himself that the duty of collecting and recording vital statistics cannot properly be entrusted to municipalities in Bengal, and decided that nothing short of a complete change of system would lead to really satisfactory results. Municipalities have accordingly been relieved of the charges hitherto incurred under this head, and since the 1st of January 1892 the work of registration has been transferred to the town police. The registration of births which had hitherto been confined to municipalities has further been extended to all rural areas, and Sir Charles Elliott trusts that in future more accurate data will be obtained upon which the important calculations required for sanitary purposes may be based with some degree of confidence.

Deaths.

5. Unlike births, deaths were registered in rural areas as well as in towns. The total number of deaths registered during the year was 1,896,261, against 1,612,479 in 1890; the death-rate per thousand of population calculated on the Census figures of 1891 being 26·94 against 22·91. The actual death-rate during the year must have been much higher than the recorded results, especially when it is remembered that the year was exceptionally unhealthy. Compared with other provinces, the death-rate in Bengal was lower than in any province except Madras, as the following figures show :—

Bengal	26·94
Madras	26 2
Bombay	27·26
North-Western Provinces ...	31·14
Punjab	29·13
Central Provinces	35·54

In view of these results, there is but little to be said in addition to the remarks recorded in last year's Resolution on this subject. As in the case of birth registration, the recorded deaths vary very widely in different municipalities. While Malda and Chatra returned a death-rate of 93·82 and 61·94, respectively, the ratios for Kishoreganj, Lohardaga and Bajitpore were 9·86, 9·56, and 9·46. The same is the case with rural areas, where the variations range between 45·14 and 16·20 An examination of the table giving the ratio of mortality in urban and rural areas shows that 34 towns and eight rural tracts returned a death-rate of over 35, the maximum being 93·82 in the town of Malda, and 45·14 in the district of Nadia. These figures probably represent a close approximation to the truth. The Municipalities in which the work of registration appears to have been most neglected, are the South Suburban (14·67), Dinapore (14·47), Tangail (14·13), Santipur (13·56), Chakdah (13·22), Sonamukhi (12·92), Ranchi (12·60), North Dum-Dum (12·50), Sudharam (12·41), Madaripur (12·34), Kishoreganj (9·86), Lohardaga (9·56), and Bajitpur (9·46). The figures for Cantonments are no better than for Municipalities, in fact they are hardly so good. But as a complete change of system has been introduced from the beginning of the present year, it is hardly necessary to discuss the shortcomings of local authorities in this matter.

Infant mortality.

6. The mortuary statistics according to age give a mortality of 132·95 per thousand for infants under one year of age, and 37·11 for children between the ages of 1 and 5. There is reason to believe that these death-rates are much below the actual mortality. In Calcutta the respective death-rates are 392·64 and 61·02. The Calcutta figures, though appalling in themselves, are more in accord with the ratios prevailing in the other provinces of India in 1890, as will be seen from the following table:—

Provinces, &c.	Death-rate per 1,000 of population.
	Under 1 year.		1 year and under 5.
	Male.	Female.	Male.	Female.
North-West Provinces	348	316	72	68

Hydrabad	308	256	91	79
Bengal: 1891	147	119	39	34
Calcutta „	392		61

That the registration of infant mortality in the mufassal is very imperfect is admitted by the Sanitary Commissioner himself, and the Lieutenant-Governor is glad to be assured that, agreeably to the suggestion made in last year's Resolution, the superior inspecting officers of the Sanitation Department now make it their business to look into the details of registration whenever opportunity offers. This at present is the only way in which effective registration can be secured.

General health of the Province.

7. The general health of the Province is said to have been decidely worse in all districts, except Pabna, Backergunge, Noakhali, Tippera, Patna, Puri, and Lohardaga. It is remarkable that Patna, which lies within the area where scarcity prevailed, should have enjoyed better health than in 1890.

Cholera.

8. As usual the history of cholera in 1891 is illustrated in the report by diagrams and maps, showing its seasonal incidence in different parts of the Province, and its distribution in relation to the rainfall and the character of the soil. During the year 229,575 deaths from cholera were registered, showing the high death-rate of 3·26 per thousand of population. In 1890 the deaths from this cause numbered 145,885, and the death-rate was 2·07. In the five years 1886—90, the average was 2·02. Scanty rainfall in the latter part of the year and the great movement of population which took place during February in consequence of the Ardhodoya Jog, are mentioned as the chief causes of this widespread epidemic during the year. This festival depends on the combination of three astronomical conditions: the new moon between the months of Pús and Mágh must fall on a Sunday, the day must be the 17th in the series of 27 days called yogas or Jogs, and the moon that day must be in the Srawan Nakshatr, i.e., between 280° and 293° 20 of the Ecliptic. When these astronomical conditions coincide, which only happens once in 27 or 28 years, the sanctity of the day is ten million times as great as that of a sun eclipse. Regarding the havoc caused by this festival, which seems to have taken the official world to some extent by surprise, Dr. Gregg writes as follows:—

"The one in question took place on the 8th February 1891, the previous festival having taken place on the 7th February 1864. The religious advantages to be attained by bathing during this festival are said to be exceptionally great, and therefore the gathering of pilgrims at the several bathing places on the Ganges and its tributaries was on its own merits a very large one; but it was further increased in consequence of the belief that this was the last Jog that would be held on the banks of the Ganges, as some years hence the Ganges would lose its sacred character. Bengal was, therefore, much interested in the Jog, and Hindus from all parts of the province, especially from Eastern Bengal, flocked to the Ganges and its tributaries in swarms. Thousands for whom the railways even could not provide accommodation, and other thousands too poor to travel by rail, had to walk from their homes to the sacred bathing places and back again,—a matter, in the majority of cases, of several days' journey, during which they suffered many privations and hardships, and arrived at their destination in an exhausted condition, to suffer more privation and hardships among the enormous crowds of people assembled there. It will easily be imagined that the soil, atmosphere and water-supply of each place of pilgrimage very soon became polluted, and that a combination of these circumstances told unfavourably on the health of the people assembled, especially upon those whose systems had been previously lowered by a long and fatiguing journey and deficient and bad food, and rendered them more liable to cholera, which they distributed in all directions on their return journey, principally by polluting with the germs of the disease the water-supply of the places at which they halted en route. In this way cholera was introduced or spread in most of the localities through which the pilgrims passed on their return journey, and the disease, finding a soil rendered congenial by scanty rainfall and an impure water-supply, increased rapidly."

The cholera outbreak of the year was the worst on record except that of 1876, which was a year of extraordinary mortality. The disease was present more or less in every district of the Province, but the districts which suffered most were Purnea, Jalpaiguri, Rangpur, Nadia, and Shahabad, where the recorded death-rates stood at 11·08, 9·93, 9·36, 8·85, and 6·95, respectively. In all these districts except Shahabad, for the outbreak in which no definite cause is assigned, the Ardhodoya Jog is closely associated with the introduction of the epidemic. The inadequacy of sanitary precautions at fairs and festivals, where large numbers of visitors congregate, is admittedly a fertile cause of the dissemination of cholera, and the Sanitary Commissioner has lately submitted a set of rules and precautions to be observed at these gatherings. The matter is now engaging the attention of Government.

9. The total number of deaths from small-pox during the year was 16,193, against 12,619 in 1890, representing a ratio of ·23 per thousand of population against ·17. This was the highest mortality from small-pox since the year 1884. The ratio was higher in towns than in rural areas. The districts which suffered most were Cuttack, Midnapore, Puri, and Lohardaga, and in Dr. Gregg's opinion this outbreak would not have been so severe if the Superintendents of Vaccination had been more alive to the insufficiency of the vaccinating establishments in those districts. In Midnapore for instance, with a population of about 33,000 people, only one vaccinator was entertained. As regards towns, Dr. Gregg writes:—

Small-pox.

"The usual excuse is offered in most cases, viz., that the disease was introduced from without, and did not originate in the towns themselves; but as I pointed out in last year's report, this does not exonerate the local authorities from blame, because, if their towns had been thoroughly protected by vaccination, small-pox, when imported, would not have created much havoc, and could easily have been stamped out. * * With regard to Chittagong and Cox's Bazar, a special report was submitted to Government at the time of the outbreak, which originated in some cases imported from Cox's Bazar, in the Chittagong Hill Tracts, which was not under the supervision of this Department, where the Compulsory Vaccination Act is not in force, and where inoculation is largely practised, as, indeed, it is also in Chittagong itself, where opposition to vaccination is also very strong." In the case of Chittagong, Dr. Gregg has omitted to mention the important fact that the lymph supplied from the Animal Vaccination Depôt in Calcutta was so bad that a great proportion of the people attacked, although recently vaccinated, derived little or no benefit from the operation. Inquiry showed that no less than 60, 39, and 31 per cent., respectively, of those vaccinated in 1887-88, 1888-89, and 1889-90 were attacked, and of the attacked 3, 5·2, and 7·4 per cent. died.

10. The total number of deaths from fever was 1,333,395, representing a death-rate of 18·94 per thousand of the population. The mortality during the year under review was even higher than in 1890, when the death-ratio (16·42) exceeded that of any previous year since registration was introduced. The diagram furnished at page 36 of the Report shows that there has been a steady increase in the mortality from this cause. In the years 1874 to 1876, the death-rate varied from 5 to 9 per thousand, and in 1877 to 1880 from 11 to 12. From 1881 to 1886, it ranged between 13 and 15, and from 1887 to 1889 it remained pretty steady at 16, the maximum being attained at nearly 19 in 1891. It may be that the increase is in some measure due to better registration, but the Sanitary Commissioner ascribes it chiefly to malarial poison arising from obstructed drainage, polluted water-supply, and neglected conservancy arrangements. The question of initiating improvements in these matters in Bengal has for some time past engaged the Lieutenant-Governor's attention, and a conference, to which a number of gentlemen of experience in district and municipal administration were invited, was held at Belvedere on the 18th July 1892 to consider what legislative action should be taken in order to promote the improvement of water-supply and drainage in towns and rural tracts in Bengal. The proceedings of this conference have been separately published, and steps are now being taken to give effect to the resolutions passed.

Fever.

In 1891 the death-rate from fever was highest in the 16 districts noted in the margin, and the cause in almost all the districts is attributed to deficient rainfall. The explanation seems curious at first sight, when it is remembered that the high rate of mortality from fever in 1890 was said to have been induced by excessive rainfall. Dr. Gregg's explanation, however, is "that in the present defective drainage, and consequently water-logged condition of Bengal, there is not sufficient exit in years of heavy rainfall for the excess water which stagnates in the soil, and it is well known that stagnant moisture is a cause of malarial fevers. On the other hand, in years of deficient rainfall, such as the year under report, in consequence of the failure of rivers to inundate areas in the interior of the country, the drinking water sources of the larger proportion of the population are not replenished, and tank and other vegetation begins early to decompose and fill the air with poisonous effluvia." Regarding the high fever mortality in the Jalpaiguri and Darjeeling Terai, the Lieutenant-Governor would wish the facts to be clearly brought out in future reports; the death-ratios should be given by circles, and an account should be furnished of the mortality in the tea gardens.

Sanitation in Municipalities.

11. The total expenditure incurred by municipalities for sanitary purposes is shown in the following table :—

Head of expenditure.	Total expenditure.		Difference in 1891.
	1891.	1890.	Increase.	Decrease.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
On conservancy, including latrine	3,46,410	3,28,199	18,211	.....

Other sanitary works	1,51,694	1,60,412	.....	8,718
Total ...	13,37,569	13,41,090	.....	3,521

The figures show that while there was some increase of expenditure under conservancy and drainage, there was a marked decrease under water-supply. Several large schemes are, however, now under consideration, and it seems likely that the provisions inserted in the Municipal Bill now under consideration will give a great stimulus to Municipal administration in this respect. Appendix III, which contains a great admixture of small and big works, is a summary of sanitary works carried out by municipalities as well as by District Boards or Local Boards and private individuals. The Lieutenant-Governor would like the report to contain a brief account of what was done during the year towards carrying out an improved water-supply or drainage scheme. Among works of this description carried out in towns, the most important appearing in the list are the drainage works at Serampore, the acquisition of land for night-soil trenching ground at Manicktolla, the construction of a drain at Rampur Boalia, the construction of water-works at Nasirabad, the survey of the Patna town for drainage purposes, and the improvement of drainage in Puri.

Rural Sanitation.

12. In the same Appendix details are given of what was done by District Boards and private individuals in the way of rural sanitation. Rs. 49,217 were expended by the Boards in sinking wells, excavating tanks and improving drainage channels, while the total amount spent on these objects by private individuals was Rs. 1,51,046.

The Sanitary Board.

13. The Sanitary Board held five formal meetings during the year besides transacting much business in an informal way. The Howrah water-supply scheme continued to engage their attention. Various schemes have from time to time been prepared for supplying Howrah with good drinking water, but they have for one cause or other been set aside. The latest project, now under the consideration of the Municipal Commissioners, provides for a supply to be drawn from the river Hooghly with an intake at Ichapur, 12 miles above the floating bridge. The Board had before them schemes for draining Jalpaiguri and Puri, as well as for improving the water-supply at Burdwan. A survey of the towns of Jamalpur and Pabna was also completed, and the work of preparing drainage projects was undertaken. The Board lately brought to the notice of Government the delay on the part of the Serampore Municipality in carrying out their drainage scheme. The local officers have been asked to point out to the Municipality that it is their duty to see that a plan for which they had taken a loan from Government is pushed on with all reasonable vigour, and have received instructions to report any further undue delay which may occur. As an encouragement to municipalities to take up drainage surveys, the Government lately purchased some survey instruments which are lent to municipalities,—a fee being charged for their use. The result of the experiment has proved satisfactory, the instruments having been in constant use since their purchase, and in consequence of the great demand, it is in contemplation to provide a larger supply.

14. The number of municipalities inspected by the Sanitary Commissioner is the same (48) as in the previous year, but the period during which he as well as the Deputy Superintendents under him were on tour has not been stated. This should be mentioned in future reports. Doctor Gregg's inspection reports written on fourteen of these municipalities are of interest, and contain many practical suggestions. Besides these, he submitted special reports regarding the outbreaks of cholera and small-pox in parts of the Province, the water-supply of the Pabna Municipality, the latrine, drain, and conservancy system of Darjeeling, and the reorganization of the Vaccination Department. The amount of inspection work done by the Deputy Sanitary Commissioners and the Deputy Superintendents is shown in the tabular statement given at paragraph 73. As the report itself is prepared for the calendar year, the figures given in this statement should have been for 1891, and not for the official year 1891-92. With a few notable exceptions, the inspection work of these subordinate officers compares favourably with the preceding year.

15. To Dr. Gregg the thanks of the Bengal Government are due for his efficient and zealous administration of his Department during the year. The Lieutenant-Governor has also noticed with pleasure the names of those officers whom Dr. Gregg has mentioned in paragraph 74 of the report as deserving of special commendation.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. H. RISLEY,

Secy. to the Government of Bengal.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL, MARINE DEPARTMENT.

No. 76Mne., dated Calcutta, the 10th September 1892.

THE following report of the 20th quarterly inspection of the Dock Works at Kidderpore which are being carried out by the Commissioners of the Port of Calcutta, is published for general information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. W. ODLING,

Joint-Secretary.

QUARTERLY INSPECTION OF KIDDERPORE DOCK WORKS.

Dated Calcutta, the 6th September 1892.

From—LIEUT.-COL. A. D. MCARTHUR, R.E., AND J. D. DAVIES, ESQ.,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

WE have the honour to report that an inspection of the Kidderpore Dock Works, for the quarter ending 30th June 1892, was made by us on the 1st instant.

As stated in our report for the quarter ending 31st March, all the main works connected with the scheme are completed, and, with the exception of the Graving Dock noted on below, it is unnecessary to make any further allusion to them in this report.

Works generally.

The work during the quarter was chiefly confined to the construction of the five sheds on the east side of the Dock, which have been completed with the exception of a portion of the stone flooring. The construction of three sheds to complete the total number estimated has been held in abeyance. The metalling of the spaces between the sheds and on the quay on the east side of the Dock shows good progress, and a double line of rails has been laid along the front.

Dredging operations for the excavation of the berm left along the walls have been continued and fair progress made, taking into account the available dredging power.

On the date of our inspection, four large steamers were berthed on the west of the Dock, with every facility for rapid discharge and loading up of cargo, the arrangements in cranes, &c., working perfectly smoothly.

Graving Dock.

A leak having taken place in the sill of the Graving Dock, special instructions were issued in Bengal Government, Marine No. 1742, dated 27th June, for inspections during the course of the repairs and after completion. These inspections were duly carried out. The true cause of the leak was ascertained to be due to a defective horizontal joint in the masonry, the water under heavy pressure finding its way through this joint and beneath the sill stones. The measures taken to repair the defect by the Port Engineer were completely effectual and consisted of cutting a trench in the masonry above and below the sill to the level of the defective joint, and reconstructing the masonry with a vertical as well as horizontal band, the sill stones at the same time being grouted up with cement. The Dock on the date of our inspection was perfectly staunch and ready for use.

It may be stated that the accident was in no way due to the subsidence of the foundations, and was quite unconnected with any of the causes which led to the failure of the walls of the main dock to which we have heard that it has been attributed.

The work of dismantling the masonry owing to its splendid quality was a matter of great difficulty, and a tedious operation. The brickwork refusing to come away, except in small pieces of brick and mortar combined.

Expenditure.

The total expenditure up to the end of the quarter under report is stated to be Rs. 2,66,46,682, of which Rs. 2,40,61,109 represent outlay on works, and Rs. 25,85,572 on account of land.

Health.

The daily average of workpeople employed was 2,393, among whom there were 11 deaths during the quarter, showing a rate of 18·39 per mille per annum.

Remarks.

The Dock is ready for the reception of a number of vessels, and, considering the facilities afforded, it will doubtless be extensively used.

We consider the progress on the works in hand during the quarter was satisfactory, and that, so far as we could judge, the quality of the work was all that could be desired.

LIBERALITY OF HIS HIGHNESS THE MAHARAJA OF HILL TIPPERA.

No. 339P.D., dated Darjeeling, the 9th September 1892.

From—H. J. S. COTTON, ESQ., C S.I., Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal,
To—The Commissioner of the Chittagong Division.

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your memorandum No. 309T., dated the 17th ultimo, with its annexures, reporting that His Highness the Maharaja of Hill Tippera had offered the donations and endowments noted on the margin, to be expended on purposes of public utility in commemoration of the Lieutenant-Governor's visit to the town of Comilla.

Rupees 1,500 for the endowment of five annual scholarships of Rs. 5 per mensem, the holders to learn practical carpentry and iron-work at Comilla.
Rupees 1,700 for the construction of a workshop in connection with the above scholarships.
Rupees 1,800 to provide for an addition of Rs. 30 per mensem for five years to the salary of the Lady Doctor at Comilla.

2. In reply, I am directed to say that His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor has much pleasure in accepting the gifts in question for the proposed objects, and highly appreciates His Highness' liberality and public spirit.

No. 309T., dated Daudkandi, the 17th August 1892.

Memo. by—The Commissioner of Chittagong.

COPY, with copy of the enclosure, submitted to the Chief Secretary to the Government of Bengal, for the information and orders of His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

No. 149P., dated Comilla, the 9th August 1892.

From—E. GEAKE, ESQ., Offg. Political Agent, Hill Tippera,
To—The Commissioner of the Chittagong Division.

I HAVE the honour to enclose a copy of a letter No. 128, dated 3rd current, from the Maharaja of Hill Tippera, offering donations amounting to Rs. 1,500 for the establishment of some permanent memorials of His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor's first visit to the town of Comilla.

2. The purposes for which the donations are offered seem to be useful, and are such that I think his generous offer should be accepted.

No. 128, dated Agartala, the 3rd August 1892.

From—The Secretary to His Highness the Maharaja Bahadur of Tippera,
To—The Offg. Political Agent, Tippera.

HIS HIGHNESS the Maharaja Bahadur wishes to arrange for some permanent memorial of His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor's approaching visit to Comilla, and has had the pleasure of discussing the matter with you at your recent visit to Agartala.

He is of opinion that you agreed with him that such memorial should be of a practically useful nature, and should aid in those schemes of benevolence which are known to be approved and supported by Sir Charles Elliott.

He would wish to establish five annual scholarships for Tippera boys of the value of Rs. 5 each, the holders to learn practical carpentry and iron-work at Comilla. The annual cost of this would be $5 \times 12 \times 5 = 300$. Probably a two years' course would be required. On the other hand, after the first year, probably five youths would not present themselves. At present he would confine the experiment to five years and the cost would be Rs. 1,500.

Again, he would like to provide a building with corrugated iron roof for the purposes of the workshop. A suitable erection, such as used for railway fitting shops, would, it is believed, cost about Rs. 1,700.

A third matter seems to him urgent: it is believed that the funds for the payment of the Lady Doctor at Comilla are inadequate, the present salary being only Rs. 60 per month, and the private practice small. His Highness would like to offer Rs. 30 per month additional salary for five years, in the hopes that during that time the residents of Comilla would learn to appreciate European science and medicine as he does himself, and would then be independent of such support. The cost of this would be $30 \times 12 \times 5 = 1,800$.

These schemes are, His Highness hopes, such as would commend themselves to Sir Charles Elliott, but he is quite willing to be guided by your opinion in any other direction.

He is anxious only that the money should be spent in matters of utility, and any buildings should not be so much of an ornamental or monumental type as designed to advance the teaching of practical science.

His Highness also wishes to subscribe Rs. 600 towards the cost of illuminations in honour of the Lieutenant-Governor's visit.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

o, overcast; g, gloomy; d, drizzling rain; p, passing temporary showers; t, thunder; ≺, lightning; ≏, dew.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE MONTH OF AUGUST 1892.

THE general meteorological conditions obtaining in the previous month of July were fairly normal, and taking the rainfall of Bengal as a whole, it was in slight excess of the usual amount, the general falls when compared with the normal working out to an excess of 4 per cent. In the report for that month also, attention was strongly directed to the tendency of the rainfall to concentrate itself towards the north of the province at the expense of the south-western and southern districts, and thus, while North Bengal had received a fall 68 per cent. larger than usual, the divisions of Orissa, South-West Bengal and East Bengal received defective falls, varying from 17 to 11 per cent This same feature has characterised the weather of August. The general monsoon current blowing over the province has apparently been quite equal to the normal strength, and taking the rainfall of Bengal as a whole, it has been found to equal rather more than 99 per cent. of the fall in normal years. The tendency of the heavy rainfall to concentrate itself towards the north of the province has, however, been very much more strongly pronounced even than in July, and thus while Bihár and North Bengal have received falls of from 40 to 50 per cent. more than usual in August, the falls over the southern half of the province have been about 30 to 40 per cent. in defect. The general conditions of August have hence been to a great extent similar to those of July, only that the irregularities are much more strongly developed.

Almost at the close of July a feeble depression had formed in the north-west angle of the Bay and had passed inland over Orissa, advancing in a north westerly direction, and had then filled up. Hence on the 1st of August, owing to the indraught caused by the depression, a fairly strong monsoon current was flowing from the Bay of Bengal over Bengal, and general rain was falling over almost the whole province. These strongly developed monsoon conditions, however, only continued for a few days, and pressure rose steadily until the 6th of the month, when it became in excess of the normal in all districts, the excess ranging up to a seventh of an inch in the east of the province. Hence conditions became more unfavourable than they had been for the advance of the monsoon current, and from about the 7th a partial break in the rains set in over Orissa, South-West Bengal, and Chota Nagpur, and also over parts of East Bengal and South Bihár, but in the latter cases the break was not at all pronounced. In the first three divisions the break continued very pronounced for several days, though the rainfall over the north of the province continued rather heavy even while the south-western districts were almost rainless. The unfavourable pressure conditions continued strongly developed for practically the whole of the second week of August, and even up till the 18th, though the area of maximum excess pressure drifted from the east into the central and western parts of the province. Hence in the second week of August the rainfall in Orissa and South-West Bengal averaged less than an inch, while in Chota Nagpur it amounted to only slightly more than an inch. Rainfall was also light in East Bengal, but it continued heavy and in excess of the normal in Bihár and North Bengal. On the 14th of August rainfall became rather more general for a single day, but from the 15th up to the 20th the break in the rains again set in, and extended at this time over practically the whole province except in the parts of North Bengal near the hills.

From the 18th, however, the unfavourable pressure conditions began to disappear, and pressure fell rapidily on this date and more slowly on the 19th, 20th and 21st, when pressure became in slight defect of the normal. For the next three days pressure generally rose, and on the 25th and 26th a further fall set in, though on the 27th a rise again occurred, and on this date the pressure distribution was fairly normal. From about the 20th to the 27th, therefore, conditions were rather more favourable for the advance of the monsoon winds than in the previous ten days, and good general rain was received in most districts, except Chota Nagpur and parts of the Bankura, Burdwan, and Birbhum districts, which were to a great extent rainless duing this period. The break in the rains also continued in South Bihár up to the 23rd, but after this good general rain recommenced in this district.

The changes of meteorological conditions during the last few days of August were rather larger than they had been previously, and they resulted in the formation of a very feeble barometic depression which was indeed the first and only depression which occurred during the month.

On the 28th pressure had risen slowly at a few of the stations in the north and west of the province, but elsewhere there was a fall, and pressure was slightly in excess of the normal along the foot of the hills and below it elsewhere, the defect at the eastern stations equalling about a twentieth of an inch. In the centre and the south of the Bay the monsoon current was blowing rather strongly, but at the head of the Bay the current was light to moderate in strength only. The distribution of pressure over the Bay on the 28th also was a little abnormal, for the lowest pressures were reported from Vizagapatam and Coconada instead of from the head of the Bay as usual at this season of the year. On the 29th the low pressure off the mid-west coast of the Bay had developed, for pressure had fallen over that area, while it was rising at the eastern and southern stations, and a distinct but rather feeble barometric depression was formed on this day with a centre to the east or south-east of Gopalpore. This depression was also accompanied by a very complete cyclonic circulation of winds, though the wind velocities were very moderate. With the formation of this depression the rainfall-bearing current was immediately deflected towards it, and even on the morning of the 29th the rainfall reported in the south-west of Bengal had become very light and local, though the falls were still fairly general in other districts. On the 30th the centre of the depression was a little further north, and was probably near Puri, but the small storm had not intensified to any extent and it was still feeble. On this day the indraught towards the depression caused a distinct break in the rains in Bengal, and in all districts, except Orissa, rainfall was confined to a few local showers, but in Orissa, which was under the influence of the depression, general rain was received. During the evening of the 30th the feeble depression moved inland over Orissa, travelling in a west-north-westerly direction, and on the morning of the 31st its centre was near Sambalpur. With the inland advance of the feeble storm the monsoon current again began to sweep over Bengal, and on the 31st rain was fairly generally reported except in Bihár and Chota Nagpur, the heaviest falls being received in the south-western districts, and particularly in Orissa. The small storm afterwards continued its inland advance, and on 1st September it was near Sutna, but its subsequent history does not belong to the meteorology of August.

It will thus be seen that conditions for the greater part of August have been unfavourable for rainfall in the western, south-western, southern and central districts, though on the north of the province exceptionally heavy falls have been received.

Pressure.—For a considerable part of August, it will be seen, pressure over Bengal has been in very considerable excess of the normal. Hence the mean pressure has been in excess also, and this appears to have exerted a decidedly unfavourable influence in the distribution of the rainfall. The following figures represent the average excess pressure for the month in each of the large divisions treated of:—

Orissa	0·052″	North Bihár ...	0·045″
South-West Bengal ...	0·057″	South Bihár ...	0·037″
North Bengal ...	0 059″	Chota Nagpur ...	3·039″
East Bengal ...	0·054″	Assam	0·031″

It will thus be seen that the divisions in the north-east and north west of Bengal and Assam have recorded relatively small excess amounts (i.e., relatively low pressures) during the month, while all the districts to the south and south-west show relatively high pressures, and these facts in a rough way correspond with the distribution of the rainfall which has been relatively light in the southern and south-western districts and heavy in the north of the province.

Temperature.—The variations of temperature during the month have been of little importance, and they have to a great extent followed the variation in the heaviness of the rainfall. The mean temperatures of North Bengal and of North and South Bihár, which have received rather excessive rain, have been from half to one degree in defect of the normal for the period. The mean temperatures in East Bengal, Orissa, and South-West Bengal have been practically normal, but, on the other hand, Chota Nagpur shows an excess of nearly a degree. For the whole of Bengal, therefore, the mean temperature for the month has been in defect of the normal by the very small amount of between one and two-tenths of a degree.

In Assam, on the other hand, a defect of 1·2° has been registered.

Rainfall.—During August the exceptionally heavy rainfall of nearly twenty inches has been received in North Bengal and North Bihár. South Bihár has received the next largest fall of 13·54 inches, and East Bengal 10·53 inches. In Chota Nagpur the falls have averaged only nine inches, while in Orissa and South-West Bengal the comparatively small falls of between seven and eight inches have been received. In North Bihár the actual fall is 8·20 inches more than usual, in North Bengal 6·42 inches more, and in South Bihar 2·09 inches more. All the other districts have shown defective falls, the defects in Orissa and Chota Nagpur being between three and five inches, and in South-West and East Bengal between five and six inches It will, however, be seen that these variations are of almost exactly opposite nature, and when the actual average rainfall over the whole of Bengal is compared with the normal fall for August, it is found to equal rather more than 99 per cent. of the usual amount.

The comparison of the actual rainfall in the various large divisions of the province with the normal is most accurately and conveniently shown in the form of a percentage. The figures representing the rainfall for the month, calculated in this way, are included in the table below under the heading of August. This table really gives a condensed summary of the rainfall statistics of the present year up to date for each meteorological division, the first eight divisions giving the actual average rainfalls in each division in each month expressed as a percentage of the normal, while the ninth column gives the total rainfall for the first eight months expressed as a percentage of the normal rainfall for that period:—

Meteorological Divisions.	January.	February.	March.	April.	May.	June.	July	August.	Actual rainfall of first eight months of 1892 expressed as a percentage of the normal fall for the period.
Orissa	Nil	26	2	31	50	132	83	70	81
South-West Bengal ...	Nil	26	4	99	89	84	89	58	74
North Bengal	Nil	67	118	140	149	75	168	148	130
East Bengal	Nil	69	34	166	120	79	86	66	86
North Bihár	2	116	50	114	72	109	106	171	122
South Bihár	11	170	15	93	36	79	99	118	95
Chota Nagpur	Nil	194	2	23	53	111	96	66	83

The defect in the rainfall of South-West Bengal, it will be seen, has equalled no less than 42 per cent. of the usual amount, while defects of 30 to 34 per cent. are recorded in Orissa, East Bengal, and Chota Nagpur. On the other hand, there is an excess of 18 per cent. in South Bihár, one of 46 per cent. in North Bengal, and one of 71 per cent. in North Bihár.

For the whole year up to the end of August, it will be seen, South-West Bengal has shown defective rainfall, and the total fall is 26 per cent. in defect. In the districts of Orissa, East Bengal, and Chota Nagpur, the falls for the year have been from 15 to 20 per cent. in defect, but in all other divisions the falls have been rather heavy.

The actual falls have been extremely heavy in the north-east of the province, and decidedly heavy in the north of the province, while the smallest falls have been received in many cases in the west of Bengal. Thus falls exceeding 50 inches during August have been received at Buxa (Darjeeling district) and Fallacotta (Jalpaiguri district), and of about 40 inches at Jalpaiguri, Alipur Duar (Jalpaiguri district), Mikliganj and Kuch Bihar; while, on the other hand, falls of about 3 inches only are reported at Baripada, Ghatál, Mohesreka, Jahánabad, Krishnagar, Burdwan, Bankura, Azimganj, Ramchandrapur, Daudkandi, Purulia, and Jhalda.

Compared with the normal, the whole of the northern half of the province shews excess rainfall, and the southern half defective falls; the line of normal rainfall running from Tippera in the east, in an almost due east and west direction, to Gaya and Bhabuah. In the northern area a large tract shows a fall of more than ten inches in excess, and almost the whole of it is more than five inches in excess, while parts of the Kuch Bihar and Purnea districts show an excess of more than twenty inches. On the other hand, the greater part of the southern half of the province shows a defect of more than five inches, and parts of South-East Bengal, South-West Bengal, and Chota Nagpur of more than ten inches. Indeed, defects from the normal of more than eleven inches have been recorded at Ghatál, Jehanabad, Chittagong, Fenny, and Chandpur.

Compared with the normal fall the following districts show exceedingly large defects in the rainfall of August: Midnapore, Howrah, Hooghly, Burdwan, Bankura, Nadia, Chittagong, Tippera, Singhbhum, and Manbhum.

The following table gives full data for the comparison of the actual and normal rainfall of the month of August in all districts of the province. The figures are derived from the average and actual rainfall of the rain-recording stations in each district, due allowance or weight being made for the area which each station represents. This gives a more accurate average than the arithmetical means given in the weekly and monthly meteorological tables. The first column gives the normal or average district rainfall as determined from the rainfall observations of the past 15 years; the second column gives the actual district rainfall as determined from the weighted actual rainfalls of the month at the reporting stations in each district; the third column expresses the ratio of the actual district rainfall of the past month to the normal rainfall as a percentage; the fourth column states as a percentage how much the district rainfall of the month varied from the normal:—

Explanation.—... indicates that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0.1 inch of rain has fallen.

CALCUTTA, the 13th September 1892.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M., SATURDAY, THE 10TH OF SEPTEMBER 1892.

At the close of the previous week a small barometric depression had formed in the north-west angle of the Bay, and had then advanced rapidly in a west-north-westerly direction and on Saturday, the 3rd, the centre was well inland over the Central Provinces. In the rear of the small and feeble storm a heavy wave of south-easterly monsoon winds commenced to advance over the southern and south-western districts of the province, giving general and rather heavy rain for the first two days of the week in South-West and East Bengal and Chota Nagpur, and also to a certain extent in North Bengal, but the falls in Bihár and Orissa were generally rather local, and in most cases light on these days. On the 5th the strong easterly element in the wind directions decreased in force, and on the 6th it had practically disappeared over the western half of the province, and south-westerly, westerly, and in some cases north-westerly winds appeared over a large part of the province. Hence rainfall began to decrease in amount, and from the 6th to the 9th rainfall was to a great extent absent in South-West, North, and East Bengal, and in North Bihár, though in South Bihár, Chota Nagpur, and Orissa rather heavy rain was received on the 6th and 7th, and on the 8th also in Orissa, due perhaps to the interaction between the two opposing systems of winds.

On the 7th the westerly and north-westerly winds which were blowing over the western half of the province became more strongly developed, and at many stations in South-West Bengal, winds were due north, while south-easterly and easterly winds were blowing in South-East Bengal. Pressure had also fallen rapidly on the 6th, the fall being largest in South and South-East Bengal, and along the Arakan coast, and this fall continued on the 7th, the fall again being largest in the north-east angle of the Bay, where it almost amounted to a tenth of an inch, and pressure in the north and north-east of the Bay became a sixth of an inch in defect. It was hence evident that a barometic depression accompanied by a cyclonic circulation of winds had formed in the north of the Bay on this date, and the mail steamer to Rangoon passed through the depression and its accompanying cyclonic circulation on the 7th, experiencing strong winds, very unsettled weather and rough sea. On the 8th the depression had moved slowly in a westerly direction, and its centre was probably a considerable distance to the south-east of Saugor Island. Pressure had fallen moderately on this day in the north-west angle of the Bay, and the cyclonic circulation had become very perfect, and it affected the wind directions over practically the whole province, so that it was evident the depression was increasing slowly in intensity. On the 9th a further rapid fall of pressure took place in the north-west angle of the Bay, the fall at some stations exceeding a tenth of an inch, and pressure became below the normal at False Point by no less than 0·287 inch The centre of the small storm was on this date a short distance to the east-south-east of False Point, and the cyclonic circulation of winds accompanying the very well defined storm governed the wind systems over the greater part of India, showing what an influential storm it was. The centre of the small storm then passed inland during the evening of the 9th, a little to the south of False Point, the decidedly low pressure of 29·277 inches being recorded at Puri, and on the morning of the 10th the centre was between Cuttack and Sambalpur, and it was still surrounded by decidedly steep baric gradients. In connection with the small storm very strong winds were reported, principally to the south-east and south of it, and probably rather heavy weather prevailed in the north of the Bay from the 7th or 8th to the 11th, both days inclusive.

Rainfall as usual continued rather light over the greater part of the province during the formation of the small storm. It was, however, a storm of wide influence, though near the centre it was of very slight intensity, and when it advanced into the north-west angle of the Bay, it commenced to give general rain in Orissa, Chota Nagpur, and South-West Bengal and over parts of East and North Bengal, though Bihár to a great extent remained rainless. The humid current was, however, advancing steadily over the province, and hence conditions had again become more favourable for rainfall at the close of the week.

It will thus be seen that the conditions during the week have been favourable for giving good general rain to the western and south-western districts, and hence Chota Nagpur, South Bihár, South-West Bengal, and Orissa have received better and more equally distributed rain than has occurred for some time. On the other hand, the conditions have been unfavourable for rainfall in the north, and to smaller extent in the east of the province, and hence North Bengal and North Bihár have received very small falls, and East Bengal a very moderate fall, during the week under review.

Pressure.—Owing to the passage of the two depressions through the western and south-western districts of the province, pressure was low almost throughout the week, and hence the mean pressure has been very considerably in defect of the normal. The largest variations have been in Orissa and the neighbouring parts of South-West Bengal, where the defect has exceeded a tenth of an inch, and where at Balasore it has equalled no less than 0·124″ and at False Point 0·129.″ From this as the seat of maxim defect, the variation decreases in amount towards the north-east of the province, where it equals about 0·06″ at such stations as Bogra, Rangpur, Dinajpur and Jalpaiguri.

In Assam the mean defect equals 0·084,″ and as in previous weeks, the largest defect is at Sibsagar, where it equals 0·092.″

Temperature.—Owing to the lightness of the rainfall in the northern districts, the mean temperature has been high, and in North Bengal and North Bihár it has been in excess of the normal by between one and two degrees. Slight excess temperatures varying up to half a degree have also occurred in South-West Bengal, South Bihár, and East Bengal, but in Chota Nagpur and Orissa temperatures have been below the normal, the defects being very small (0·1°) in Chota Nagpur, and rather larger (0·7°) in Orissa. In the whole of Bengal therefore the mean temperature for the week has been about 0·4° above the normal.

In Assam, where the rainfall has also been light, the comparatively large excess of 1·4° has been registered, and this excess has been fairly equal at all three reporting stations.

Rainfall.—An average fall of nearly three inches is reported in Chota Nagpur, which is more than half an inch in excess of the normal. It is noticeable that this is the first week for a considerable period that Chota Nagpur has received anything like an excess fall of rain, and it is also noticeable that the falls have been particularly heavy in parts of Manbhum, Singbhum, and Hazáribágh. Orissa has also received an average fall of 2·80 inches, which is 0·23 inch in excess of the normal, and in this division the district of Puri has received decidedly heavy rain. South Bihár has received a fall averaging 2·10 inches, or exactly a normal fall, and in this division the districts of Gaya and Patna have received decidedly heavy falls. All the other divisions of the province have received less than the normal falls, but the defect in South-West Bengal is small, and in the other districts rather large. The falls in South-West Bengal average about two inches, and in this division the 24-Parganas, Hooghly, Khulna, and Birbhum have received very considerable falls. East Bengal has only received an average fall of 1·64 inches, which is about two-thirds of the normal, and in this division the districts receiving the best falls have been Backergunge and Chittagong. In North Bengal and North Bihár the average falls of rain have only equalled about an inch, and all districts except Jalpaiguri, Darjeeling, and Champaran have received decidedly light falls, and indeed the general falls in these two divisions have only equalled about two-fifths of the normal for the week. The defective rainfall has again to a great extent been caused by the actual lightness of the rain showers, rather than by the absence of rainy days, and thus the number of rainy days during the week in Chota Nagpur, Orissa, South Bihár, South-West Bengal and East Bengal has been considerably larger than usual, so that the only divisions in which the number of rainy days has been smaller than usual have been North Bengal and North Bihár; but even here the deficiency is small.

Taking up the case of the districts, the following have received decidedly scanty rainfall during the week:—Bogra, Malda, Rangpur, Kuch Bihar, Chittagong Hill Tracts, Mymensingh, Purnea, Bhagalpur, and Darbhanga.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 10th of September 1892:—

Carried unanimously.

Proposed by Saligram Seth,
Seconded by Kishori Lall,

That the Tramway be extended to Mylani, which extension would be profitable to the Tramway and of the greatest public convenience.

Carried unanimously.

In the course of the discussion on the aboveresolution, it was stated that the present Railway fare, Shahjehanpore to Gola, is Rs. 1-9-0; but were the Tramway available to Mylani, the cost of the journey would be reduced to about As. 10.

Proposed by Maharaj Budree Pershad,
Seconded by Enait Hosain Khan.

That this Meeting approves of the action taken by the Managing Agents in insisting on Messrs. Fowler and Company taking up the Rs 30,000 worth of shares as agreed on when the scheme to Khotar was floated, and also that payment otherwise than by shares be withheld and the case defended.

Carried unanimously.

Pundit Ajoodhia Pershad stated that he had recently travelled over the line and found everything in first-class order; he, however, stated that he was of opinion that the present curtains on the lower class carriage were defective, and some better means of protection should be afforded the passengers of this class. The Manager promised this matter his immediate attention.

The Chairman went on to say that it appeared to him hat it would be a great boon to the public and of service to the Tramway Company were a telegraph wire laid on along its route, and he suggested that the Managing Agents be asked to give their consideration to the matter with a view of approaching Government on the subject. Those present shared the Chairman's views on the subject.

AJOODHIA PERSHAD,
Chairman.

It was then—

REVISED ADVERTISEMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first five volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets; &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal octavo pages; Vol. II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Vol. III contains the letters D, E, F and half of G.

Vol IV latter half of G to middle of L; and Vol. V contains the latter half of L to end of "O." The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in seven volumes during the current year; but an eighth volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index will practically be a Glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals and minerals of India, and as such will be a work of reference, which, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The period of registration of subscribers' names having expired on the 1st October, the price will in future be in India Rs. 45 and in England 3 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made. An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England, at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole sets.

No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately.

DISTRESS IN BENGAL.

The 20th September 1892.—The following is published for general information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

W. MAUDE,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 3499Agri., dated Calcutta, the 14th September 1892.

From—W. MAUDE, Esq., Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, Revenue Dept.,
To—The Secretary to the Government of India, Revenue and Agricultural Dept.

IN continuation of this Government's letter No. 3081Agri., dated the 16th August 1892, I am directed to submit the following report on the distressed areas of Bengal for the month of August 1892.

2. Bhagalpur was the only district in Bengal in which relief works remained open during that month, and the Collector was able to bring operations there to a close on the 20th. The bhadoi crop is now assured, and no further cause for anxiety remains in any of the tracts with which the monthly reports have hitherto dealt. The Commissioner reports that there is every prospect of at least an average rice crop.

3. Prices.—The prices of cheap grains used by the poorer classes have fallen, and marua (Eleusine Corocana) is now selling at the Supaul and the Madhipura subdivisions at 32 and 35 seers, respectively, per rupee.

4. Relief works and gratuitous relief.—The usual statement is furnished below, giving particulars concerning the persons present on relief works and in receipt of gratuitous relief up to the close of the operations.

District.	Week.	Average No. A. and B. male units.	Work done per diem.	Wage earned per diem.	Cost of work per 1,000 cubic feet.	Average No. C. labourers male units.	Wage per diem.	Total disbursed on works.	Gratuitous Relief.

5. The number of A and B male units for the last week in July as reported to the Government of India in the last report was 1,179. In the week immediately following the number was 1,291, which shows a slight increase, due apparently to some labourers having gone over from Monghyr on the closing of the works in that district at the end of July. The Famine Statements A and B are submitted for the district of Bhagalpur only, and it has not been thought necessary to submit a map.

6. Though all anxiety is now at an end with regard to the Patna, Bhagalpur, and Rajshahi Divisions, unfavourable symptoms exist in the districts of Burdwan, Hooghly, Midnapore, and Cuttack. In the Burdwan and Midnapore districts the rainfall up to date since the 16th May has been more than 12 and 9 inches, respectively, below the average rainfall for the same period, and unless there is ample rain at a very early date, not half the usual area will be planted out with winter rice, and what has been planted will suffer severely. The tanks are said to be very empty, and there is ground for anxiety, which may, however, be altogether dispelled by a favourable turn in the weather. Such a change has lately occurred in the prospects of Balasore, where, just when everyone was in despair, a heavy fall of rain saved the crop.

7. In Cuttack floods of unusual severity were caused in a small tract to the south-west of the district by a rapid rise between the 24th and the 26th July 1892 of the Mahanadi and the Katjuri rivers. Much damage was done to the standing crops, and a certain amount of distress has consequently made its appearance. To afford relief to those who were in need of immediate help, a sum of Rs. 641-15-4, the unspent balance of the Cyclone Relief Fund of 1885, was placed at the Collector's disposal. The Commissioner has since reported to Government that relief on a larger scale will be required, and he has been directed to proceed under the Famine Code should the circumstances of the case render this necessary. In that event regular reports will be submitted to the Government of India. From the fact that distress in this district is local and due to inundation, the Lieutenant-Governor presumes that there is grain in all the markets, and that there is no lack of food in the country.

POLICE.

Dated Darjeeling, the 14th September 1892.

The Report on the Administration of the Police Department for the year 1891.

The Report for the year 1890 and the orders of Government recorded thereon.

Mr. J. C. Veasey held the office of Inspector-General up to the 2nd April, when he was relieved by Mr. E. R. Henry, who was in charge up to the end of the year, and by whom the report now under review is submitted. The report was received in print punctually on the 30th June, and contains within a moderate compass a full review of police administration during the year. In certain respects, however, the form of the report is defective. The Lieutenant-Governor desires that the rule may be universally followed that, whenever an officer's work is mentioned as deserving of praise or blame, (and especially praise) his name as well as his office should be mentioned. He considers that the criticisms of judicial decisions which appear here and there are out of place in a Police Report, and should be avoided in future. His Honour observes also that the report does not contain any analysis of the crimes of each district compared with those reported in the previous year, and requests that in future years a statement may be furnished similar to Departmental Return No. I appended to the Report on the Police of the North-Western Provinces for 1890, showing district by district the incidence of important crime for two years. It will be further convenient if an additional statement is submitted corresponding with Departmental Return No. III of the North-Western Provinces Report showing in detail the strength and cost of the municipal police.

2. Constitution of the Police Force.—The sanctioned strength of the District Police, excluding Railway Police, was at the close of the year 74 superior officers and 22,789 subordinate officers and men, showing a net increase over the figures of last year of six head-constables and 73 constables, and a net decrease of three Sub-Inspectors and 25 town chaukidars. The Railway Police at the close of the year numbered 2 superior officers and 621 subordinate officers and men, against 607 in 1890. The number of men employed on purely police work is stated to be 21,032, and the proportion borne by this number to the total population of the Province was 1 to 3,503.

3. Expenditure of the Department.—The police budget grant for the financial year 1891-92 was Rs. 41,84,396, and the total expenditure was Rs. 40,78,691, distributed as follows among the several heads:—

		1891-92.	1890-91.
		Rs.	Rs.
1.	Inspecting agency	1,14,437	1,05,376
2.	Pay of District and Assistant Superintendents ...	4,62,692	5,07,539
3.	Pay of Executive Police and establishment with good conduct pay and batta allowance	28,90,810	28,17,466
4.	Travelling allowance	91,944	89 445
5.	Fixed boat establishment	57,778	57,212
6.	Special, regular, and contract contingencies	4,61,030	4,42,849
	Total ...	40,78,691	40,19,887

The increase is explained as mainly due to the changes made last year with the sanction of the Government of India, in accordance with the recommendation of the Police Committee, viz., the abolition of the Superannuation Fund, and the raising of the pay of the lowest grade of Constables in Bengal Proper from Rs. 6 to 7.

4. Working of the Town Police.—No progress appears to have been made during the year in substituting town chaukidars for constables, and opinions as to the policy of this measure, and the working of the town chaukidars, appear to vary greatly. Thus in the town of Burdwan the chaukidars appointed last year are reported not to have been a success; the Magistrate of Shahabad states that the town police in all the municipalities of his district have worked badly, and the Magistrate of Champaran expresses an opinion that Municipal administration has distinctly suffered by the substitution of chaukidars for constables. In Bhagalpur the Magistrate is so dissatisfied with the working of the town chaukidars that he recommends that only constables should be employed on this duty. On the other hand, in the towns of Bankura, Bishenpur, Khulna, Chittagong, Jamui, Malda, English Bazar and all the municipal towns of the Chota Nagpur Division, the town chaukidars are reported to have worked satisfactorily, and in Murshidabad and Rangpur they are said to have shown themselves as efficient as the constables they replaced. The fact appears to be that the working of this force is seriously impaired by a rule which has been laid down, requiring the chaukidars to be employed on night duty only. The Lieutenant-Governor thinks the existing orders on this subject should be reconsidered, and requests the Inspector-General to submit a special report on it. He is inclined to believe that under proper rules and with judicious supervision, both efficiency and economy may be secured by the substitution of town chaukidars for ordinary constables. The town chaukidari system may be unsuited to great towns like Patna and Gaya, where there is a strong body of professional law-breakers or a large floating population, but the circumstances in the ordinary Municipalities of Bengal are very different, and His Honour thinks it probable that town chaukidars may be employed with advantage in all places where the population is peaceable, and there is little violent crime. It is reported that watch and ward duty is most unpopular with the regular force, and that in the Dacca Division 52 out of 53 resignations have occurred in the town police.

5. Street Lighting.—Some progress has been made in street lighting during the year. In the towns of Bally, Krishnagar, Dinapur, Motihari, and Chaibasa, lamps have been introduced, and additional lights have been provided in 41 other towns. The Inspector-General suggests, in view of the difficulty of inducing municipalities to spend money on this object, that where they cannot afford to erect street lamps, the Municipal Commissioners should be urged to provide oil for the lanterns of the police. This proposal may be recommended for adoption by small municipalities.

6. Rural Police.—The remarks made in the portion of the Inspector-General's report devoted to this subject are too indefinite, and the opinions quoted are not supported by facts and figures, as they should be, to show how far they are justified. Figures are indeed given to show the number of chaukidars rewarded, fined, dismissed, and criminally prosecuted (but not the number convicted) in each division: but there is nothing to show the proportion of the punishments inflicted for real offences, and that for mere departmental irregularities and breach of rules. Moreover, the figures given do not always bear out the opinions quoted. Thus in the Burdwan Division, while the Magistrate of Burdwan states that the chaukidars are on the whole the most unsatisfactory set of men he has ever come across, and the District Superintendent expresses an opinion that half the crime of the district is directly committed by them, and while the District Superintendent of Bankura declares that nearly all serious crime can be traced either to the chaukidars or the ghatwals, it is observed that out of a total number of 41,528 chaukidars in the Burdwan Division only 341 or ·8 per cent. were criminally prosecuted, and that this is a lower percentage than in any other division except Chittagong and Orissa. The percentage of punishments is twice as high in the Presidency Division, where the bulk of the District Magistrates speak well of the working of the chaukidars.

7. No doubt there is room for much improvement in the character and conduct of the rural police, and the Lieutenant-Governor hopes that the changes effected in the law which has lately been passed in the Bengal Council may lead to improvement. The principal object of this legislation has been to bring the village police into closer relations with the executive authority of Government, and while retaining the local knowledge of men resident in the village in which they are to be employed, to organize the chaukidars as a branch of the regular police in direct subordination to the Magistrate. Under the old law the village panchayet not only appointed the chaukidars, but had authority to decide within specified limits how many chaukidars should be employed, and to fix their salaries. Under the new law the panchayet will nominate, but the appointment of the village watch will rest with the Magistrate. The Magistrate and not the panchayet will determine the number of chaukidars and fix their salaries. In other provinces the status of the rural police has been raised by similar legislation, and it is hoped that a like result will now be attained in Bengal. The Lieutenant-Governor requests the special attention of all District Magistrates to the necessity of trying to raise the social status of the chaukidar by refusing to appoint men of the low castes and thieving habits who have hitherto been employed, and substituting for them men of better castes and more respectable position. This object has been achieved in other Provinces, and there is no reason why it should not be attained in Bengal also.

8. Next to low caste and disreputable antecedents, one of the causes which has done much to degrade the village chaukidar in his own esteem and that of the public, and to lessen his influence for good, has been the habit, too common among the Provincial Police, of treating him as a beast of burden and a menial servant. The Government is pledged to do all it can to stop this custom, and special orders are under issue on the subject; but the Lieutenant-Governor takes this opportunity of giving publicity to his desire that Magistrates and District Superintendents of Police should set their faces sternly against the practice. When the chaukidar recognises that he is a servant of the State and bears a sanad of appointment under the Magistrate's hand and seal, it may be expected that he himself will refuse to submit to ill-treatment, and that the inferior Police officers will understand that his status has been so raised that menial employment must not be thought of in connection with him.

9. Another mode of improving his position is that the higher district officials should be more liberal to him in the matter of rewards and less indiscriminate in punishment. The following table comparing certain details of the working of the chaukidari systems in the North-Western Provinces and Bengal would appear to show that rewards are granted much more freely in the sister Province, and that punishments are inflicted there less frequently for trifling offences. In the report for the current year, the Lieutenant-Governor hopes to find that rewards have increased. His Honour also desires that in all future reports punishments for criminal offences may be distinguished from those inflicted for neglect of duty and similar minor faults.

North-Western Provinces and Oudh (1890).

Out of 97,832 chaukidars (which includes 6,859 town chaukidars)—

8,446 were rewarded with Rs. 18,490.
3,834 were fined.
3,925 were suspended.
205 were reduced.
3,215 were dismissed,
499 were convicted of offences.

Bengal (1891).

Out of 171,547 chaukidars—

957 were rewarded with Rs. 5,505.
2,908 were dismissed.
14,195 were fined.
3,501 were prosecuted criminally.

The work and character of chaukidars and ghatwals remunerated by chakaran lands is almost universally condemned, and Sir Charles Elliott hopes shortly to be able to take up the whole question of the improvement or abolition of this system.

10. Additional and Special Police.—During the year additional police have been appointed in Pabna, Champaran, Monghyr, and the Sonthal Parganas, and 298 special constables were employed in 15 cases under section 17, Act V of 1861. These figures would seem to imply a very free use of section 17, and the Lieutenant-Governor notices that some of these special police were employed for three, four, and six months and even for a year. His Honour would impress upon all Magistrates the necessity for using this section only in cases of emergency and of restricting its operation to the shortest possible period.

11. The Military Police.—A force consisting of one subadar, one jamadar, five havildars, and 50 sepoys from the Dumka Special Reserve, and one jamadar, three havildars, and 44 sepoys from the Bhágalpur Special Reserve was detailed for service in Keonjhar in May 1891. The former were reported by Mr. Dawson, who was in command, to have behaved most creditably throughout, their drill and discipline meriting special commendation. The Bhágalpur Special Reserve, though composed of good material, were found less smart. A party composed of the ordinary armed reserve police from Cuttack and Balasore was sent up from Orissa under Mr. Guise to co-operate with Mr. Dawson's force, and their discipline and steadiness under fire were (as might be expected) much less satisfactorily reported on.

12. Casualties.—The following table shows the details of casualties during the years 1890 and 1891:—

Retirement on pension or gratuity ...	464 or 1·9 per cent.	452 or 1 9 per cent.
Resignation	972 or 4·1 „	760 or 3·2 „
Dismissal	624 or 2·6 „	588 or 2·5 „
Discharge	180 or ·7 „	225 or ·9 „
Desertion	70 or ·3 „	40 or ·2 „
Death	488 or 2·1 „	517 or 2·2 „
	2,798 or 11·7 „	2,582 or 10·9 „

The decrease in the number of desertions and resignations may, as pointed out by the Inspector-General, be attributed to the improvement effected in the position of the rank and file of the force by the discontinuance of the superannuation fund, the grant of free kits and a more liberal allowance for the maintenance of the kit, and the abolition of the lowest paid grade of constables in Bengal proper. As these changes only came into force from or after July 1891, a still further improvement in this direction may be expected during the current year; apart, however, from any special measures taken for the improvement of the position of the force, the percentage of casualties has been steadily decreasing since 1886 as shown by the following figures:—

1886	casualties ...	14·7 per cent.
1887	„ ...	13·4 „
1888	„ ...	12·9 „
1889	„ ...	12·3 „
1890	„ ...	11·7 „
1891	„ ...	10·9 „

13. Torture and extortion by the Police.—The record of grave misconduct of this class during the year is fortunately not a heavy one. Seventeen cases of real or alleged torture were under enquiry during the year. The most important of these was a case which occurred in Backergunge in 1890, in which a head-constable was charged with the most scandalous misconduct. The complainant's story was at first disbelieved, and it was only after several ineffectual efforts that he was able to secure a trial of the case. The accused head-constable was finally sentenced to 10 years' rigorous imprisonment at the Backergunge Sessions. Of the other sixteen complaints of police torture, eight were found to be false, six were held by Criminal Courts to be not sufficiently proved to justify a conviction, one ended in the conviction of a head-constable and four constables under section 330, Indian Penal Code, and one was pending at the end of the year.

14. Forty-four cases of extortion were enquired into during the year. Of these 11 were found to be false, 14 were not proved (five of these, however, ended in the departmental punishment of the accused officers), 11 were found to be true, and 8 were pending at the end of the year.

15. Rewards and punishment.—The following table shows in detail the number of punishments inflicted on members of the police force during the last three years:—

Year.	Judicial convictions under the Penal Code.			Convictions under Act V of 1861.			Departmental Punishments.
1889 ...	330	1·2	1·4	158	·3	·7	4,997	45·0	17·5
1890 ..	336	1·1	1·5	160	·2	·7	4,828	46·0	16·2
1891 ...	260	·3	1·2	112	·3	·5	4,234	39·2	14·3

The figures seem to indicate a satisfactory improvement in the conduct of the force. There were seven cases of embezzlement of Government money or misappropriation of property: in three of these the accused were convicted in a Criminal Court, in three they were departmentally punished, and one was acquitted. At the close of the year 8,059 men wore one or more good-conduct stripes'. This shows an apparent decrease of 3,354 from the figures of last year, but the Inspector-General reports that the latter figures were incorrect. Good conduct allowances amounting to Rs. 21,072 were disbursed during the year. Special money rewards were paid to 1,814 officers and men, and 52 received special promotion.

16. Inspections.—Every district of Bengal, with the exception of the newly constituted district of Palámau, was inspected during the year either by the Inspector-General, or by one of the Deputy Inspectors-General. Several districts were visited more than once, and 32 sub-divisions were separately visited and inspected. The Inspector-General also gives a complete list showing the days spent on inspection duty by District Superintendents and Assistant District Superintendents in every district of Bengal. The Lieutenant-Governor notices that in many instances the number of days falls considerably short of what is necessary for the proper supervision of his District Police by a District Superintendent. He requests that in future years the Inspector-General will notice those officers who fall short in this duty without sufficient justification, and that he will also state the number of days he himself and the two Deputy Inspectors-General were on tour.

17. Crime.—The following table shows the strength of the police force, in comparison with population and crime during the year 1890, for the various provinces of India:—

Province.	Police.	Population as per revised census.	Cases of cognizable crime.	Proportion of police to population.		Proportion of police to cases of cognizable crime.		Proportion of cases of cognizable crime to population.

As pointed out by the Inspector-General, the above figures do not convey an absolutely correct impression either as to the relative amount of police work, or the relative criminality of the several divisions, inasmuch as nuisance cases are included as cognizable crimes, and no distinction is made between cases in which a police enquiry was held, and those in which no enquiry was made under section 157, Criminal Procedure Code. It is hoped that in future the Inspector-General will be able to supply a comparative table, omitting these two items.

19. Police Tests.—The Inspector-General has furnished a table showing the working of the police in every Province according to the following tests:—

(*a*1) the percentage of cases reported, which were investigated by the police;

(*a*3) the percentage of police cases investigated which ended in conviction;

(*a*4) the percentage of police cases tried which ended in conviction;

(*b*3) the percentage of persons sent up for trial in police cases who were convicted;

(*c*2) the percentage of cases involving loss of property in which property was recovered.

The figures of crime under classes I—V and classes I—VI taken together are shown separately in each case.

The figures according to test (*a*4) of Bengal for 1890 and 1891, and those of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh for 1890, compare as follows:—

	Classes I—V.			Classes I—VI.
	Number of cases decided.	Number of convictions.	Percentage.	Number of cases decided.	Convictions.	Percentage.
Bengal, 1890 ...	24,069	16,386	68	59,831	49,050	81·9
Bengal, 1891 ...	24,918	17,522	70·3	65,868	54,779	83·1
North-Western Provinces and Oudh, 1890.	45,093	36,485	80·9	68,628	58,130	84·7

The Inspector-General discusses the causes of the unsatisfactory results in Bengal compared with those of the North-Western Provinces, and concludes that they are to be attributed to the inefficiency of the village police, to the large area of police stations and the scarcity of investigating officers and the ease with which legal assistance can be procured, but above all to the lack of a well-organized prosecuting agency in the Criminal Courts. With a view to effecting an improvement in the last respect, the experiment has been tried in six districts of relieving the Court Sub-Inspector of the bulk of his clerical work and employing him primarily as a public prosecutor. The results have been favourably reported on, and it is proposed to extend the system.

20. As desired in the Resolution on the Report for 1890, the percentages under each of the above tests for classes I to V taken together have been shown separately for every district in Bengal; the figures for 1890 and 1891 being given side by side in each case, and the districts being arranged according to test (*a*4), which is obviously the most important. The first eleven districts by this test are Darjeeling, the Chittagong Hill Tracts, the Garjhats, Howrah, Muzaffarpur, Sonthal Parganas, Midnapore, Rajshahi, Balasore, Manbhum, and Darbhanga, all of which show a percentage of over 75. Of these the first three may be set aside, as their circumstances are peculiar, the population consisting mainly of hill tribes, but the results are satisfactory in large districts such as Howrah, Muzaffarpur, Midnapore, Rajshahi, Balasore and Darbhanga. Twenty-nine out of forty-seven districts show figures above the provincial average by this test, and it is some proof of the validity of the tests that of these 23 are above the average by test (*a*2) and 26 by test (*b*3). The Lieutenant-Governor desires that in future years the table may be confined to these three tests, and that for each not only percentages, but also the numbers of cases on which the percentages are calculated may be shewn, and the figures for two years compared in parallel columns.

21. Reported Crime of the Province.—The number of cognizable and non-cognizable offences reported during the years 1890 and 1891 was as follows:—

	1890.	1891.	Increase.
Cognizable	1,17,443	1,28,472	11,029
Non-cognizable ...	1,16,554	1,19,072	2,518

The increase in cognizable crime is distributed among all divisions, except Bhagalpur and Orissa, where there is a slight decrease; in non-cognizable crime the only marked variation occurred in the Chittagong Division, where there was an increase of 2,543 cases. As usual, varying explanations are given for the increase of criminal cases: but there can be little doubt that the main factor in the increase in serious crime has been the pressure of high prices, which prevailed throughout the year but grew more stringent towards its close. Part of the increase is also due to the more vigorous action taken for the suppression of public and local nuisances, prosecutions for which rose from 28,402 in 1890 to 34,158 in 1891.

22. The following table shows, division by division, the statistics of cognizable and non-cognizable crime in 1890 and 1891:—

Division.	Cognizable.			Non-cognizable.
	1890.	1891.	Increase or decrease.	1890.	1891.	Increase or decrease.
Burdwan	15,738	17,917	+2,179	21,005	20,351	—654
Presidency	14,689	15,099	+410	17,647	16,574	—1,073

Dacca	13,250	15,528	+2,278	17,786	17,441	—345
Chittagong	4,785	5,498	+713	12,026	14,569	+2,543
Total for Bengal Proper ...	60,521	67,541	+7,020	78,386	79,398	+1,012
Patna	28,841	32,946	+4,105	17,377	17,922	+545
Bhagalpur	14,341	13,997	—344	11,766	11,911	+145
Total for Bihár ...	43,182	46,943	+3,761	29,143	29,833	+690
Orissa	7,016	6,633	—383	5,589	6,112	+523
Chota Nagpur	6,724	7,355	+631	3,486	3,729	+243
Grand Total ...	117,443	128,472	+11,029	116,554	119,072	+1,128

It appears that, though the largest increase in cognizable crime has been in the Patna Division, where the pinch of scarcity was principally felt during the year, yet the increase is not proportionately greater than in the Dacca and Burdwan Divisions, where there was no marked distress though prices were high, while in Bhagalpur, where more or less severe pressure existed in parts, there was an actual decrease.

23. Cognizable offences reported during the years 1889, 1890, and 1891 are thus compared under the various main heads—

	1889.	1890.	1891.
Cases against property ...	74,431	68,227	73,348
Ditto person	7,976	7,463	7,959
Ditto public tranquillity ...	3,177	3,185	3,126
Other cases	34,072	38,568	44,039
Total ...	119,656	117,443	128,472

It would seem therefore that there was less actual crime during 1891 than during 1889, the increase in "Other cases" being entirely due to the more vigorous suppression of nuisances.

24. Cases false or reported false.—The number of cases declared false was 6,631 or 5·1 per cent; the percentage for the three preceding years being 5·4, 5·8 and 6·0. In 1,025 cases, prosecutions were instituted, and in 381 convictions were obtained, besides which, in 916 cases compensation was awarded to the defendant under section 560 of the Criminal Procedure Code. The Lieutenant-Governor concurs in the opinion expressed by the Inspector-General that Magistrates might have freer recourse to this section, and that the compensation granted is often inadequate.

25. Reported cases not enquired into.—In paragraph 13 of the Resolution on the Report on the working of the Police in the Lower Provinces for 1890, the Lieutenant-Governor laid down the principle that in cases of house-breaking to commit theft, where nothing is stolen and where there is no clue given, in cases of theft of sums below Rs. 5, where there is no clue, in cases which are of a purely civil nature, and in embroidered charges of assault where the embroidering is doubtful, enquiry should be refused by the police. The Inspector-General reports that, as a consequence of these orders, the percentage of refusals to enquire in cases of house-breaking and attempted house-breaking rose from 9 per cent. of the total number of cases in the last quarter of 1890 to 28·9 per cent. in the last quarter of 1891, and in theft cases the percentage refused enquiry rose from 9 to 16·7 per cent. He calculates that during 1892 some 10,000 fewer cases will probably be enquired into by the Police than would otherwise have been the case. As an example of the way in which the instructions of Government may be misunderstood and misused, he quotes a case in which a stranger, after sleeping in a house, went off taking a rug worth Rs. 4, and the police refused to enquire on the ground that no cases were to be enquired into where the stolen property was worth less than Rs. 5. Strange to say this procedure, though it was clearly opposed to the orders of Government, was supported by the Magistrate. Mr. Henry also mentions that in the month of December, in the districts of Champaran, Muzaffarpur, Saran, and Darbhanga, 50, 70, 82 and 90 per cent. respectively of the burglaries reported were not enquired into. The case quoted above is a gross and, the Lieutenant-Governor would hope, an unique illustration of the way in which orders can be misapplied; it is, however, probable that the directions conveyed in last year's Resolution, which, as remarked by the Inspector-General, were only intended by way of general guidance and not as laying down a hard-and-fast rule, have been in some districts misunderstood or improperly worked. At the same time the Lieutenant-Governor desires to remark that he has inspected the "Magistrate's General Register" (in which information on this subject is recorded) in many districts, and has nowhere found an instance where enquiry was refused and where in his opinion it ought not to have been refused. He also observes that in the report of the Police Committee appointed in the North-Western Provinces, paragraphs 98, 99, the same procedure as has been introduced here is advocated. It seems necessary, however, that the instructions of Government on this subject should again be clearly stated. They are as follows; that (1) in cases of house-breaking or attempted house-breaking, where there is no theft, and no clue to the offender, and (2) in theft cases where the property reported to have been stolen is less than Rs. 5 in value, and is also of such a nature as not to be easily identified, such as grain or fruit, and where the informant has no suspicion as to the offender, no enquiry should be held by the police unless the informant wishes for one. A third class of cases is that of assault, where other charges such as theft are superadded and appear to be more than doubtful; such cases had better be disposed of by petition to the Magistrate. Enquiry should never be refused in classes (1) and (2) where the aggrieved person desires that an enquiry should be held: in fact "refuse to enquire" is not the proper term to be used in this connection. The police may refrain from investigating a case of this kind in certain given circumstances, but should not refuse to enquire into a reported cognizable offence where an enquiry is asked for. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes that by careful supervision and constant inspection, District Superintendents will prevent any abuse of these rules in future.

26. Results of Sessions cases.—The total number of cases tried before the Court of Sessions was 1,253, of which 397 ended in acquittal, and 856 or 68·3 per cent. in conviction. The proportion of persons convicted to persons committed for trial was 54·4 against 54·1 and 49·1 in 1890 and 1889 respectively.

27. Crime, class by class.—The amount of crime of each class during the years 1889, 1890 and 1891, together with the results of trials for offences of each class, are shown in the following table:—

	Class I.			Class II.			Class III.			Class IV.			Class V.			Class VI.
	1889.	1890.	1891.	1889.	1890.	1891.	1889.	1890.	1891.	1889.	1890.	1891.	1889.	1890.	1891.	1889.	1890.	1891.

There has thus been an increase during the year under every head, except in class I (offences against the State and public tranquillity), while the percentage of convictions shows no noticeable change in any particular.

28. Class I. Offences against the State and Public tranquility.—There is a decrease of 109 cases in this class, including a diminution of 52 in the number of riot cases. In all 2,187 true and 310 false cases of rioting were reported, the Dacca Division showing 518 true cases, and the Presidency and Patna Divisions coming next with 321 and 319 true cases respectively. Very few of these cases were of any importance, as is evident from the fact that of 11,736 persons actually tried for this offence, only 201 came before the Court of Sessions. In the Burdwan Division no case occurred worthy of special notice. There has, however, been an increase of rioting in Midnapore, attributed to disputes between Messrs. Watson and their raiyats: the matter has been brought before the Government in another form, but no details are given in this report. The Lieutenant-Governor desires that in future reports all cases of serious trouble arising between European firms or planters and their dependents, or the agricultural class among whom they live, may be more fully described. In the Presidency Division Jessore shows only 104 cases against 217 last year, this result being due to the settlement of the indigo disturbances. In the Dacca Division the number of cases reported rose from 478 to 518, the increase being in the districts of Backergunge and Mymensingh. In Backergunge, of 96 cases classed as riots, eight were attended with loss of life and thirteen with severe hurt. In this district 3,338 persons were, during the year, bound down to keep the peace. In Faridpur, 134 cases, four of which were attended with loss of life, were reported against 166 in 1890. The decrease is attributed to the more vigorous use of sections 106 and 107 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1,376 persons having been bound down to keep the peace during 1891 as compared with 503 in 1890. In the Patna Division two cases occurred, which might have had very serious consequences. In Gaya, at the Bakr Id festival, a riot arose between Hindus and Mussulmans with regard to the sacrifice of a cow; and at the Barahpur fair in Shahabad a force of 24 chaukidars and 10 police, who were escorting a number of cattle, were attacked by a large body of Hindus. Inspector Zinnat Hossein Khan having warned the rioters to desist, and having tried the effect of blank cartridge, finally ordered the armed constables to fire singly with ball cartridge; at the seventh shot a rioter fell dead and the rest fled. In these two cases the mischief was only prevented from spreading by the prompt action of the Magistrate in the first case, and the Inspector in the second.

29. CLASS II. Serious offences against the person.—Cases of this class increased from 4,340 to 4,824, the largest increase being under the heads "Hurt by a dangerous weapon" and "Criminal force to public servants." The number of persons actually brought to trial for offences of this class was 7,677, of whom 46·2 per cent were convicted, against 43·7 and 45·0 per cent. in the two preceding years. Of 1,261 persons tried by the Court of Sessions, 601 were acquitted, and 660, or 52·3 per cent., convicted, the percentage of convictions in 1889 and 1890 having been 47·9 and 52·8 respectively. Murders reported increased from 319 to 360, the figures for the last seven years being—

1885	...	...	288	1889	...	...	316
1886	...	...	278	1890	...	...	319
1887	...	...	250	1891	...	...	360
1888	...	...	268

These figures would seem to show either a steady increase in the amount of crime, or an improvement in the reporting of suspicious deaths; they are, however, to a certain extent influenced by variations in the method of classifying offences according to the views of individual Magistrates and Judges. The percentage of convictions to persons tried for murder fell from 23·1 in 1889 and 25·6 in 1890 to 20·9 in 1891. There were, however, 37 executions during the year against 26 and 17 in 1890 and 1889 respectively. There were eight murders by dacoits during the year, of which four occurred at the same time in one village in Nadia. "Murders by robbers" numbered 16, of which 5 were in the Patna district, and there were 15 cases of "Murder by poison." For the former offence only three persons out of 14 sent up for trial and for the latter only one person was convicted.

There were 32 cases of "Drugging" against 28 in 1890: of these only eight ended in conviction.

No particular case calls for special comment, the most noticeable feature being the continued inability of the police to successfully work out murder cases. A good piece of detective work on the part of Mr. Roberts, the District Superintendent of Puri, and his subordinates is reported, by which, through advertisements in the Police Gazette and a native paper, two unknown Bengalis, whose bodies were found lying on the Ganjam road, were identified and their murderer traced and finally convicted and transported for life.

30. CLASS III.—Serious offences against property.—There has been a total increase of 3,203 cases under this head, divided as follows among the various offences:—

			1890.	1891	Increase.	Decrease.
Serial No.	30.	Dacoity	130	210	80	...

		Total ...	25,085	28,288	3,252	49
		Net increase ...	...	...	3,203

Of 6,787 persons actually tried, 3,324 or 52·8 per cent. were convicted and 2,970 acquitted.

31. There was an increase in dacoities in every division except Orissa and Chittagong, which latter Division has been free from this crime for the last two years. The following table shows the number of dacoities in each division for the last six years:—

		1886.	1887.	1888.	1889.	1890.	1891.
Burdwan	...	22	23	18	34	29	22
Presidency	...	9	7	17	17	12	22
Rajshahi	...	23	23	16	17	27	48

Chota Nagpur	...	18	4	14	11	4	15
Total	...	103	109	132	172	130	210

The recrudescence of this serious offence in so many divisions is both remarkable and alarming, but it is satisfactory to notice that the police have also to some extent been more successful in dealing with it than in former years, 52 cases or 23·5 per cent. of the whole having ended in conviction and 195 persons or 31·8 per cent. of those tried having been convicted against 25·5, 24·8, 23·2 and 21·0, the corresponding percentages for the preceding four years. The three worst districts were Patna, Gaya, and Champaran with 18, 14, and 13 cases respectively. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to notice that Midnapore is again free from dacoity, and that the favourable opinion of Mr. Munro's work expressed in last year's resolution is thus confirmed. In the Rajshahi Division the execution close to the frontier, by the Nepalese authorities, of the notorious criminal Nakalya Gurung is reported to have had a good effect on the criminal classes in the districts of Jalpaiguri and Darjeeling. Nine members of this man's gang were under trial at the end of the year. The District Superintendent of Police, Darjeeling, also reports that the Nepalese authorities gave much active assistance during the year by arresting absconders, and Sir Charles Elliott is glad to acknowledge the valuable help in the criminal administration of the province thus afforded by the Nepal Darbar. In the same Division the Inspector-General brings to notice the good work done by Mr. Ward, District Superintendent of Police of Pabna, who, with the help of Sub-Inspector Peari Mohan Biswas, was successful in securing convictions in eight out of the 18 cases of dacoity committed in his district, with the result that 23 persons were sentenced to long terms of imprisonment. In the Patna Division a Muzaffarpur case is reported to have been well worked out by Inspector Nokhoy Lal.

32. The increase in the number of robberies, especially of robberies on the highway, is also serious, but here again the police can show improved results, the percentage of convictions having risen from 36 to 42·4 per cent. of the number of cases, and from 38·8 to 39·8 of the number of persons tried.

33. CLASS IV. Minor offences against the person.—The number of cases increased from 2,210 to 2,220. No special remark is called for.

34. CLASS V. Minor offences against property.—Cases of this class increased by 1,763, from 38,078 to 39,841, while burglaries which, though strictly included in class III, are more conveniently discussed under this head, increased from 23,515 to 26,615 or by 3,100. The increase is attributed primarily to the pressure produced by high prices. Judicial results are bad, convictions resulting in 68 per cent. of cases decided, and 56 per cent. of persons tried being convicted. No great improvement in this respect can be expected until some satisfactory agency is organized for conducting prosecutions.

35. CLASS VI. All other cases.—There is a net increase of 5,464 cases under this head, the chief increase being under nuisances (5,752 cases) and prosecutions for bad livelihood (412), while there has been a decrease of 265, 235, and 217 in Excise, Salt and Customs, and Arms Act prosecutions respectively. Bad livelihood cases amounted to 2,772, in 1,677 of which the accused was convicted. In 11 districts as against four last year no cases were tried in the villages of the accused. Where communications are easy, as in Gaya, which is one of the districts in question, such cases ought to a large extent to be tried locally, and the Lieutenant-Governor agrees with the remark made by Mr. Henry that the moral effect of the trial of such cases on the spot by a Magistrate on tour, who will decide them then and there upon information volunteered by the people, is very beneficial. Only two cases require special notice. In Khulna some notorious suspects, who were being prosecuted for bad livelihood, waylaid and murdered one of the principal witnesses against them. They were convicted, and one of them sentenced to death, and two others to transportation for life. In Pabna, the District Superintendent, in December 1890, pressed to have security taken from five leading Shandars of Surjapur; proceedings were not taken till September 1891; in the meanwhile, these men with others had gone off on an expedition in which they committed 10 dacoities in as many days, for which they have since been sentenced to seven years' imprisonment.

36. Surveillance.—At the close of the year, 46,725 persons were named in the registers, of whom 42,214 had either been convicted, or ordered to furnish security for good behaviour, and 4,511 were suspects. The police, however, had only to deal with 36,518 persons, the balance being in jail or untraced. Rules have recently been issued laying down definite principles for the classification of offenders for the purposes of police registration and surveillance, and prescribing that only really dangerous criminals shall be transferred to the jails of their own districts for release. By these rules it is only such offenders who will be kept under strict and constant surveillance, less dangerous criminals being visited only occasionally at irregular intervals. The illegal practice of escorting released prisoners to their homes has also been put a stop to.

37. Cases under the Arms Act.—These cases decreased by 217. The Lieutenant-Governor would be glad to see the police devote their energies more to preventing the exportation of arms to Native States and less to instituting prosecutions for the unlicensed possession of worn-out and useless weapons.

38. Non-cognizable crime.—The total number of non-cognizable offences reported was 119,071 against 116,554 in 1890. The increase or decrease under each class of crime is shown under the following table:—

	Number of cases.		Increase.	Decrease.

The figures call for no special remarks.

39. Remands.—One of the most important aids to efficient police investigation and detection of crime is the punctual conduct of magisterial work, and it is evident that delays and postponements must facilitate confusion of mind and forgetfulness of facts, dispirit honest witnesses, and afford opportunities for buying off dishonest ones. The statement of remands printed on page 96 of the report is a valuable indication of the extent to which such postponements are allowed, and His Honour is glad to notice that the percentage of cases postponed six or more times has fallen to 7·4 from 8·2 per cent. Sir Charles Elliott has no doubt that a further improvement will be effected during the current year. In 10 districts, viz., Bankura, Howrah, Jessore, Khulna, Jalpaiguri, Chittagong, Patna, Monghyr, Purnea, Cuttack, and Lohardaga, the percentage of cases remanded six times or more exceeds 10 per cent. Such a result is very bad, but many of the remands must relate to cases decided before the circulation of Government orders on the subject. Mr. Nolan, the Commissioner of Rajshahi, writes with reference to the despatch of criminal business: "In no branch of the administration have I ever experienced an improvement so sudden and so great as that effected during the year in the punctuality with which criminal justice is administered. The earlier records inspected by me frequently show a disposition to delay and put off the trouble of examining witnesses at any cost to them; in those relating to the latter part of the year, I found little to criticise in this respect." This testimony is very gratifying to the Lieutenant-Governor, who has paid special attention to the extermination of wanton postponements in criminal cases, than which there can be no greater canker in court procedure.

40. Re-convictions.—There were 1,790 re-convictions against 1,824 in 1890. The Lieutenant-Governor regrets to notice one bad case reported by the Inspector-General, in which a Deputy Magistrate refused to allow time for the police to enquire into the antecedents of an offender on trial before him, and thus sentenced to one month's imprisonment for theft a notorious Gonda Barwar with six previous convictions on record against him.

41. Anthropometry.—A detailed report on the proposed introduction of the anthropometric system for the identification of criminals, a copy of which was forwarded for the information of the Government of India, was submitted at the close of the year. Since then further progress has been made, rules have been drawn up, and a considerable number of officers have been taught how to measure and record all details. Some 3,000 leading criminals in the jails have been measured, and the classification of their roll cards is being carried out, while mechanical appliances are being invented to simplify measurement and to reduce the margin of possible error to a minimum. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to notice that valuable assistance has been rendered to the police officers engaged in this work by the willing co-operation of jail officials, and the arrangement by which the measurements made by the police will be copied into the jail admission registers is likely to prove a useful measure. Altogether the Lieutenant-Governor has every reason to be satisfied with the progress made in carrying out this important experiment.

42. Crime maps.—In accordance with the instructions conveyed in paragraph 22 of the Government Resolution on the Police Report for 1890, these maps have been generally introduced, and the preparation of two interdependent maps in every district has been ordered. One of these maps shows the residences of all B and C class convicts and absconded offenders, and the other the incidence of all true crime against property. These maps, if carefully prepared, should be of great value in helping District Superintendents to localize crime and to connect it with bad characters.

43. Character of Officers.—Mr. Henry brings to the notice of Government the good work done by the following officers and subordinate officers during the year:—

District Superintendents and Assistant Superintendents.

Mr. Wilcox.	Mr. Ward.

Mr. James and Mr. Showers, Assistant Inspectors-General, Railway Police, are reported to have worked to Mr. Henry's entire satisfaction, and he also acknowledges his special obligations to Mr. Giles and Mr. Pratt for the assistance rendered by them during the year as Deputy Inspectors-General. By the retirement of Colonel W. L. N. Knyvett Government lost a tried and valued officer, who had held every post in the Department from Assistant Superintendent to Inspector-General.

44. Mr. Henry, who was in charge of the office of Inspector-General throughout the year, and has since been confirmed in the appointment, has devoted himself with great assiduity to police work, and merits the thanks of Government for his administration of the Department.

Order.—Ordered, that a copy of the above Resolution be forwarded to the Inspector-General of Police and the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta.

Ordered also, that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to all Commissioners of Divisions for information.

Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

RE-SETTLEMENT OF THE KALIMPONG GOVERNMENT ESTATE IN THE DISTRICT OF DARJEELING.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—LAND REVENUE.

Calcutta, the 17th September 1892.

READ—

A letter No. 553R., dated the 26th July 1892, from the Commissioner of the Rajshahi Division, submitting the final report of the re-settlement of the Kalimpong Estate.

The estate now known as Kalimpong, a hilly tract lying to the east of the River Tista, formed part of the territory annexed at the conclusion of the Bhutan War in the year 1865. It was at first termed British Bhutan or the Daling or Dumsong sub-division, and in 1866 was included within the jurisdiction of the Deputy Commissionership of Darjeeling, in which it now remains under its present name. For some years, in lieu of land revenue, Government continued to levy the poll-tax to which the inhabitants were subject before the annexation, the proceeds of the tax increasing pari passu with the population from Rs. 640 in the year 1865 to Rs. 2,212 in the year 1872-73, and Rs. 10,313 in the year 1880-81, when a portion of the tract was surveyed and brought under settlement in connection with a larger scheme for the survey of the whole district.

2. The estate comprises an area of 53,914 acres, of which 30,000 acres, scattered through the 25 mandalships or blocks of which the estate consists, were surveyed at the settlement of 1881. For the purposes of the assessment then made, these blocks were divided into two classes according to the quality and advantages of the soil, the rates fixed being 8 annas an acre for the first class blocks, and 4 annas an acre for the second class blocks. The total amount assessed was Rs. 10,313, but as 4,443 acres of the area surveyed were not taken up, the actual demand was never more than Rs. 8,398, a sum below that previously collected as poll-tax. This lenient settlement was sanctioned not only because the old poll-tax, in return for which a raiyat could take as much land as he pleased, was being replaced by a tax on each acre of land cultivated, but also because it was the policy of Government to encourage raiyats to settle permanently in the tract. The enhancement to which, as a special condition, the rates were subject at the end of 5 years was never imposed, and the original assessment was maintained, until the expiry of the settlement on the 31st March 1891 rendered a fresh settlement necessary, which is now on the point of being concluded.

3. The new settlement was conducted under the immediate supervision of the Deputy Commissioner of Darjeeling (Mr. J. G Ritchie), who was assisted by Deputy Collector Babu Bijai Kissen Bose. This officer, who was styled Assistant Settlement Officer, joined his appointment at Kalimpong on the 28th December 1891. The work accomplished may be divided into (1) the imposition of enhanced rates of assessment, and the revision of the records of occupancy over the area surveyed and settled in 1881, which was carried out by Mr. Ritchie personally, and (2) the measurement and assessment of lands since reclaimed and brought under cultivation, which was entrusted to Babu Bijai Kissen Bose.

4. As regards the first part of the work, the result of applying the enhanced rates* sanctioned by Government to the area actually settled in 1881, aggregating 23,311 acres, was to raise the demand to Rs. 12,438-13, giving an increase of Rs. 4,040-13.

*12 annas an acre in 1st class land.
8 " " " 2nd " "
8 " " " 1 case in ditto.
In a few cases the old rate of 4 annas was retained.

5. As to the second part of the work, the area measured by the Assistant Settlement Officer consisted mainly of 2,640 acres called vacant land, being part of the 4,443 acres surveyed in 1881, but not taken up at that time, and of 6,622 acres of khas lands included in the area of 15,000 acres which was estimated in 1881 to be culturable waste. Most of this land is situated in very steep and rocky hillsides, and the boundaries of fields are but vaguely marked. The total area newly measured was 9,289 acres, the difference being made up of a few acres of cardamom land. Of the so-called vacant land, 2,614 acres were assessed at Rs. 999-12 on the basis of the enhanced rates, while 6,396 acres of the khas land or newly reclaimed waste were settled on the basis of the rates of 1881 for Rs. 1,769-13. Deducting the greater part of the price paid for survey instruments still serviceable, the cost of the survey comes to about 12 annas an acre—an excessive rate—which is attributed by the Deputy Commissioner to the entertainment of a Deputy Collector on high pay. The Lieutenant-Governor inspected the Settlement Office in May 1892, and his conclusion was that, if the conditions of the case had been fully understood at the outset, it would hardly have been thought necessary to have the work carried out by professional men, and that an eye-sketch would probably have sufficed.

6. The remainder of the area dealt with consists of 942 acres of mandals' land, which is virtually rent free, and 270 acres of cardamom land. The latter is subject to special conditions, and is assessed at Rs. 10 per acre after three years' occupation, as cardamom yields no return for the first three years during which it is cultivated. Following this principle, 129 acres have been assessed at Rs. 1,290, while 141 acres are for the present exempted from assessment, but will in due course be liable to rent at the usual rate.

7. The result of the operations has been to increase the total assessment from Rs 8,398 to Rs. 16,499, to which will be added Rs. 1,410 when the remainder of the cardamom land is assessed. Though the increase in the demand is considerable, there is no cause to apprehend that it will bear hardly upon the raiyats. On the contrary, the facts stated in the preceding paragraphs clearly indicate that a large increase was to be expected, and that the present assessment is extremely lenient. The Commissioner writes:—"There are circumstances which explain the result obtained. In regard to the earlier clearances, power was reserved at the last settlement to increase the rates by fifty per cent. after five years, and this was not done; so that, by enhancing in about that proportion now, we have only been giving effect to an arrangement contemplated from the first. On the new lands, the mandals have been collecting rents for their own benefit, and the revenue now imposed on them is not an additional burden to the cultivator." Moreover, it must be borne in mind that in a mountainous country, where the slopes are steep, an acre, as drawn to scale in the map, represents appreciably more than an acre of the actual sloping surface of the land. A rate of 4 annas on the former is equivalent to 3 annas or 2½ annas on the latter.

8. If any further proof were wanted that the present settlement is by no means unreasonably high, it may be drawn from the account of the material progress of the people contained in Mr. Ritchie's interesting report, and from the estimates given by him and the Assistant Settlement Officer of the area of each crop under cultivation, and of the outturn and nett profit derived per acre. The population has increased from 3,526 persons in 1873 to 11,000 in 1881, as estimated by Mr. Ritchie, on the basis of the Census of that year, and to 19,141 as disclosed by the Census of 1891. Mr. Ritchie writes:—

> The raiyats appreciate the large measure of tenant-right that was conferred on them at the last settlement. It is probable that many of them still do not realize the full benefits of their patta, and have been chary of making improvements in consequence; and I anticipate that, when they get their new pattas, many of the Nepalese will build their houses much more substantially than they have hitherto done. But speaking from personal experience of the tract, with which I was well acquainted in 1877, the progress is well marked. Putting aside the new reclaimed khas land of 6,396·69 acres, the old holdings are better cultivated, the lands are cleaner, and terraces for paddy cultivation have increased. Looking to the great increase of population in the last ten years, this result was only to be expected in order that the food-supply might keep pace with the larger number of people to be fed.

The total area of cultivated land is 33,927 acres, and the number of raiyats is 2,600, so that the average area of a holding is 13 acres. Mr. Ritchie estimates roughly that 1,356 acres are under rice and 30,510 acres under Indian corn. The twice-cropped area he estimates at 40 per cent. of the cultivated area excluding rice and cardamom lands, i.e., at 12,920 acres, which he distributes among the subsidiary crops as follows:—

	Acres.
Marua (Eleusine coracana)	6,470
Wheat	1,290
Barley	1,290
Mustard	1,548
Buckwheat	1,032
Kalai (Phaseolus radiatus)	645
Vegetables	545
Sugarcane	100
	12,920

The estimated average outturn and nett profit per acre of some of these crops are shown below:—

	Outturn.	Profit.
Indian corn	from 5 to 7 maunds.	Rs. 1-8 to Rs. 3-8 per acre.
Paddy	„ 4 to 6 „	„ 1-8 to „ 5-8 „
Wheat and barley	„ 2 to 3 „	„ 2-2 to „ 5-8 „
Marua (Eleusine coracana)	„ 2½ to 3½ „	„ 1 to „ 3 „

Rough and incomplete as this information is, yet, if an average be struck in the cases given, it will be found by a simple calculation that the outturn, after deducting the amount required to supply local wants, is sufficient to leave a very ample margin for the payment of rent. Besides their crops, the cultivators have another source of profit in their cattle. It is said that about four maunds of butter are supplied weekly to Darjeeling throughout the season by Bhutia graziers.

9. The Kalimpong Estate is under the management of a Tahsildar, at present Raja Tenduk Palger, of whom Mr. Ritchie speaks in high terms. The rents are paid to him through the mandals, who receive 10 per cent. commission. The latter are appointed by Government, the heir of the former mandal being held to have the prior claim if efficient. They were formerly allowed to settle raiyats on waste lands and appropriate the rent. But on account of the necessity of reserving land for grazing cattle and gathering fuel, it is intended that this privilege should be curtailed in the future, and that khas lands should not be occupied except with the special permission of the manager, which he should be instructed to give only in rare cases. The Lieutenant-Governor has already sanctioned this policy in his Inspection Note.

10. The duties of the mandals and the rights and liabilities of the raiyats are embodied in the sanads of the former and the pattas of the latter. It is stated that the khatians or abstracts of the rent-roll are not ready yet, and that the sanads and pattas are being written up. The Lieutenant-Governor desires that the Deputy Commissioner should expedite the distribution of the sanads and pattas, and see that the khatians are finished and copies of them are furnished in Hindi to the mandals as early as possible.

11. In paragraph 39 of his report, Mr. Ritchie proposes that the Deputy Commissioner himself should correct the entries in the record on tour in November each year. The Commissioner thinks this arrangement very suitable for the first year, but doubts the advisability of making it a permanent rule for all future years. He therefore proposes that the Deputy Commissioner should submit a further report on this subject after he has corrected the entries for the first time during the ensuing cold season. The Lieutenant-Governor accepts this suggestion, but has no doubt that a system ought to be established under which the raiyats should register their own transfers of their own accord.

12. Under the head of Communications, the Deputy Commissioner, in paragraph 9 of his report, observes that the cart road from Kalimpong to Siliguri is the only road made since the last settlement. He thinks that certain lines of new roads might with advantage be constructed, an abatement of rent being allowed to the raiyats where lands are taken for the purpose. It is impossible for Government to pass orders on this subject in the absence of a definite scheme, which the Deputy Commissioner should now submit for the consideration of Government.

13. It has also been observed that the ordinary paths have been kept up by free labour. In paragraph 46 of the report of the last settlement, dated the 24th July 1882, it was stated that no road cess was imposed upon the cultivators, and that the two days' free labour required of them was not more than equivalent to what they would have to pay as cess. Clause 12 of the draft patta to be executed by the raiyats for the term of the present settlement secures the continuance of this service.

14. The Lieutenant-Governor in his Inspection Note referred to clause 13 of the raiyat's patta, under which a raiyat, if called upon to do so, must plant five trees a year of any description determined by the Manager, and directed that advantage should be taken of the clause to induce the raiyats to plant mulberry trees in all blocks where sericulture was likely to be taken up and to be successful. Sir Charles Elliott is glad to observe that a nursery of mulberry trees has been started at Kalimpong, and that arrangements are being made to distribute young plants to the cultivators.

15. The Lieutenant-Governor desires that his acknowledgments should be conveyed to Mr. Ritchie and the Assistant Settlement Officer under him for the careful and thorough manner in which this settlement has been carried out.

ORDERED that a copy of this Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and that a copy be forwarded to the Commissioner of the Rajshahi Division for his information and guidance, and that of the Deputy Commissioner of Darjeeling.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

W. MAUDE,
Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

THE following report is published for general information

H. H. RISLEY,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

REPORT ON THE WORKING OF THE LICENSED WAREHOUSE AND FIRE-BRIGADE ACT IN THE HOWRAH MUNICIPALITY FOR THE YEAR 1891-92.

I HAVE the honour to report on the working of the licensed warehouses in this Municipality for the official year ending 31st March 1892.

There were 31 warehouses licensed during the year for the storage of jute, cotton, and other fibres; this shows a decrease of one only from the preceding year. Though four of the jute dealers having stopped their work, there would have been a decrease of 4 from the preceding year, but owing to some jute dealers having brought over quantities of jute from sunken boats for the purpose of drying it on the char lands and storing it here for few months, the loss was thus made up, and there was instead an increase of Rs. 50 over the preceding year.

A classified list of warehouses which were licensed during the year is given in Appendix I.

There were no new warehouses established during the year.

The total receipts amounted to Rs. 6,300 from licenses only, as there were no fines.

The expenditure on the inspection of jute warehouses amounted to Rs. 5,780-8-8 as detailed below :—

	Rs.	A.	P.
80 per cent. contribution to Fire-brigade	5,400	0	0
Salary of Inspector	309	15	8
Site for Fire-brigade barrack	70	0	0
Contingencies	0	9	0
Total ...	5,780	8	8

Fire-brigade establishment continued, as last year, under the control of the Commissioner of Police of Calcutta. The Fire-brigade Station is centrally situated near the Municipal Market, and is well adapted to overlook the whole town in case of a fire occurring.

There were 13 fires during the year. A statement showing the particulars of each fire is given in Appendix II.

The following is the expenditure incurred during the year irrespective of the amount expended by the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta :—

	Rs.
Rent of Fire-brigade Stations	.....
80 per cent. paid to the Commissioner of Police ...	5,400

The 22nd July 1892.

Explanation.—... indicates that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0.1 inch of rain has fallen.

CALCUTTA, the 20th September 1892.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M., SATURDAY, THE 17TH OF SEPTEMBER 1892.

At the latter end of the previous week a small barometric depression, accompanied by a well-defined cyclonic circulation of winds, had formed in the north of the Bay, and had then travelled in a west-north-westerly direction, the centre crossing the Orissa Coast between False Point and Puri on the evening of the 9th, and on the morning of the 10th, or the last day of that week, the centre was between Cuttack and Sumbulpur, and the centre was surrounded by decidedly steep baric gradients. On Sunday, the 11th, the centre of the small storm had advanced north-westward, and it was near Jubbulpur, and in its rear a moderate advance of monsoon winds took place over Bengal, and the rainfall reported on the 11th was fairly general, except in Bihár, though it was light in almost all cases. With the inland advance of the depression, pressure commenced to rise rapidly in Bengal, the increase at some of the south-western stations on the 11th equalling 0·15 inch, though pressure was still in defect of the normal in the west of the province by about a tenth of an inch. The increase of pressure continued on the 12th, but by rather smaller amounts than on the 11th, and the depression had again advanced in a north-westerly direction and was near Nowgong. With the rapidly increasing pressure the monsoon current blowing over Bengal began to decrease in force, and though on the 12th rainfall was still fairly general, on the whole it was neither so general nor so heavy as on the 11th, though on this day the falls had extended to Bihár. On the 13th the depression was near Jhansi, and it was quickly filling up, and pressure continued to rise moderately over Bengal, so that pressure became in excess of the normal in all districts, the excess equalling about 0·07 inch in Orissa and decreasing to 0·02 inch in North Bihár. Winds at this time began to be more westerly, and the humid monsoon current again fell off in force, and though on the morning of the 13th moderate rain had fallen in the south-western districts, yet Chota Nagpur, North Bihár, and East and North Bengal were becoming rapidly rainless. The increase of pressure continued in Bengal on the 14th, and pressure became in excess by amounts ranging up to more than a tenth of an inch, while winds also became south-westerly in all districts. Again, the monsoon current became weaker, and in the Bay it also fell off rapidly in force, and the rainfall in Bengal on the 14th was very local and light except in and near the hills of North Bengal. On the 15th pressure had again risen by small amounts over the whole of Bengal, and light irregular winds were blowing over the province, so that the monsoon current had almost ceased to advance over Bengal, and hence from this date practically a break in the rains was established, and skies began to clear considerably. On the 16th again pressure rose over the whole province, except at the Orissa stations, and calms prevailed at a large number of the central and northern stations, while elsewhere winds were very light and variable, and at neighbouring stations they were frequently of opposite direction. Hence, again, there was practically no monsoon current flowing over the province, though moderate rain was reported in East Bengal. On the 17th, or the last day of the week, pressure again rose over practically the whole of Bengal, and the general excess pressure varied from 0·15 inch and 0·16 inch in parts of Bihár to about a tenth of an inch in the east of the province. Winds were still generally irregular in direction and very light, but in the south-west of the province they had become north-easterly and of moderate force, and they apparently formed part of a cyclonic circulation of winds in connection with a small barometric depression which had formed in the centre of the Bay. The monsoon winds therefore under the influence of this depression had quite ceased to advance over Bengal, and rainfall was again confined to local showers, though at some stations in Bihár, Chota Nagpur, and near the hills in North Bengal the falls were heavy on this day.

For the whole week therefore pressure has been rising steadily, and hence during the whole of this period conditions have been becoming less and less favourable for the advance of the monsoon current over Bengal, and indeed from about the middle of the week the current apparently ceased to flow over the province. Hence from about Wednesday, the 15th, a break in the rains has become established, and with the cessation of rainfall a rapid increase of temperature has taken place. Hence the week has been characterised by high pressure and high temperature with extreme lightness of rainfall.

Pressure was at the commencement of the week largely below the normal, and at its close largely in excess. The mean pressure for the week has also been moderately in excess of the normal, the usual excess equalling about 0·05 inch. The excess has, however, been generally smallest in South Bihár, Chota Nagpur, and Assam, where it has equalled about 0·03 inch.

Temperature has been in excess of the normal in all districts, and the mean temperature of the province has been 1° above the normal. The excess, however, in North Bihár and East and North Bengal has been from 1° to 2°, and in the other divisions rather less than 1°. In Assam the excess temperature for the week has equalled 1·5°.

Rainfall has been below the normal in all districts, and the following figures will represent the actual average falls of the seven divisions expressed as a percentage of the normal fall for the week:—Orissa 16 per cent., South-West Bengal 43 per cent., North Bengal 17 per cent., East Bengal 40 per cent., North Bihár 91 per cent., South Bihár 67 per cent., and Chota Nagpur 83 per cent. The falls therefore have been decidedly defective in Chota Nagpur and South Bihár, very defective in East and South-West Bengal, and extremely defective in Orissa and North Bengal.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 17th of September 1892:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12

3. The District or Local Board is not bound to give copies of any document required by the public. It shall rest with the Chairman or Vice-Chairman to determine in each case, on receipt of the application in the prescribed form, whether or not copies of the documents applied for should be granted. Ordinarily copies of written arguments, discussions, notes, opinions or reports of officers or members of the Board or of correspondence shall not be given.

(a) A copy of a copy shall be granted only when good grounds are shown for not taking it from the original, i.e., for not applying to the office where the original is kept. The ministerial officer in charge of the office of the District or Local Board shall be held personally responsible for the observance of this rule.

4. All applicants for copies shall supply blank folios at their own cost for the copies required—each folio to contain 150 words in English or 300 words in the Vernacular, four figures counting as one word. Printed forms of folios will be supplied by the Board in the form annexed (Annexure A) at the rate of one pice per folio.

5. Whenever a copy is refused, the folios deposited with the application for the copy shall be returned to the applicant.

6. All applications shall be numbered consecutively according to the number given to them in the registers to be kept for the purpose (vide rule 8 below) and filed in the office.

7. Applications for information should be submitted in duplicate, the applicant filling up the spaces reserved for the date, his name and residence, the particulars of the information required, and the ordinary and extra searching fees (if any) tendered by him. The officer receiving such application is to enter in the first column the consecutive number, and in the seventh column his signature. He will also enter in the sixth column the date and hour, if necessary, by which the information is to be furnished. One copy of the application will be made over to the applicant with a direction to return with it at the time fixed. The other copy will be passed on to the clerk in charge, who will note in the eighth column the date and, in cases where the extra fee has been paid, the hour of receipt, and after entering in the column for remarks the necessary information, return it to the receiving officer before the time prescribed. On the applicant's reappearance, this copy bearing the information will be made over to him, and the other copy, bearing his dated receipt in the column for remarks, will be taken from him and recorded in the office. These forms will be filed in the order of their admission in a separate series for each month.

8. A Register of Applications for information is to be maintained in the following form:—

Number.	Date of application.	Name and residence of applicant.	Nature of information required.	Date on which information was supplied.	Ordinary searching fee paid.	Extra searching fee paid.	Total of columns 6 and 7.	Signature of the officer receiving the application.	REMARKS.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10

9. The ordinary searching fee shall be uniformly four annas for all cases. When this fee is paid, the time to be fixed for supplying the information required shall not, without the special orders of the Chairman or Vice-Chairman in each case, be later than 3 P.M. of the third open day after the presentation of the application, the day of presentation being excluded. The extra searching fee shall be an additional one rupee, by payment of which the applicant shall be entitled to receive the information applied for by 5 P.M. of the day on which his application is presented.

10. Only one application need be made for copies of papers or for information required in connection with a single cause or matter, e.g., if copies are required of four separate papers in one record, only one application is necessary. When copies of, or information relating to, papers connected with different matters or causes are wanted, as many applications are necessary as the matters or causes to which they relate.

11. A uniform charge shall be made for the preparation of copies at the rate of four annas per folio to be levied in cash; and the amount shall be credited at once to the Fund of the District Board concerned.

12. All copies shall ordinarily be made by the Board's establishment, and when section-writers are employed, they shall be remunerated at the rate of two annas per folio. The other half of the charge levied represents the cost on account of the salary of the examiner. The accounts of the section-writers shall be made up monthly, and the amount due to each paid out of the Board's funds, care being taken to see that nothing in excess of half the amount realized is paid away.

13. All copies must be examined and initialled by a salaried officer of the Board not being himself the writer of the copy, and shall before issue be "certified to be correct copies," the necessary endorsement being signed in full by the Chairman, Vice-Chairman, or such officer as the Chairman may appoint in that behalf; and in case of copies issued from the office of a District Board, these shall bear the seal of the District Board.

Copyists shall in no case be allowed to compare for themselves or each other.

14. If the quantity of paper supplied by the applicant falls short of what is required, a further supply of paper should be called for and obtained before the copies required are furnished to him. Should any applicant delay for more than a week after the period fixed for delivery of the copy to apply for the same, the fees paid by him shall be forfeited. All such orders for forfeiture shall be noted by the officer who keeps the register in the column for remarks in the register, and shall be brought to the Chairman or Vice-Chairman for signature on the day of forfeit. But nothing in this rule shall deprive the section-writers of the remuneration due to them.

15. Copies must be written only on one side of the sheet which must not contain more than the authorized number of words. Care should be taken to see that applicants are not imposed upon by the copyists unnecessarily spreading their writing.

16. When an applicant requires his copies to be furnished on the day of application, an extra fee of one rupee (or, if the copies exceed four folios, of four annas for each folio*) shall be charged on all copies so furnished. Care, however, is to be taken that other applicants for copies do not materially suffer by the arrangement. If the granting of other copies be much delayed by this rule, an extra hand ought to be told off to furnish the copies urgently required.

* This is a fee for credit to the Board, and no part of it is payable to the section-writers.

17. Under ordinary circumstances, the time for furnishing the copies required shall not be later than 3 P.M. of the third open day after the presentation of the application.

18. A Register of Applications for copies shall be maintained in the following form :—

Serial number.	Date of application.	Name of applicant.	Ordinary searching fee paid.	Extra searching fee paid.	Number of sheets of paper—				Date on which copy was ready for delivery.	Date on which delivery was taken.	Remarks.
					Filed with application.	Filed afterwards.	Returned unused.	Used.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12

19. In the case of maps and plans no general rule can be laid down. In each case a charge will have to be fixed with reference to the difficulty or intricacy of the work done, and to the cost of tracing cloth.

20. No fees are to be demanded or paid for searching for or copying papers required by public officers for public purposes. In such cases the copies are to be made by the establishment of the District or Local Board.

21. Copies of these rules in the Vernacular are to be conspicuously exhibited in the offices of the District and Local Boards.

2. These figures show a steady advance in the net revenue since 1882-83. The increase in the year under review amounts to Rs. 11,02,870 as compared with the previous year, and the total net duty in 1891-92 is now 90 per cent. of what it was in 1881-82, the year previous to the abolition of the import duties. There was an increase of Rs. 1,05,509 in the net import duty on general merchandise, the result of larger realizations from arms and kerosine oil, and an increase of Rs. 8,75,451 in the net import duty on salt. The increase of Rs. 1,21,910 in export duty is due to the continued increase in the shipment of rice to foreign ports.

3. The gross duty realized on the imports and exports of the different dutiable goods at the ports in Bengal during 1891-92 is shown in the following statement:—

4. Value of trade.—The following statement compares the value of the import and export trade in the last two years under the three main heads of goods, treasure, and Government transactions, as well as the total trade of the province, both import and export:—

	Goods.		Treasure.		Government transactions.		Total.		Increase.	Decrease.
	1890-91.	1891-92.	1890-91.	1891-92.	1890-91.	1891-92.	1890-91.	1891-92.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
I. Import Trade ...	31,63,23,350	30,82,91,522	4,18,14,740	3,49,56,332	97,34,402	90,14,568	36,79,02,582	35,22,62,422	. .	1,56,40,160
II.—Export ,, ...	45,09,87,765	48,42,10,036	1,35,45,678	2,22,76,529	5,20,590	2,67,310	46,49,94,033	50,67,53,875	4,17,65,842	. .
III.—Total Trade of Province ...	76,72,51,115	79,25,07,558	5,53,90,418	5,72,32,861	1,02,55,082	92,81,878	83,28,96,615	85,90,22,297	2,61,25,682	. .

The position of the two classes of trade, import and export, has been reversed as compared with 1890-91. Excluding Government transactions, the total value of imports shows a decrease of Rs. 1,49,20,236 as compared with an increase of Rs. 4,25,15,529 in 1890-91, attributed chiefly to smaller importations of cotton-goods. On the other hand, the year under review shows an increase of Rs. 4,20,19,122 under exports against a decrease of Rs. 1,11,05,536 in 1890-91. This increase was due under Indian produce to heavy shipments of tea, linseed, wheat, indigo and rice, and under Treasure to heavy despatches of gold to the United Kingdom during the time of low exchange and of silver to Ceylon. The decrease in the imports of Treasure is the result of smaller receipts of gold from the United Kingdom and Australia, and of silver from the Straits Settlements. It is observed that, while in the case of exports the duty on dutiable goods increased pari passu with the increase in the value of the goods exported, the value of the dutiable imports shows a fall, though the duty thereon shows an increase. Taking imports and exports together, the total value of the trade, exclusive of Government transactions, increased by Rs. 2,70,98,886 over the figures for 1890-91. The value, both of imports and exports on Government account, fell off during the year by Rs. 7,19,924 and Rs. 2,53,280 respectively.

5. Calcutta Foreign Trade.—As usual, the bulk of the trade was carried on with the United Kingdom, which absorbed nearly three-fifths of the entire trade of Calcutta. China occupies the next place. The trade with China as well as with the United States, which stands third in importance, shows a decline, the percentages being 10·2 and 5·89 against 10·69 and 6·63 respectively in the previous year. The decrease in the trade with China is ascribed to the decline in the shipments of opium and cotton to Hongkong and of opium to the Treaty Ports, and with the United States to smaller imports of kerosine oil and the decline in the exportation of linseed oil. The trade with Germany continues to advance, the percentage having risen from 4·08 to 4·50, owing to larger shipments of raw hides and oil-seeds, and the revival of the wheat trade. France regained its position after a depression in the two preceding years, and the Collector of Customs has for the first time noticed in his report the transactions with Belgium, the trade with this country having expanded owing to direct steamer communication carried on during the last three years.

6. The total value of the trade of Calcutta viâ the Suez Canal shows an increase of Rs. 3,94,48,060 over the figures of the preceding year, which were the highest recorded since the opening of the canal. The increase was almost entirely confined to exports.

7. The fluctuations which occurred in shipping during the last two years are exhibited in the following table:—

	Number	Tonnage.
1890-91.
Steam vessels	548	1,041,060
Sailing „	446	711,233
Native craft	28	4,978
1891-92.
Steam vessels	681	1,335,205
Sailing „	402	580,693
Native craft	42	6,898

The steamers here referred to are only those which arrive and leave without touching at any other Indian port. The decrease of 44 in the number of sailing vessels is more than counterbalanced by an increase of 133 in the number of steamers. The trade with the United Kingdom shows an increase of 36 vessels, and that with Germany and China of 15 each; while with the United States there was a decline of 33 vessels as compared with the previous year.

8. Imports.—The total value of imports, including treasure, into Calcutta from foreign countries fell from Rs. 29,90,13,666 in 1890-91 to Rs. 28,65,72,342 in 1891-92, the decrease in merchandise amounting to Rs 68,56,687 and in treasure to Rs. 55,84,637. The value of dutiable goods consisting of arms, liquors, mineral oils, salt and opium fell from Rs. 2,29,12,642 to Rs 2,22,30,108, owing chiefly to smaller receipts of salt. The following table shows the value of the principal articles of merchandise imported during the last two years:—

	1890-91.	1891-92.
	Rs.	Rs.
Cotton-goods (including twist and yarn)	14,57,75,345	13,55,20,480
Metals	2,36,10,461	2,44,88,028
Mineral oils	1,25,55,206	1,34,49,052
Machinery	81,27,985	82,63,844
Woollen goods	75,10,294	63,84,025
Sugar	61,90,073	47,30 967
Salt	59,21,724	49,53,116
Liquors	47,88,915	44,90,858
Hardware	32,41,100	34,44,094

Cotton-goods continue to occupy the foremost place in the import trade, but the total value of the goods imported shows a decline of 7 per cent. perceptible both under piece-goods and under twist and yarn. The metal trade which showed a falling off in 1890-91 revived during the year. The imports of galvanized iron, including corrugated iron roofing, which had shown an advance in the preceding year, suffered a heavy fall in 1891-92, owing, it is supposed, to the large imports in the previous year having been in excess of actual requirements. The Collector of Customs notices two marked features in the metal trade—the large importation of Japan copper and the re-shipment of copper to the United Kingdom.

9. Notwithstanding the levy of a duty of 6 pies per gallon on mineral oil from February 1888, the trade in this article has continued to expand in a remarkable manner, as will be seen from the following figures:—

	Gallons.	Rs.
1887-88	19,699,334	74,12,509
1888 89	20,146,984	85,07,955
1889-90	27,419,074	1,18 08,390
1890-91	29,694,114	1,25,55,206
1891-92	34,874,899	1,34,49,052

The increase in 1891-92 was principally due to greatly enhanced shipments of Russian oil, the prejudices against which article, believed to have been due to its defective packing, are now disappearing The imports of Russian oil rose from 2,157,592 gallons, valued at Rs. 8,94,371 in 1890-91, to 10,561,006 gallons, valued at Rs. 38,23,426 in 1891-92, while those from America show a falling off of 3,851,695 gallons. The duty realized on the imports of oil into Calcutta amounted to Rs. 10,23,101 against Rs. 8,82,491 in the previous year.

10. The importations of sugar, which were heavy in 1890-91, show a falling off of 104,083 cwts. Beet sugar from the United Kingdom fell from 150,948 cwts. to 2,386 cwts., and German beet sugar from 179,767 cwts. to 65,268 cwts.; while at the same time Mauritius cane sugar rose from 96,557 cwts. to 129,046 cwts., Java cane sugar from 20,045 to 127,771, and the same article from the Straits from 13,998 to 35,530 cwts.

10*a*. The trade in salt continues to decline, the importations amounting to 312,134 tons, against 318,682. Liverpool salt shows a decline from 231,819 tons to 199,290, while the imports of Hamburg salt increased from 25,264 tons to 65,138 tons. The duty realized on these importations amounted to Rs. 2,27,95,585, against Rs. 2,19,68,154. The whole subject will be examined more fully in reviewing the report of the Salt Department. Under the head of wines and liquors there was a decrease in value of Rs. 43,027 in malt liquors, Rs. 1,90,074 in spirits, and Rs. 64,956 in wines. The only spirit which continues to increase steadily in importation is whisky. The trade in rum is now very small, the total quantity received being only 2,643 gallons. The total duty realized on liquors amounted to Rs. 16,02,662 against Rs. 16,13,114 in 1890-91. The imports of malt liquors, spirits, wines, and liqueurs during the past five years are shown in the following table:—

	Ale, beer, and porter.		Spirits.		Wines and liqueurs.		Total value.
	Gals.	Rs.	Gals.	Rs.	Gals.	Rs.	Rs.
1887-88 ...	717,648	14,47,306	295,032	23,41,402	121,596	11,81,485	49,70,193
1888-89 ...	791,099	15,05,929	330,709	24,77,925	124,771	12,55,486	52,39,340
1889-90 ...	883,412	16,96,843	295,097	19,98,568	124,067	12,04,912	49,00,323
1891-91 ...	732,827	13,94,049	319,844	21,72,683	124,176	12,22,183	47,88,915
1891-92 ...	688,953	13,51,022	291,967	19,82,609	121,286	11,57,227	44,90,858

From these figures it is observed that in the last five years, in spite of the decrease in the value of the rupee, the price per gallon of malt liquors has fallen from Rs. 2-0-3 to Rs. 1-15-4, and of spirits from Rs. 7-14-11 to Rs. 6-12-7, while the value of wines and liqueurs has fallen in a smaller ratio from Rs. 9-11-5 to Rs. 9-8-7. In the case of malt liquors this is believed to be due to the gradual substitution of light cheap German beers for the stronger and somewhat more costly English liquors; while the reduction of the value of spirits probably means that the quality of the bulk of the imports is inferior. The whisky in particular is said by the Excise Commissioner to be cheaper, stronger, and more unwholesome than ordinary country spirit. The continued advance in the demand for this spirit is therefore scarcely a matter for congratulation. Wine on the other hand has remained nearly stationary, and has probably not undergone any marked deterioration of quality. The class of people who drink wine habitually, rather than spirits, would be slow to change their tastes and habits in respect of quality, and would rather economise by reducing their consumption than by resorting to inferior vintages.

11. Among other items, it may be observed that the imports of coal, which showed a decline in 1890-91, show a rise of 135¼ per cent. in the year under review, though the figures are still below the average of former years. At the same time the use of country coal on board steamers continues to increase, and for this purpose English coal is said to be losing ground. The imports of matches, which also showed a decline in 1890-91, have now reached the highest figure recorded—Rs. 7,57,255. Norwegian and Swedish matches were the chief kinds imported. Before 1888-89 the bulk of this trade was carried on through London by the British India Steam Navigation Company's vessels, but the dock strikes and the Merchandise Marks Act have led to the transfer of the greater part of it to German steamers. Thus in 1887-88 the imports from the United Kingdom were valued at Rs. 4,14,752, and those from other countries at Rs. 26,101, while in 1891-92 the former had fallen to Rs. 2,59,812, and the latter risen to Rs. 4,97,443. Japanese matches seem to be losing ground, while those made in the factories recently started in India are said to be at present of very inferior quality and to have no chance of competing successfully with the imported article. The importations of tea, though of little importance, again rose during the year, the figures being 118,862lbs. against 58,008 in the previous year. The largest consumers of imported tea, most of which is China tea of very poor quality, received viâ the Straits Settlements, are said to be Jews and Parsis. The trade in umbrellas revived during the year, the value of the imports being Rs. 21,22,694 against Rs. 17,07,776 in 1890-91. The duty levied on arms and opium, the only items of dutiable imports not yet noticed, amounted to Rs. 1,60,549 and Rs. 2,900 respectively.

12. Exports.—The total value of exports from Calcutta to foreign countries, including treasure, rose from Rs. 35,93,66,166 in 1890-91 to Rs. 38,91,36,558 in 1891-92. The increase in dutiable goods amounted to Rs. 13,62,206, and in free goods to Rs. 2,69,08,316. The exports of dutiable produce, viz., rice, have not, it is said, been surpassed since 1879-80, when rice was exported to foreign countries in very large quantities. The following statement gives the value of the principal articles of Indian produce and manufacture exported in 1890-91 and 1891-92:—

	1890-91.	1891-92.
	Rs.	Rs.
Raw jute	6,44,78,477	6,08,27,524
Opium	5,97,99,265	6,01,47,915
Tea	5,03,78,662	5,63,31,095
Oil-seeds	3,46,22,681	4,13,45,725
Rice	3,13,06,827	3,26,87,662
Indigo	2,05,11,354	2,63,60,394
Hides and skins	2,07,04,763	2,25,72,638
Wheat	50,37,082	2,11,85,172
Raw cotton	87,28,419	30,85,638

The exports of jute, which in 1890-91 had shown a remarkable advance in quantity, fell off heavily during 1891-92 both in quantity and in value. The low prices of 1890-91 led to a contraction of the area sown, and this fact, aggravated by unfavourable weather, caused the crop of 1891-92 to be peculiarly scanty and the prices the highest ever known.

13. The exports of tea advanced by 11,093,438lbs., the average declared value being the same as in the preceding year—7 annas 8 pies. From the figures given in the Board's report, showing the exports of tea in the last twenty years, it appears that the exports have risen from 17,628,901lbs. in 1872-73 to 115,584,615lbs. in 1891-92, while the value of a pound of tea has decreased by somewhat less than 50 per cent. in the intervening period. A marked feature in the trade of the year was a large expansion in the exports to Bombay, as will be seen from the following figures:—

lbs.	lbs.	lbs.
1,200,390	942,886	3,730,884

The bulk of this tea is re-shipped from Bombay to foreign countries, principally to the Persian Gulf. The importations of tea into the United Kingdom from the tea-producing countries during the last two years are shown in the following table:—

	1890-91.	1891-92.
	lbs.	lbs.
India	101,557,000	110,312,000
Ceylon	40,012,000	59,703,000
China	77,170,000	69,332,000

It is satisfactory to observe that, notwithstanding the advance of Ceylon tea and the vigorous efforts made to push it in the London market, Indian tea still maintains its leading position in the United Kingdom.

14. The trade in oil-seeds, particularly linseed, which had declined in 1890-91, recovered during the year under review. A falling Exchange, low rates of freight, and a large demand from the United Kingdom in consequence of a fall in imports from Russia are said to have favoured the business. The exports of rice again show an advance, the figures being 7,190,763 cwts. against 7,066,443 cwts. in 1890-91. Ceylon is the largest consumer owing probably to the great influx of Tamil coolies who work on the tea gardens; the United Kingdom comes next, and then Mauritius, which, however, imported less than in the previous year. The duty realized on the exports of rice (excluding paddy, which yielded a duty of Rs. 7,999) amounted to Rs. 19,32,327 against Rs. 18,57,115. The export of indigo was the largest known for many years, being 40 per cent. in advance of the figure for 1890-91

15. The exports of wheat, which had shown a steady decline since 1887-88, revived remarkably during the year under review:—

	Cwts.	Rs.
1887-88	4,332,809	1,67,90,729
1888-89	2,949,304	1,08,24,635
1889-90	1,550,838	60,11,810
1890-91	1,340,126	50,37,082
1891-92	4,746,938	2,11,85,172

The bulk of the shipments was consigned to the United Kingdom and Belgium, the consignments to the latter country being ten-times as large as those of the previous year. The larger exports to the United Kingdom were due to the failure of the wheat crop in certain parts of Russia, where famine prevailed. Shipments were made for the first time direct to Germany, owing no doubt to the development of direct communication with the North German ports. The total quantity of flour imported into Calcutta during the year was 1,854,782lbs. The largest importations of flour from foreign ports are from Hong-Kong (611,219lbs.), Australia (306,312lbs.), and the Straits Settlements (134,356lbs.), while from coast ports the quantity received was from Bombay 510,612 lbs., and Burma 223,789lbs. The exports of raw cotton again fell from 355,434 cwts. in 1890-91 to 127,084 cwts. in 1891-92, the shipments to the United Kingdom being a mere fraction of what they were ten years ago. The crop was small and prices in Europe were forced down by the large yield of the American cotton harvest.

16. Treasure.—The net imports of gold and silver declined by about 66¾ lakhs. The falling off in the imports of gold, which amounted to 18¾ lakhs, is attributed to the low rate of exchange in the latter part of the year. The imports of silver, though less than in 1890-91, were greatly in excess of the standard of previous years.

17. Calcutta coasting trade.—A further improvement is visible in the total value of imports and exports in the coasting trade of Calcutta during the year under review. The increase, amounting to Rs. 66,17,432, occurred wholly in exports, the imports having fallen by Rs. 9,97,414. The increase and the decrease were both in Indian produce.

18. Chittagong Port.—The total value of the trade of Chittagong again fell from Rs. 2,87,62,255 in 1890-91 to Rs. 2,43,06,196 in 1891-92. The decrease occurred both among imports and exports. The falling off in the value of the imports under foreign trade is attributed chiefly to large accumulations of kerosine oil and salt imported in the previous year, and the decline in exports to the short jute crop. The customs duty collected at the port was

Rs. 7,75,031, of which Rs. 7,04,724 were realized as import duty, and Rs. 70,307 as export duty. The corresponding figures for 1890-91 were Rs. 7,24,091, Rs. 6,67,016, and Rs. 57,075. In the import duty the increase occurred under salt (Rs. 48,992); there being a decrease under general merchandise (Rs. 11,284). The increase in export duty amounted to Rs. 13,232, the result of larger exports of rice, which amounted in value to Rs. 12,28,254 against Rs. 9,44,290.

19. The Orissa Ports.—The following figures illustrate the trade of the Orissa Ports during the last two years:—

	1890-91.	1891-92.
	Balasore.
	Rs.	Rs.
Foreign	1,75.709	3,72,900
Coasting	99,96,542	1,19,69,201
	Cuttack.
Foreign	22,90,555	33,75,009
Coasting	8,66,418	8,19,825
	Puri.
Foreign	1,82,471	3,41,728
Coasting	3,60,326	2,21,679

There has been a steady improvement in the sea-borne trade of all three ports; the value of the entire trade having risen 23 per cent. over 1890-91. The customs revenue collected at the several ports amounted to Rs. 2,33,294, the whole of which, with the exception of a small sum of Rs. 376 realized on imports, was export duty. The increase in export duty was the result of large shipments of rice to foreign ports, which amounted in value to Rs. 73,91,886 against Rs. 58,02,028 in the previous year. The details of export duty under the several ports are—

	1890-91.	1891-92.
	Rs.	Rs.
Balasore	17,161	26,515
Cuttack	1,30,984	1,80,099
Puri	15,788	26,304

20. Narainganj.—The trade of Narainganj is carried on with the coast ports only. The total value of the trade again fell from Rs. 96,02,874 in 1890-91 to Rs. 73,00,346 in 1891-92. The customs duty collected at this port represents exclusively the duty levied on salt imported from Chittagong under bond. It amounted to Rs. 4,53,021 against Rs. 4,62,082 in the previous year.

21. The Lieutenant-Governor's thanks are due to the Board of Revenue for their supervision of the Customs Department during the year, and to Mr. Marriott for his full and interesting report. The names of the officers favourably noticed by the Board, with the remarks recorded, will be communicated to the Appointment Department.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. H. RISLEY,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE STATISTICAL RETURNS OF VACCINATON IN BENGAL FOR 1891-92, WITH BRIEF NOTES BY THE SANITARY COMMISSIONER.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—SANITATION.

Darjeeling, the 20th September 1892.

READ—

The Statistical Returns of Vaccination in Bengal for 1891-92, with brief notes by the Sanitary Commissioner.

These Returns, which were due on the 15th June, reached Government on the 4th September without any explanation of the cause of the delay in submitting them. The submission of last year's returns also was delayed, and the Lieutenant-Governor must again impress upon Dr. Gregg the necessity of taking steps to secure their punctual submission in future.

Strength of establishment.

2. The following table shows the strength of the inspecting and working establishment during 1891-92, as compared with the previous year:—

Year.	Superintendents.	Deputy Superintendents.	Inspectors.	Head vaccinators or supervisors.	Operators.				Total number of operators.	Remarks.
					Vaccinators.		Apprentices.
					Paid.	Licensed.	Paid.	Licensed.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11
1890-91	7*	14	119	15	145	1,631	14	594	2,334	*Including the Health Officer of Calcutta, who is ex-officio Superintendent of Vaccination in that Municipality.
1891-92 ...	7*	14	125	15	123	1,641	16	696	2,476

There was a decrease of 22 paid vaccinators against an increase of 10 licensed vaccinators and two paid and 102 licensed apprentices. The decrease in the number of paid vaccinators is due to the abolition of the paid agency system in Orissa, and to the Corporation of Calcutta having employed an extra establishment of seven vaccinators in 1890-91, which was not retained during the year under review.

The municipalities and dispensaries in the interior employed 262 vaccinators against 254 in 1890-91.

Number of operations performed.

3. The following table compares the total number of vaccinations performed in each of the vaccination circles and in municipalities and dispensaries during the year 1891-92 and the previous year:—

Name of Vaccination Circle.	1890-91.	1891-92.
Calcutta	17,498	14,162
Metropolitan	388,857	362,534
Darjeeling	492,675	419,884
Ranchi	147,203	154,670
Eastern Bengal	821,706	268,363
Orissa	138,715	113,263
Bihár	239,407	215,106
Total ...	1,746,061	1,547,982
Municipalities and dispensaries, &c. ...	87,917	93,106
GRAND TOTAL ...	1,833,978	1,641,088

Thus with an increase of 92 operators there has been a falling off of 198,079 in the total number of operations by circle vaccinators, equivalent to an average decrease of 107 operations per operator. The decrease occurred in all the circles except Ranchi, which shows an increase of 7,467. The largest decrease occurred in the Darjeeling and the Eastern Bengal Circles, where it amounted to 72,791 and 53,343 operations respectively. Against this general falling off in the Vaccination circles, it is satisfactory to notice an increase of 5,189 in the total number of operations performed by Municipal vaccinators and at dispensaries in the mufassal. There appears to be no reason why every medical officer in charge of a dispensary in the mufassal should not perform vaccinations in the town in which his dispensary is situated, provided this does not interfere with his proper work at the dispensary. The Sanitary Commissioner is requested to consult with the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals with a view to carrying out this suggestion.

4. As regards the various explanations given for this general falling off, it is difficult to know what weight to attach to them without precise local knowledge of the facts. In Calcutta the decrease is attributed by Dr. Simpson to the prevalence of small-pox during the previous year, when many people resorted to vaccination. The figures for Calcutta quoted in the margin would appear primâ facie to support this explanation, but on the other hand it is not borne out by the figures for the province at large. While the number of deaths* from small-pox was greater in 1890-91 than in 1889-90, and in 1891 92 almost double the number in 1889-90, the number of operations in 1891-92 was much less than in either 1890-91 or 1889-90. In the Metropolitan, Darjeeling, and Eastern Bengal Circles the decrease is ascribed among other causes to the prevalence of malarious fever and to the unusual unhealthiness of the year, and also to the inability of the people to pay the vaccinators' fees owing to poverty. There is a rule that except in seasons of epidemic only healthy persons should be vaccinated, but it is paying a great compliment to the discretion of the vaccinator to suppose that they would abstain from operating on children whose parents present them for vaccination, on the ground that they are in a bad state of health. Looking to the fact that in Eastern Bengal at least the season was a prosperous one, the Lieutenant-Governor doubts very much whether the alleged inability of the people to pay the vaccinator's fee of two annas is an explanation which will bear scrutiny.

Explanation of decrease.

Year.	Number of deaths from small-pox.	Number of vaccine operations performed.
1889-90 ...	641	26,280
1890-91 ..	807	17,498
1891-92 ...	20	14,162

Year.	Total number of deaths.	Number of vaccine operations performed.
*1889-90 ...	10,845	1,7[illegible]3,288
1890-91 ...	14,061	1,746,061
1891-92 ...	20,417	1,547,982

5. Each paid vaccinator performed on an average 922 operations against 1,267 in the previous year, each licensed vaccinator 608 against 694, and each Municipal vaccinator 355 against 346. These results are unsatisfactory, and no valid reasons have been given for the falling off. Statement IV of the Statistical Returns illustrates how the work of vaccination has been gradually transferred between the years 1882-83 and 1891-92 from the hands of Government operators to licensed agency. In 1882-83, when the comparative value of work performed by the licensed agency was considered superior to that performed by Government agency, the average number of operations performed per man was 1,035 by the licensed class and 1,026 by the Government vaccinators. The figures for 1891-92 show a great decrease in the outturn of work done by each licensed vaccinator, the reasons for which are not apparent. The table in paragraph 7 of the report showing vaccination by sex is of little use unless some practical conclusion can be drawn from it. The Lieutenant-Governor is disposed to doubt whether any such conclusion can be drawn, and it would probably be sufficient, instead of preparing an elaborate table, to state that the number of males vaccinated exceeded the number of females, being 51·6 as against 48·4. Much the same may be said of the table in paragraph 8 illustrating vaccination according to class or religion. Here again totals for the province would be sufficient, and separate figures need not be given for vaccination circles and municipalities.

Average work of each operator.

6. This transfer of work to the licensed agency has not, however, resulted in any saving of cost to Government, as, whenever the licensed system has been introduced into any circle, the savings have been utilised in strengthening the inspecting staff. The total cost to Government in 1891-92 was Rs. 1,47,542, against Rs. 1,16,084 in 1882-83, the average cost of each reported successful vaccination being 1 anna and 8 pies against 1 anna and 5¼ pies in 1882-83. The total expenditure on vaccination from all sources was Rs. 1,79,842 in 1891-92, against Rs. 1,82,400 in the previous year, the decrease being mainly due to the transfer of the covenanted Superintendent of the Metropolitan Circle to the Medical Department and the appointment in his place of an Assistant Surgeon on less pay. The Municipal expenditure on vaccination shows a slight increase, while the cost to District Funds was merely nominal.

Protection afforded.

7. Protection was afforded to 292,438 infants under one year of age against 290,819 in the previous year, showing an average percentage of only 11·81 under protection. This is far from satisfactory, and every effort should be made to extend further protection to children in early ages of life. The highest percentages were attained in Darjeeling (57·44), Lohardaga (51·12), Political States (42·04), Malda (32·03), and Sonthal Parganas (24·1); and the lowest in Gaya (2·97), Cuttack (2·59), and Backergunge (2·37). The table of vaccination according to age given in paragraph 9 has not been made to yield any practical conclusion, and its utility seems doubtful.

The District of Muzaffarpur was for the first time taken up by the department, and 4 per cent. of the population are shewn to have been vaccinated during the year. Since the close of the year arrangements have been made for the introduction of vaccination into Darbhanga, the only unprotected district in the province.

8. The value of the figures given in the preceding paragraph, about protection, rests to a large degree on the proportion of successful operations reported by the vaccinators, while in the case of primary vaccination is returned as 99·21 against 99·21 in the previous year. This ratio is quite incredible, and nothing is said in the Report to show how far the supervising officers set themselves to the examination of these returns, and what the results were of their inspections.

Supervision.

9. The following table shows the number of operations inspected during the year 1891-92 and the previous year:—

	1890-91.	1891 92.	Decrease.
Superintendents	125,214	100,835	24,379
Deputy Superintendents ...	214,088	171,196	42,892
Subordinate Agency... ...	1,033,156	924,696	108,460

These figures show a marked falling off in the number of cases inspected by every class of supervising officers, which the Lieutenant-Governor regrets extremely to notice. Attention was drawn in last year's Resolution to the importance attached to careful and systematic inspection, which should be subject to the personal supervision of the Sanitary Commissioner himself, and it is surprising that so little attention should have been given to these remarks. The tables in the report in which these figures are shown are defective in form. They show the proportion of operations inspected, but not the actual number nor the result of the inspections. The principal object of inspection is to verify the results which the operators declare themselves to have achieved, and for this purpose the proportion of cases inspected which were found to be successful should have been shown. The determination of the degree of success should not be left to the vaccinators themselves, but should be carefully decided by the inspecting officers. A new form of statement recently prescribed by the Government of India will ensure the more accurate record of the result of inspections in future. The falling off in the amount of inspection done may have contributed in no small degree to the general decrease in the number of operations performed during the year, and appears to point to slackness and want of energy in the department. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that, under the new system of management recently sanctioned, a larger amount of inspection may be done by superior officers, Deputy Sanitary Commissioners and Civil Surgeons.

Deaths from small-pox.

10. The mortality from small-pox was much greater than in 1890-91, especially towards the end of the year. All districts suffered more or less, except Rajshahi, which alone showed no deaths from this disease. The total number of deaths amounted to 20,417, against 14,061 in the previous year, the following districts having suffered the most:—

	No. of deaths.	Proportion of population protected per mille.
Midnapore	... 5,228	154
Cuttack	... 4,578	142
Puri	... 1,623	132
Gaya	... 1,158	88
Lohardaga	... 1,027	209

The following districts suffered the least:—

	Total No. of deaths.	Proportion of population protected per mille.
Darjeeling	... 2	460
Birbhum	... 4	175
Pabna	... 7	221
Jalpaiguri	... 9	165
Murshidabad	... 15	229
Bhágalpur	... 15	147

In Rajshahi, where no deaths occurred from small-pox, about 229 per 1,000 of the population had been protected. As was noticed in last year's Resolution, notwithstanding the imperfection of the statistics both as regards mortality and vaccine operations, the figures show on the whole that increased protection does carry with it as a general rule an appreciable reduction in the death-rate. This result will tend to be more conspicuous as time goes on, and a larger proportion of the population comes to be protected.

Working of the Animal Vaccination Depôt.

11. The Lieutenant-Governor has learnt with satisfaction that the working of the Central Animal Vaccination Depôt in Calcutta has improved under the charge of Assistant Surgeon Umesh Chunder Ghose, and that good and efficient lymph is now turned out in large quantities. The long-pending proposal to establish a second animal vaccine depôt at Darjeeling was carried into effect during the year under the immediate supervision of Dr. Waddell, and this depôt is now in full working order. Operations were commenced on the 21st November 1891, and up to 31st March 1892 thirty-one calves had been vaccinated, and 965 tubes of lymph issued. During the year, particular attention was paid to the subject of producing good lymph, and lymph was prepared and stored for experimental purposes in the following forms:—

1. Simple lymph, capillary stored.
2. Simple lymph, capillary stored, sealed at either end with glycerine.
3. Lymph pulp, glycerised.
4. Lymph pulp, lanolized.

Of these, only the fourth method was found to yield really satisfactory results. The preparation of glycerised lymph is held to be unsuitable for India, and its production has been discontinued in both the Calcutta and the Darjeeling depôts. Lanoline on the other hand has proved successful, and is pronounced to be the most efficient mode of preserving and diluting lymph in India. This conclusion is based upon the results of a number of experiments which appear to have been carefully recorded.

12. In Dr. Gregg's opinion the Vaccination Department is now in a position to supply the whole of Bengal with bovine lymph. If this be so, and if the lymph produced is of a really sound and uniform character, the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that the results will justify the expectation, and remove from men's minds that distrust of the lymph which hitherto has proved the main obstacle to the expansion of the operations of the Department. It now remains to organize a rapid mode of despatch of the lymph so as to reach vaccinators in remote places before it has gone bad, and the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that no time will be lost in doing this.

13. With a view to secure the successful introduction of lanoline lymph, Dr. Waddell, Superintendent of Vaccination, Darjeeling Circle, who had made the subject his special study, was deputed to visit all districts in Bengal and instruct the officers of the Vaccination Department in the use of an instrument, called the scarifier, which is considered by some authorities to be more suitable than the ordinary lancet. In Dr Gregg's opinion, however, the one instrument is in fact as suitable as the other, and until a more definite opinion can be arrived at as to the superiority of either instrument, the Lieutenant-Governor would leave it to Civil Surgeons to choose for themselves with which they will perform their operations.

Reorganization of the Vaccination Department.

14. As was noticed in the closing paragraph of the Resolution on last years returns, Dr. Gregg's proposal to extend the compulsory clauses of the Vaccination Act to rural areas, with a view to check the growing feeling of opposition to vaccination among the people, did not commend itself to the Lieutenant-Governor in the absence of adequate machinery to enforce those provisions, and the remedy was sought for in a reorganization of the department. This question engaged the attention of Government during the year under review, and since the close of the year material changes have been introduced with the sanction of the Government of India. Under the old system, the Superintendent of Vaccination had an inconveniently large area to deal with, which rendered it impossible for him to work in effective concert with the District Magistrate; and much of the opposition with which vaccination was received was attributed to its being cut off from the district administrative, and left to fight its way unaided by the influence which a District Officer may judiciously exercise in matters like this, as experience had shewn that, in the few instances in which vaccination officers have been able to work in concert with the district executive, satisfactory results were obtained. The chief feature of the changes introduced is the transfer of the executive supervision and control of the work of vaccination to Civil Surgeons, who are for this purpose ex-officio Superintendents of Vaccination in their respective districts, and who have been allowed a sufficient establishment, recruited in great measure from the existing staff, to carry on the work. Of the six Superintendents of Vaccination hitherto employed in the Department, the services of three have been retained as supervising officers under the re-organized scheme. The jurisdiction of each of the three Deputy Sanitary Commissioners will comprise three of the nine revenue divisions of the province; and among other duties these officers will be required to inspect and report on vaccination operations in specified areas of districts to be selected in the beginning of each year in communication with the Civil Surgeons concerned. The Lieutenant-Governor will expect Dr. Gregg to report fully on the working of the scheme in next year's report.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. H. RISLEY,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

2. When compared with the statistics of 1890-91 these figures show an increase of Rs. 5,72,970, or ·4 per cent., under the head of receipts, and a decrease of Rs. 6,538, or 1·6 per cent., in the charges. The net revenue therefore has risen by Rs. 5,79,508, or 2·5 per cent., as compared with that of the previous year, and stands higher than in any year since 1881-82. The receipts from imported salt increased by Rs. 8,67,362, while the excise duty levied in Orissa fell from Rs. 3,21,044 to Rs. 44,372,—a decrease of Rs. 2,76,672. This remarkable falling off is attributed by the Board to the importation of large quantities of duty-paid salt from Calcutta and Ganjam, and to the exorbitant price charged by the licensees of the local factories for the small quantity of salt which they produced. The decline in receipts from rent of warehouses is said to be due to heavy deliveries of salt from bond, smaller importation during the year, and reduction in the stock kept at the golas. A change in the weighment rules, under which the owner has to pay only the actual cost of weighment, accounts for the decrease under miscellaneous. In the Resolution on last year's report the Board were asked to furnish in future a tabular statement showing the details of the Provincial salt expenditure on salaries, establishments, and contingencies, together with an explanation of any changes that might have taken place. The statement asked for has been supplied, but the explanation of variations in receipts and charges is scarcely so full as might be desired. Deducting the outlay incurred during the last three years in introducing Mr. Kilby's scales, which is not expected to recur for some time, the Provincial charges of the last four years were as follows:—

	Rs.
1888-89	21,223
1889-90	30,836
1890-91	28,371*
1891-92	29,614

* Excluding Rs. 10,456 for a railway siding at Sulkea.

The increase between the first and last years of the period amounts, therefore, to Rs. 8,391, which is due to the salaries of the head-clerk at Sulkea and the daroga at Narainganj having been raised, to charges for carpenters employed in connection with Mr. Kilby's scales, to temporary establishment, to larger payments to informers, and to a slight rise in rents and taxes owing to the extension of the Sulkea premises. The regular annual charge under this last head is Rs. 12,523, and the fluctuations shown in the Board's statement arise from short payments in one year being followed by heavy arrears in the next.

‖ Ditto 1,24,718 ditto ditto and 2,138 maunds of Madras salt which were passed free of duty.
§ Ditto 3,76,996 ditto ditto which were passed free of duty.
¶ Ditto 4,19,128 maunds 30 seers of Bombay salt which was passed free of duty.
(a) The actual closing stock should have been 15,50,472 maunds; the difference of 62,808 maunds is mainly due to exclusion of the amount written off on account of wastage or destroyed, vide paragraph 4 of the Board's Report.

4. Excluding small quantities found in excess in the golas or on re-weighment, the imports show a net decrease of 7,10,280 maunds, or 7·3 per cent. This, however, does not indicate a decline in the demand for imported salt, for the stocks in bond were largely drawn upon during the year. Comparing the imports from different countries it will be seen that the imports from the United Kingdom fell off by 12,82,102 maunds, or nearly one-fifth of the quantity imported in the preceding year; the Arabian and Persian Gulfs show a decline of 3,67,896 maunds, or more than half of their imports in 1890-91; while the imports from Aden fell from 9,90,807 maunds to 8,79,841 maunds, or about 11 per cent., notwithstanding that the duty was reduced to Re. 1 per 140lb. The Hamburg imports, on the other hand, show an increase from 6,78,042 maunds to 16,55,709 maunds, being 9,77,667 maunds, or nearly 50 per cent. on the imports of last year. Fougies, or New Fokia, in Asiatic Turkey, imported 56,070 maunds of "very superior white karkach," which the Collector thinks will be disabled by distance and the Suez Canal charges from competing with the Aden salt Owing it is said, to the rapidity with which steamers can discharge salt with the Kilby scales, the Bombay trade has now more than regained the position it held in 1888-89, and shows an advance of 30,460 maunds on the imports of the previous year. The amount of salt manufactured in the salt districts of Orissa under the administration of the Madras Salt Department fell from 62,770 maunds to 8,985 maunds for the reasons mentioned above.

5. Including Bombay and Madras salt cleared free of duty in Calcutta, duty was paid on 59,00,244 maunds of salt cleared from shipboard, against 65,37,471 maunds cleared in the previous year, being a decrease of 6,37,227 maunds, or 9·7 per cent., in the quantity cleared, and of Rs. 14,94,874, or 9·3 per cent., in the duty realized. On the other hand the clearances from bond rose from 31,68,602 maunds to 41,33,491 maunds, or 30·4 per cent., while the duty on such clearances increased by Rs. 23,07,384, or 33·06 per cent. On the whole, then, even after allowance has been made for the heavy fall (1,30,572 maunds to 18,866 maunds) in clearances of excise salt from bond in Orissa, the total clearances of whatever kind rose from 98,36,645 maunds to 1,00,52,601 maunds.

6. Deducting from the clearances as stated in last paragraph 6,98,382 maunds, being the net exports to places outside Bengal after allowing for imports from Madras and Upper India, the balance of salt left for consumption in Bengal was 93,54,219 maunds. This quantity represents an average consumption of 12·019lb per head of the population recorded in the Census of 1891. This is in accordance with the estimate commonly received. It must be received, however, subject to considerable local variations. Thus in Calcutta, according to the figures given by the Board in paragraph 16 of their report, the average consumption for the past year stood as high as 16·06lb, a figure which the known standard of living of a large part of the population renders primâ facie probable. On the other hand, the consumption of the saliferous tracts, excluding Orissa, is stated to be 10·75lb per head, while in Orissa and in the non-saliferous tracts of the rest of Bengal the average rate is only 10·12lb. It is curious that some of the saliferous tracts should cousume more duty paying salt than parts of the country where no salt at all is produced; but the habits of different classes of the population may vary in this respect more than is generally known, and it is believed that the aboriginal and semi-aboriginal races, who are great flesh-eaters, consume very much less salt than the average vegetarian Hindu. This fact would tend to reduce the average of consumption in the non-saliferous tracts. With regard to Orissa, the fact is remarkable that since 1886-87 the average consumption of all kinds of salt has declined under the administration of the Madras Salt Department from 11·59lb to 10·12lb per head. Even at this figure it is still higher than in Midnapore, where the average consumption for the whole district fell to 8·1lb, while in parts of the saliferous tract in the south of the district it was as low as 3·3. This is amply accounted for by the systematic smuggling and police misconduct referred to below.

The following figures illustrate the demand for different kinds of salt in the Calcutta market during the last four years:—

	Liverpool.	Hamburg and Bremen.	Aden crushed from shipboard.	Aden crushed from golas.
	Mds.	Mds.	Mds.	Mds.
1888-89	73,76,095	1,08,441	... ..	.....
1889-90	66,82,380	3,25,649	... .	18,200
1890-91	61,87,206	7,41,991	28,183	1,02,602
1891-92	60,79,547	13,38,775	17,752	1,62,696

Comparing the first and last years of the period, it will be seen that Hamburg and Bremen karkach Aden salt appear to be gradually displacing Liverpool salt.

It will be seen from the above table that the imports into Orissa from Madras rose to meet the falling off in local manufacture, and that a substantial increase took place in the supply drawn by Bihár from the North-Western Provinces. The exports to Assam show a substantial rise, while on the other hand those to the North-Western Provinces and Oudh have fallen by two-and-a-half lakhs. In spite, therefore, of the reduction in price of Liverpool salt which occurred during the year, the tendency of the Rajputana and Punjab salts to drive out imported salts seems to continue.

8. Considerable fluctuations took place during the year in the price of Liverpool salt in Calcutta. In April 1891 the average rate per 100 maunds as sold from the ship's side, exclusive of duty, was nearly Rs. 80, while in November it fell below Rs. 53. Taking the average of the year, as compared with that of 1890-91, the price fell from Rs. 77-12-9 to Rs. 64-11-11 owing mainly to the arrival by steamers of large quantities, which were cleared direct from ship-board and thrown on the market at once; and partly also to the competition of imported salt from different sources which led to a reduction of the price of Liverpool salt. The statement given in the margin shows the average prices of salt, exclusive of duty, at the Orissa factories during the last two years. It will be seen that the price of Tua salt rose from Re. 0-6-4 to Re. 0-8-8 per maund, although reported to be "dirty and inferior," while the salt made in the factory at Sartha was "very dirty, owing to defective puddling on account of inexperience," and when offered for sale in Balasore at four annas a maund, found no purchasers, although Liverpool salt was then selling at Re. 1 a maund exclusive of duty. Under these circumstances it is hardly surprising that "at present there is no demand for karkach salt in Balasore," nor is any demand likely to arise unless the quality of the salt manufactured locally is very materially improved.

9. Including the Orissa districts, the total number of seizures of contraband salt rose from 1,098 to 1,445 during the past year. Such cases were most numerous in Midnapore, where they increased from 196 to 404; but the quantity of salt attached showed no proportionate increase, and was only 31 maunds against 24 maunds in the previous year. The number of cases of illicit manufacture detected in that district rose from 238 in 1890-91 to 374 in the year under report. Mention is made in this connexion of "increased activity on the part of the police;" but seeing that only 24 maunds of illicit salt were seized, or on an average less than three seers per case, it may be doubted whether results indicate improved administration. On the contrary, there seem to be some grounds for suspecting that the police make scapegoats of the very poor who scrape together a little salt for domestic use, and connive at the larger operations of the professional smuggler. Mr. Bompas, the Sub-divisional Officer of Contai, reports that systematic manufacturers on a large scale are seldom caught, and explains in detail how a retail pass or char chitti is manipulated so as to cover the open sale of illicit salt at half the price of Liverpool salt. He further states that in thána Ramnagar, where the sales of licit salt show a marked falling off, and the quantities of illicit salt seized were nominal, the Sub-Inspector connived at contraband manufacture, and levied a regular tax on the villagers, "with whom he arranged that a certain number of trivial cases should be sent for trial, in which the parties would plead guilty on the understanding that the fines should be paid by the Sub-Inspector and recouped by him out of the rewards he obtained. He thus made a large profit by his dishonesty, and at the same time maintained his reputation as an active officer." That such a system should be possible at all seems to argue lax supervision on the part of the District Superintendent of Police. In Chittagong a more vigorous policy was pursued. The District Superintendent with a large force of police "searched all houses near the shore about 6 miles from Chittagong, and discovered salt in process of manufacture in almost every house. Several maunds of salt and cart-loads of pots and pans used in the illicit manufacture were seized, and 26 persons were sentenced to fines, amounting in all to about Rs. 1,200." The question of controlling the illicit manufacture of salt in saliferous tracts is one of considerable difficulty. Absolute prevention seems to be impracticable even if desirable, and a distinction may properly be drawn between petty manufacture by the poorest classes for domestic use and operations conducted for profit by professional smugglers on a large scale. The former may be tolerated, the latter must be vigorously suppressed. The facts set forth above seem to indicate that existing methods admit of improvement, and the Lieutenant-Governor desires that the Board will take the subject into their consideration, and deal with it in a special report stating what changes, if any, they recommend in the law, and what agency should be employed to administer it.

10. The number of licenses issued for the manufacture of salt in Orissa fell from 6 to 4 owing to the closing of the Sunamohi factory and the conversion of Sartha into a Government factory, while the amount of salt made fell off from 62,770 maunds to 8,985 maunds. The salt made by licensees was very bad, and that experimentally manufactured on behalf of Government at Tua is said to have been good. The quantity, however, so manufactured was trifling, as the sales realised only Rs. 380. Only 381 cases of offences against the salt laws were sent up for trial in the three districts, while in Midnapore alone the police instituted 440. The receipts of the department fell from Rs. 3,22,262 to Rs. 47,687, and the expenditure rose from Rs. 1,10,496 to Rs. 1,33,003, or 34·1 per cent. to 278·8 per cent. on the revenue collected. It is contended, however, by the Commissioner of Salt Revenue, Madras, that the Salt Department should get credit for the duty realised elsewhere on all salt consumed in Orissa, and the Board maintain that this is right in principle. On this showing the total receipts would amount to Rs. 17,85,292,* and the proportion of charges to receipts would be 6·19 in 1890-91 and 7·45 in 1891-92. The Lieutenant-Governor cannot accept this view. For the four years preceding 1886-87 the average excise revenue levied on salt in Orissa was nearly 9 lakhs (Rs. 8,95,945), the average sales of excise salt 4,35,617 maunds, and of Ganjam and Liverpool salt 2,46,344 maunds, the average charges for preventive establishment amounting to Rs. 14,163. During the last four years the average excise revenue was

	Rs.
* Duty on Local salt ...	47,687
„ on Ganjam salt ...	11,07,677
„ on Calcutta salt ...	6,29,928
	17,85,292

Rs. 2,21,453, the average sales of excise salt 88,960 maunds, while the sales of Ganjam and Liverpool salt had risen to 6,19,669 maunds, and the charges for preventive establishment to Rs. 1,14,506. The contrast may be made sharper still by taking the last years of the two periods referred to. Thus in 1885-86 Orissa consumed 4,70,614 maunds of local salt against 2,13,520 maunds of Ganjam and foreign salt, paid Rs. 9,62,137 excise duty, and cost Rs. 12,362 for excise establishment. In 1891-92 the division consumed 18,866 maunds of excise salt, 4,43,071 maunds of Ganjam salt, and 2,51,971 maunds of Liverpool salt, paid Rs. 44,372 as excise duty, and cost Rs. 1,33,003 for excise establishments. Seeing that the transfer of the Orissa Salt administration to Madras was decided on for the express purpose of developing the local salt industry of Orissa, and making excise salt cheaper and more plentiful, these results can scarcely be claimed as indicating that the experiment has proved a success. But even if credit be taken for the entire amount of duty realised on Ganjam and Liverpool salt in addition to excise salt, the fact remains that in the single division of Orissa it cost 1⅓ lakhs to levy less than 18 lakhs of revenue, while in the rest of Bengal it cost Rs. 85,373 to realise Rs. 2,33,04,091. At the same time under this more expensive system the average consumption has fallen from 11·59lb to 10·12lb per head. These facts seem primâ facie to suggest that the Madras system has failed in Orissa; it has made very little local salt, and that salt is bad and dear; it has failed to increase the consumption of licit salt, and has done less to stop the making of illicit salt than the single adjoining district of Midnapore. And in return for all this failure it has cost over ten times as much as the system which preceded it. The natural conclusion is that the time has now come, or shortly will come, to revert to the cheaper methods of managing the salt revenue which prevailed in Orissa before 1886. Before, however, finally deciding this point, Sir Charles Elliott would not be unwilling to wait another year, and in any case he would wish to consider Mr. Crole's report on his recent visit to Orissa, which may contain practical suggestions for the reform of the system now in force.

11. The siding connecting the Sulkea salt warehouses with the East Indian Railway, which was opened in January 1891, is said by the Collector of Customs to have increased the demand for bonded salt, and to have encouraged bonding by reducing the cost of removing salt and by generally facilitating trade. The handling charges falling on the bonder have been lowered from Rs. 22-14 to Rs. 11·2 per thousand maunds, while at the same time a reform in the arrangements for the supply of contract labour has effected a further saving of between Rs. 2 and Rs. 3. The total saving under these heads amounts therefore to Rs. 14 on every thousand maunds cleared from bond. Notwithstanding these inducements to bonders, the quantity of salt actually bonded during the year shows only a small increase, the amount being 30,99,982 maunds against 29,99,281 maunds in the previous year, while the rents realized fell from Rs. 87,899 to Rs. 78,337. At the same time the receipts into and deliveries from the golas rose from 59,38,895 maunds to 70,21,651 maunds, the corresponding figure in 1885-86 being 34,33,905 maunds. The explanation probably is that since the introduction of the Kilby scales has rendered it profitable to import salt by steamers, the trade has been quickened in all its stages and salt is not left in the warehouses so long as was formerly the case. Hence the decline in rents—a loss which the Government can afford to disregard in view of the general advantages of simplifying and of cheapening importation, and of the increased receipts under the head of duty which may probably be looked for.

12. Mr. Kilby's patent scales have now completely established themselves and are reported to have worked satisfactorily throughout the year. The Board recognise the ability with which Mr. Kilby has conducted the duties entrusted to him. The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are also due to Mr. Savage, Collector of Backergunge, Mr. Carlyle, Collector of Chittagong, and Mr. Bompas, Sub-divisional Officer of Contai, for the interest they have taken in the administration of the Salt Department in their jurisdictions.

LIBERALITY OF MAHARAJA SIR JOTENDRO MOHUN TAGORE, BAHADUR, K.C.S.I.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT—FINANCE.

Darjeeling, the 23rd September 1892.

READ—

A letter, dated the 9th April 1892, from Maharaja Sir Jotendro Mohun Tagore, Bahadur, K C.S.I., applying, agreeably to the provisions of section 6 of the Charitable Endowments Act, VI of 1890, for permission to vest in the Treasurer of Charitable Endowments in Bengal a Government promissory note for one lakh of rupees, to be held in trust for a charitable purpose.

Read also—

Government order No. 47T—F, dated the 6th May 1892, settling the scheme for the administration of the property, and vesting it in the Treasurer of Charitable Endowments in Bengal.

Maharaja Sir Jotendro Mohun Tagore, Bahadur, K.C.S.I., has made over to the Treasurer of Charitable Endowments a security of the Government of India of the 4 per cent. loan of the subscribed value of one lakh of rupees for the purpose of founding a charity for the support and maintenance of impoverished Hindu widows of Calcutta and its Suburbs. The charity is to be called "Maharajmatah Sibasundary Dabee's Hindu Widows' Fund." With the concurrence of the Maharaja Bahadur, a Committee consisting of the Maharaja himself, or the representative of his own hereditary title of Maharaja Bahadur, the Chairman of the Corporation of Calcutta, the Chairman of the Native Committee of the District Charitable Society, Calcutta, and the Chairman of the British Indian Association, has been appointed to administer the fund and to make monthly payments not exceeding Rs. 4, and not less than Rs. 3, out of the interest of the fund to as many Hindu widows as the income will permit of. The recipients are to be selected by two or more members of the Committee, provided, however, that no person shall be admitted to the charity without a certificate from two respectable residents of her neighbourhood, stating that she bears a good character and is a worthy object of charity.

2. The charity is remarkable in itself for its munificent endowment, the peculiarly Hindu purpose which it serves, and the distinctively Hindu character of its dedication. It is also interesting as the first application of property in trust for charitable purposes, under the provisions of Act VI of 1890. This splendid donation merits the warmest approbation of Government, and it affords the Lieutenant-Governor the very greatest pleasure to acknowledge the beneficent liberality of the Maharaja Bahadur, who has thus increased the claim to public gratitude which he had already established by making a free gift of a portion of the land on which the Mayo Native Hospital is built, and by giving handsome donations in aid of that institution, and of the Lady Dufferin Victoria Hospital and building.

ORDER.—Ordered that the Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and that a copy of it be forwarded to Maharaja Sir Jotendra Mohun Tagore, Bahadur, K C.S.I., for information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. H. RISLEY,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

* Mean of 6 days.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed at percentage, saturated air being presented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The normal mean are the numerical means or average of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the subdivisional staff on all the district, i.e., from total rainfall at the subdivisional stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one of

for the week ending Saturday, the 24th of September 1892.

Explanation.—.. indicates that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0·1 inch of rain has fallen.

Calcutta, the 27th September 1892.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M., SATURDAY, THE 24TH OF SEPTEMBER 1892.

A BREAK in the rains had set in over the greater part of the province from about the middle of the previous week, and the break had become more complete at the close of that week from the formation of a barometric depression in the centre of the Bay, and by the usual indraught which set up towards it, which prevented the monsoon winds from flowing towards Bengal. Hence on the 16th instant, or at the commencement of the present week, north-easterly winds were blowing at the southern stations of the province, forming part of the cyclonic circulation round the depression, while light and in many cases north-westerly and northerly winds were blowing over the remainder of the province, showing that there was no monsoon current at all passing from the Bay over Bengal. Pressure was also on this day falling very slowly in connection with the gradual development of the depression, but it was still in excess of the normal by amounts ranging from 0·08″ at the western stations to 0·04″ in the east of the province. On the 19th and 20th instants, almost similar conditions obtained in Bengal, and the depression in the Bay had probably developed slightly only, and was perhaps moving very slowly in a westerly direction, and hence for the period the 18th to the 20th, the whole province was to a great extent rainless.

From the 20th to the morning of the 21st, the depression had very distinctly increased in intensity, and it had at the same time commenced to move towards the coast, and at 8 A.M. of the 21st its centre was not very far from land to the south-east of Cocoanada, and during the afternoon and evening of this day its centre apparently passed inland between Cocoanada and Masulipatam, but in its inland passage the depression was at once broken up by striking against the range of hills called the Eastern Ghats Hence on the morning of the 22nd the small storm had quite broken up and disappeared, and there was an exceedingly rapid increase of pressure over the whole area previously affected by it. From the time the depression began to move towards the west coast, the monsoon current again flowed up the Bay in a rather feeble way, and with the disintegration of the storm conditions again became favourable for a further advance of monsoon winds over Bengal, though with the very rapid increase of pressure which accompanied the filling up of the depression, pressure in Bengal again became largely in excess of the normal, the general excess on the 22nd equalling about 0·13.″ On the last two days of the week, however, a rapid fall of pressure commenced, and on the 24th pressure was in defect at all stations except those in the extreme south of the province where a slight excess prevailed. The defect, on the other hand, was largest in the north-east of the province, and equalled 0·08″ at Dhubri. Hence at the close of the week conditions were more normal and more favourable for rainfall than they had been for the previous ten days.

From about the 20th or 21st, therefore, conditions again became more favourable for rainfall in Bengal, but the monsoon current flowing over the province was rather weak, and did not penetrate to any large extent into Bihár or Chota Nagpur, and also the falls brought up were in most cases light. Fairly general rain was, however, received in the south and east of the province from about the 20th to the 24th, though, as may be expected from the absence of rain for the first three days, the falls for the week when compared with the normal have again been rather largely in defect.

Pressure.—The mean pressure for the week has been rather considerably in excess of the normal, the usual excess equalling from 0·05″ to 0·07″. On the whole the excess has been smallest in the north-east of the province, and at such stations as Rangpur and Jalpaiguri it has only equalled 0 02″, while the general excess in Assam has been 0·03″. The smallest excess pressure has, however, been registered at Dhubri with an excess of 0 004″ and at Darjeeling, where pressure is 0·002″ in defect.

Temperature.—Owing to the absence of rainfall, temperature was unusually high during the first half of the week, but during the second half it fell decidedly. Nevertheless the mean temperature for the week has been in rather large excess of the normal, the excess in Assam equalling 2 4°, and that in all divisions of Bengal, except Orissa, ranging from 1° to 2°. In Orissa, on the other hand, the small excess of 0·4° is registered. For the whole of Bengal the excess for the week has averaged 1·4°.

Rainfall.—The general rainfall in East and North Bengal and Orissa has equalled from one and-a-half to two inches, and that in South-West Bengal one and-a-quarter inches. In Chota Nagpur a general fall of three-quarters of an inch has been registered, and in South Bihár the falls have equalled about half an inch, while in North Bihár the average is only a quarter of an inch. When compared with the normals for the week the defects have been rather large, and they exceed two inches in North Bihár; in North Bengal, South Bihár, and Chota Nagpur they vary from an inch to an inch and-a-half, and in Orissa and South-West and East Bengal they are about two-thirds of an inch. The actual rainfall expressed as a percentage of the normal falls equals the following amounts:—Orissa 85 per cent., South-West Bengal 65 per cent., North Bengal 50 per cent., East Bengal 72 per cent., North Bihár 10 per cent., South Bihár 31 per cent., and Chota Nagpur 44 per cent. From a comparison of the number of rainy days during the week with the normal number it will again appear that the deficiency of the rainfall has been rather due to the actual lightness of the rain showers than to any great deficiency in the number of the showers themselves.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 24th of September 1892:—
